

Outstanding Taxes To Be Returned Against Property After April 1st

Auditor's Report Presented By F. R. Mallory — Will Build Snowplow for Streets

All outstanding taxes on April 1st next will be returned to the county against the property, according to a resolution passed unanimously at the regular monthly meeting of the village council held Monday evening.

Reeve West presided and councillors C. B. Rollins, E. F. Stanley, Gil Thompson and J. H. Holt were present.

Communications from W. L. Langhols, county engineer, advising that a separate accounting of all expenditures on approved designated streets in the village limits must be kept in order to receive county rebate, and from W. L. Anderson, assessor, stating his work for year completed, and requesting $75 for his services in addition to his postage account.

H. C. Martin, addressed the council with respect to a number of insurance policies carried by the corporation with premiums falling due at the present time. The various policies were ordered renewed by council and the account for premiums included in the accounts.

Auditor F. R. Mallory presented his report showing the financial standing of the village to be sound. A number of recommendations were offered by this official and will receive the attention of the council in due time. The valuation of the village assets should be checked by the council and the proper steps taken at the Court of Revision to have the Assessors' valuations in accordance with those made by officials of the Board of Education and Hydro-Electric System. He congratulated the village officials on their efficiency in keeping the records, and stated a more complete book should be provided the tax collector. The poll tax and dog tax should be collected in the current year, and the insurance on the community service building and contents should be reconsidered with a view to increasing the same.

On motion of Councillors Rollins and Thompson the report was adopted.

The following accounts were presented for payment:

Stirling News-Argus, $7.35; F. R. Mallory, ¼ salary and expenses, $37.25; Thos. W. Solmes, Insurance Fire Hall and contents, $19.80; Wm. Chambers, snow, $2.00; Fred McCutcheon, plowing snow, $2.00; H. C. Martin, Insurance, $170.19; Walter Barker, $1.40; Stirling Hydro-Electric, $209.70; Stirling Waterworks, $119.19; W. L. Anderson, $61.25.

The matter of securing a snow plow suitable for plowing the village streets was left in the hands of the property and street committees.

Council also decided to purchase a Victory Loan Bond from the Cemetery Trust Fund.

Reeve West led the discussion on the collection of outstanding taxes and council were agreed that the collector should make an effort to collect all these taxes, failing which they will be returned against the property.

On motion of councillors Holt and Rollins the tax collector's time was extended one month.

Officials in charge of Canada's second victory loan have raised their sights and are now driving toward a new mark of $900,000,000. The nominal and minimum goal of 600,000,000 was passed at midday week with announcement that total subscriptions to close of business Tuesday amounted to $615,298,750 from 788,727 subscribers. ## Mission Band Tea

A very successful tea was held at the home of Mrs. Harold Wells on Thursday afternoon last, under the auspices of St. Paul's Mission Band. The guests were received at the door by the hostess and after mingling pleasantly together were invited to the dining room by Mrs. Guy Bradshaw.

The tea table presented a very pleasing appearance, its lace cloth being centred with a tastefully arranged bouquet of daffodils with matching tapers.

Mrs. Geo. Pollard and Mrs. A. M. Lavery poured tea, while the other assistants in the dining room were Mrs. J. L. Good, Mrs. C. A. Wells, and Mrs. R. A. Patterson. The arranging of food and other work in the kitchen was under the capable supervision of Mrs. Stinson, Mrs. S. Williams, and Mrs. W. C. Pittman. The Treasurer for the afternoon was Mrs. Fred McKee. Members of the Band each assisted in some way during the tea hour and wish to thank all who helped to make the affair a success. Proceeds amounted to $14.50.

Passed With Honours

Meeting opened with hymn 752, followed by the Scripture Lesson, Isaiah: 35th chapter, read by Helen Fitchett, after which Mrs. Rollins lead in prayer. Minutes of previous meeting was read and business dealt with. Miss Madeline McGee was appointed as secretary. Mr. H. David then gave a travelogue and told of his trip through the Maritimes which was very interesting. Madeline McGee then gave a reading "Faith that conquers fear." Mr. Tummon then favored with a solo, "What will you do with Jesus", accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Tummon. Rev. W. H. V. Walker then moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. David for giving such a fine talk. Hymn 761 and the benediction closed the meeting.

A real estate deal of interest was completed on Monday when Burton Woodbeck purchased the frame house and lot owned by the W.S. Martin Estate on Albert street.

Youth Conference

Some twenty-five were in attendance at a rural youth conference held in the office of the local Agricultural Representative on Friday afternoon last, when Mr. Floyd Grieback, president of the Ontario Junior Farmers' Association, was the principal speaker.

Mr. Leonard Harman, Provincial Secretary of the Ontario Radio Forum, also spoke. A discussion period followed these two fine addresses and the meeting was termed most successful by the committee in charge of arrangements.

Mr. H. L. Fair, B.S.A., local representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, presided over the meeting and introduced the various speakers of the day.

Couple Tendered A Farewell

About seventy-five neighbors and friends of the River Valley district gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rosebush on Thursday evening last to bid them farewell prior to their departure to reside in Oshawa, where Mr. Rosebush has secured a position on the McLaughlin farms.

Mr. Alex Park, of Stirling was master of ceremonies for a program of readings, community singing and music. Brief addresses were given by the chairman, Mr. Percy Utman, H. Morrow, James MacDonald, Arthur Duncan, Mrs. Hanna, Mrs. Frank Carr and Rev. A. M. Lavery.

A appropriate address was read by Miss Marion Bedford and the honored couple presented with a tri-lite floor lamp by Messrs. Harry Morrow and Jack Sager. Tommy Rosebush was also remembered by the gathering and given a souvenir. Mr. and Mrs. Rosebush each made a splendid reply. Luncheon was served by the ladies and the evening climaxed with the singing of "They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Stirling Couple Celebrate Diamond Wedding Anniversary On Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lansing Were Honoured Guests At A Family Gathering

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Lansing, residents of Stirling for the past 28 years and of this vicinity since their marriage, celebrated the 60th anniversary of their wedding day on March 1st, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lansing.

Rather quietly but happily the day was spent with relatives and friends who gathered to offer remembrances and congratulations to the bride and groom of sixty years. A diamond jubilee is an achievement worth recording.

In the dining room, tastefully decorated in gold and green, about thirty guests gathered for dinner around the festive board centred with a wedding cake. During the afternoon Mr. Maurice Bell, Mrs. M. Wilson and M. Phillips entertained with piano and banjo numbers and all present joined in singing of some of the old favorite songs. Rev. A. M. Lavery spoke

Peterboro Defeat Locals By 6-2

Large Crowd Sees Thrilling Game—Visitors Gain Four-Goal Margin for Next Tilt

In the presence of the largest crowd of the season, Stirling Juveniles dropped the first game of a two-game series in the O.M.H.A. playoffs to Peterborough last night at the local arena by a score of 6-2. In spite of the fact that the game was played on heavy ice that made good practical hockey almost impossible the fans were treated to plenty of thrills as the teams battled hard for the full sixty minutes. Outscored by the visitors, who were heavier and more experienced than the locals, scored two in the second and four in the final period. The locals got their second counter in the last stanza.

The second game of the series will be staged at the Peterborough Arena on Monday night, with the city squad enjoying a four-goal lead for the final game of the home and home series.

Ainsley, Milne, Close and Dorrell were the scorers for the winners in a game that saw plenty of high sticking, while Leather in the nets was outstanding. For the locals Vandervoort was the chief scoring threat, bagging both goals and also playing a strong back-checking game. Patterson and Bastedo, his line mates, also played well, but the heavy ice proved a handicap to their combination play. The "kid" line, though used sparingly, were strong defensively. McIntosh, Wright and Utman formed a strong defence in front of D. Bastedo, who starred, and had little chance on those that beat him.

Both teams played cautiously in the opening minutes of the first period, but opened up about the midway mark and both goalies were tested in turn by the rival players. The sticky ice caused the passing plays of both teams to go awry and tempers began to flare. Sticks were carried high and when Leather, the visiting goalie, took a swing at Vandervoort a free for all resulted in which spectators joined. Shortly after order was restored, Bastedo got a pass out from

Receives Promotion

Stirling friends of Mr. Murray McGee, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McGee, of Stirling, will be pleased to learn of his appointment on Tuesday to the position of sales manager of the Toronto Branch of the Taylor-Forbes Co. Mr. McGee has been an employee of the company for a number of years and his promotion comes as a fitting reward for energetic and conscientious service. The News-Argus joins with his many friends in extending congratulations to another of Stirling's own boys who has made good.

Oddfellows Are Hosts To Their Ladies

Members of Stirling Lodge, No. 239, I.O.O.F., entertained their wives and friends at the annual social evening held last night in the lodge room. This function has come to be one which is looked forward to with pleasure from year to year, and the hospitality of the lodge has become widely known and appreciated. The guests were high in their praise of the very creditable manner in which the proceedings of the evening were conducted.

The main feature of the program was the presentation of a play entitled "The Watkins Girl" by Ivanhoe talent under the direction of Rev. S. Delye. The various members of the cast portrayed their parts well and drew well-merited applause from the audience.

During the evening Veterans' Jewels were presented to a number of the local brethren, Mr. E. Heath, receiving a 50-year jewel and Messrs Percy Utman, E. Carlisle and Harry Hagerman, 25-year jewels. Mr. Albert Weaver, another 25-year veteran, was unable to be present to receive his jewel. The presentation was made by Thos. Craighead, of Campbellford, D. Deputy Grand Master of Madoc District.

Foxboro Winner In Semi-Final

Glen Ross are riding behind the well-known eight ball as far as the semi-final series of the Central Hastings Hockey League is concerned, following their defeat on Tuesday night by Foxboro by a score of 4-1. The game was part of a twin bill at the local arena and was witnessed by a fair crowd of spectators. West Huntingdon and Zion played to a 1-1 tie in the other game. The second doubleheader of the semi-finals will take place tomorrow (Friday) night when the same teams will clash and the Glen Ross squad will be forced to open up right from the start if they hope to overcome the commanding lead enjoyed by the boys from the southern hamlet.

Foxboro vs. Glen Ross

In spite of the slow ice play opened at a fast clip with Foxboro forcing the pace and the losers were hard put to hold them. Time after time the winners' line of Collins, Jarrell and Thompson were in a scoring position, but B. Hagerman, who starred in the nets for the losers, blocked them. Glen Ross had several golden opportunities to score as well but were unable to hit the net. Shortly before the close of the period Jarrell gave Foxboro the lead with a drive from right wing, and they were never headed.

The second period saw the best hockey of the game, with both teams driving hard. Collins increased the winners margin but H. Hagerman put the losers back into the game when he beat Gay from close in to make the count 2-1. However Collins duplicated this feat a few minutes later to again give his team a commanding lead. Penalties were handed out to Collins and Armstrong during the period.

Three goals down, Glen Ross put on a drive in the final stanza, but couldn't beat the defense of the winners, who increased their lead to 4-1 when Jarrell counted on passes from Thompson and Collins. W. Brooks served the only penalty of the period.

The line of Thompson, Collins and Jarrell were best for the winners up front, while Walt and "Tip" Tummon starred on the defence. Gay, in the

COME ON STIRLING!

With the Victory Loan Campaign nearing its conclusion "E" District of Hastings County, which includes Stirling Village and Rawdon and Huntingdon Townships, is still short of its goal. An objective of $115,000 has been set for this district and figures released in Belleville at noon by campaign headquarters in Belleville showed only $67,050,000, or 58.28%, subscribed.

This is not in keeping with past performances in this district. No individual is in a position to shrug his shoulders when reminded of the great need for funds to carry Canada's share in running the war. Because of storms and heavy roads canvassers in the rural areas have been handicapped in getting around but in case the canvasser fails to call on you, get in touch with your bank and make arrangements for the purchase of a bond. In the remaining days of the campaign let every citizen of the district get busy and each do a small part in making the war loan a success. Only if the majority of citizens do this will the objective be reached.

THE AUDITOR'S REPORT

The Auditor's Report was presented to the Village Council at the regular meeting on Monday evening and indicated the financial position of the village as very sound. It was noted however, that the outstanding taxes over a period of years amounted to approximately three thousand dollars. While this amount is lower than in some municipalities members of council were agreed that every effort be made to collect outstanding taxes at once. Those outstanding by the first of April will be returned against the properties.

While this may mean a temporary hardship to some, we believe it is the proper method. It is unfair that owners who pay their taxes promptly should have to pay interest on money borrowed from the bank to meet current expenses of the village, while those in arrears make no effort to pay the taxes.

The finances of the Waterworks System, Cemetery and Hydro-Electric System were all shown in excellent shape, although there are some outstanding accounts.

It is particularly encouraging to note that the auditor found all the village books and records kept in a very efficient manner and congratulated the various officials on their work. This is a finding of which every tax payer should feel proud, and it also speaks volumes for the officials of the village who are carrying out their duties. It goes without saying that council will make a detailed study of the report and adopt many of the auditors suggestions.

"PLUMPER" VOTE DOOMED?

Following every municipal election criticism is heard of the ratepayers who, instead of voting a full slate of members for the Council or Board of Education marks a "plumper" for his favourite candidate. But the town of Owen Sound has followed the criticism with action and is asking the Ontario Legislature for a special bill whereby voters must vote "the full slate" or their ballot won't count. In other words there are to be no "plumpers." This method has been taken advantage of by minorities who form a slate and vote for their friends, with the result that they are often elected where they wouldn't if everybody had to vote the full slate. We believe Owen Sound has the right idea and it is to be hoped that the Legislature will accede to its wishes in the matter.

FARM HELP SEEMS ASSURED

It now seems assured that help will be forthcoming for the farmers when it is most needed. While Defence Minister Ralston admits he has no general plan in mind at present, he does state that every effort will be made to make men in the armed forces available for farm work this summer. If trained farm workers are so released it will guarantee Canada's ability to supply the quotas of bacon, cheese, and eggs agreed upon for delivery to Great Britain this year. The great stumbling block at present is the inability of the farmer to plan ahead, if a continued labour shortage is threatened. It is claimed by many far sighted men that agriculture should take rank as a war industry, and that if it were so recognized, all would be well. Help of course is promised from students, but for real farm work these young people hardly fill the bill.

THE SIMPLE LIFE

Numerous preachers have asserted that happiness does not depend on material possessions, and the period immediately before us is likely to put that theory to the test. Instead of making the hackneyed New Year's resolutions about giving up tobacco and liquor, one might well employ one's hours of meditation in preparing to forgo a long list of other commodities that have never been condemned as harmful. The chances are that the new resolutions will be kept.

The prospect is not frightening. If razor blades and electric razors vanish from the market, the men can cultivate beards. Cosmetics are also threatened, so while the men retreat into ambush, the unadorned female face may appear. Looking forward to a new set of faces on our friends and acquaintances lends interest to the coming days of scarcity.

Rationing of rubber and gasoline will have compensating advantages. More walking will improve our health and figures and give us better appetites for the home-grown foods that may replace imported products. If shortages of civilian clothing force us to extract the last bit of wear out of our garments, we can cheerfully all be shabby together and abandon the task of keeping up with the Joneses. If we cannot take summer vacations away from home, we can explore our own cities and countryside and discover for ourselves the unnoticed charms that have attracted strangers to them in the past.

Whatever happens life in 1942 is going to be adventurous for civilians as well as soldiers. If plans for the full utilization of our human resources are wisely made and efficiently carried out so that everyone is able to do his or her best for the great cause, the simple life will be happy as well as novel.—The Printed Word.

NORLESSE OBLIGE

The boy who helps a timid woman to cross a traffic artery, the automobile driver who waits for an elderly pedestrian who is caught between the change of traffic lights, the girl who is quick to pick up a parcel for a shopper with overloaded arms, the man who gives quick indication of willingness to step aside so that another may also have room on the sidewalk.

The driver who slows down so that a commuter may pass safely from the curb to the street-car he is trying to catch, the trolley-car conductor who goes to the trouble to re-open his doors for a late-comer, the man-in-a-hurry who doesn't want a newspaper but still can remember to be gracious when telling the newsboy so—

People like these make one think Confucius did not speak quite in vain when advising us all to behave when out of doors as though "entertaining a distinguished guest."—Gore Bay Recorder.

Some forty of the Junior farmers of Hastings County took part in the Seed Judging Competition held under the auspices of the local Department of Agriculture, on Tuesday. Such a demonstration of interest in Agriculture by the young farmers is very encouraging to the officials in charge and ensures the future of the farming industry in this community.

"Take care of your Rubbers," is the tip given to civilians by the controller of supplies in the Department of Munitions and Supply. The modern army moves on rubber-tires and waterproof boots, tents, raincoats and ground sheets are needed in great quantities. The civilian population has to do without rubber to make what is available meet the army demands.

The town of Bowmanville has set an example with regard to the treatment of His Majesty's Forces which is worthy of copy in every village and hamlet in the province. Through the generosity of the people of that town, soldiers, sailors and airmen so long as they wear the King's uniform, may enjoy a light lunch and hot drink free of charge, as they pass through. During daylight hours and evenings the soldiers' rest has its hostesses and is claimed to be highly popular with the men in uniform.

What Others Say

THE OLD DAYS

Men's flashy socks are another thing that is out for the duration. However, these are a minor vanity of the days when Elmer, of Pippin Centre, used to drive along Main street with one foot outside the buggy box—and stunned 'em.—Hamilton Spectator.

A CAUSE OF WONDER

Talking about plebiscites, and after listening to the disloyal speeches made by a number of leading French Canadian politicians during the recent by-elections, one wonders what proportion of the Quebec voting public would favour Vichy rather than the Free French, if given an opportunity to express itself on a ballot.—Almonte Gazette.

NO TRUTH IN IT

There is no truth in the report that the hordes of publicity and public relations men at Ottawa and elsewhere are to be conscripted and formed into land armies to be sent out to help believe the farm labour problem. Such a move would ease the financial situation at the capital, but instead of helping the farmer, it would aggravate his troubles. He has enough to contend with now.—St. Thomas Times Journal.

CARELESS TALK

Some people have been inclined to scoff at posters displayed at various points in Canada warning against careless talk of such things as ship departures. It seems at times that the caution voiced is rather exaggerated, that casual words dropped among friends could not possibly do harm.

The story told by a British seaman in New York, however, is almost an exact duplication of the picture story told on some of these wall cards. It is the tale of a sailor revealing to a girl friend the time of departure of his ship, and of the news travelling from mouth to mouth until it was relayed by means of a signal to a lurking submarine, and the vessel sunk with heavy loss of life. It is a story that should make everyone think. It is a deadly example of just how dangerous it is to drop even a casual word. Careless talk does cost lives.—Windsor Star.

THE GREAT DR. DAFOE

The extent to which Dr. Dafoe has succeeded as physician to the five most famous little girls in the world is ready apparent with one look at them. The five Dionne sisters are fine, healthy and attractive little girls. They are physically and mentally splendid, and to Dr. Dafoe's great skill and personality must go a large measure of the credit.

Dr. Dafoe, in addition to the expert care which he has given the Quints, must also be thanked for his role in bringing thousands and thousands of tourists to this district. His skill in keeping the Quints alive at their birth and the fame which followed the achievement, his own individual charm, and the very appearance of the man, which could not have been more typical of the role of "the little doc" made him loved throughout the continent, and the resulting benefits to this district are well known. Some form of great tribute, a tribute which would express the appreciation of this district for the grand job Dr. Dafoe has done, is now in order.—North Bay Nugget.

A COSTLY LESSON

We should take a valuable lesson from the Japs, and then we will begin to make a showing in this war. Who ever heard of the Japs sitting around arguing or making speeches, or playing politics, when there was work to be done. Not the Japs. They just waded into us. And they didn't wait for us to come to them. They just pilled their men and their guns and their tanks on to transports and they hunted us out—thousands of miles away from their home battle ground. Yessir, the Japs mean business from the drop of the hat. They have struck us in several places and they have never pulled a punch. Already they have Hong Kong and Singapore and God knows what else before we will awaken to the fact that there is a war on and that we are going to get the kicking of our lives if we don't dig in. We don't know what has been done about defending British Columbia, but no matter what has been done it is little enough for the length of time we have had to prepare.

The greatest fault of our empire is that we expect too much from too few. It is a fault that has filled the pages of our history. Hong Kong and Singa-

THINGS LEFT UNDONE NOW CANNOT BE DONE

We have been a pleasure-loving people, dishonouring God's Day. Now the sea shores are barred. No pick-nicking or bathing.

We have preferred motor travel to churchgoing. Now there is a shortage of motor fuel.

We have ignored the ringing of the church bells calling us to worship. Now the bells cannot ring except to warn of invasion.

We have left the churches empty. Now they are in ruins.

We would not listen to the way of peace. Now we are forced to listen to the way of war.

The money we would not give to the Lord's work is taken in taxes and higher prices.

The food for which we neglected to thank God now is unobtainable.

The service we refused to give to God now is conscripted for the country.

Lives we refused to live under God's control now are under the nation's control.

Nights we would not spend "watching" unto prayer" now we spend in anxious air raid precautions.

Is it not time we checked up on this thing here, too? Or must it take bombs to awaken us?—George Black in Globe and Mail.

HONOR SYSTEM WORKING

The honor system of reducing the consumption of sugar is apparently working fairly satisfactory and rationing may not be necessary after all. If rationing does become a fact it will be because the glutton wants the other fellow to practice all the self denial. A coupon system would be but an added expense that a little self denial on the part of all of us, could very well be saved for the purchase of war munitions.

Plebiscite Bill

The Dominion Plebiscite Act, 1942, was submitted to the House on February 23rd by the Honourable Norman Alexander McLarty, K.C., Secretary of State. The bill contains only ten sections and will be referred to a special committee of the House whose chief task will be to deal with regulations and forms numbering about one hundred and thirty.

The bill itself is not specifically confined to the proposed plebiscite on a release from anti-conscription pledges but rather, under it, a plebiscite might be taken on any question. However, certain specific provisions relating to qualifications of voters are applicable to wartime conditions only. The bill provides that the Governor-in-Council may order by proclamation the taking of a plebiscite, fixing the date and stating the question to be submitted to the voters.

The qualifications for voters are set forth in the bill, and provides that the persons in the armed services may vote even if under twenty-one years of age; but that internees, also persons who get exemption or postponement of military service as well as conscientious objectors and certain persons of enemy-origin, may not vote.

It further provides that conscientious objectors who do vote shall be barred from claiming future exemption or postponement of military training.

An ordinary voter must be a British subject, must be twenty-one years of age at the date of voting, must have been ordinarily a resident of Canada for twelve months prior to date of voting and ordinarily a resident in the polling division on the twenty-eighth day before the date of voting.

A new voters' list will have to be prepared because it is estimated that over 400,000 young Canadians have reached voting-age since the general election in March, 1940. Another reason is that large war plants have been established during the past two years in districts which were sparsely populated before the war.

After the vote, the chief Plebiscite Officer will publish the number of votes cast in the affirmative and in the negative, respectively, in every electoral district in Canada together with a summary giving by provinces the total number of votes cast in the affirmative and in the negative respectively, also a statement of the votes cast by the Canadian Service voters within and without Canada, in the affirmative and in the negative, respectively.

A returning officer will be in charge of each electoral district and wherever possible will be the same returning officer as acted in the 1940 general election.

The sole question to be submitted in the plebiscite reads as follows:—

"Are you in favour of releasing the Government from any obligation arising out of any past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service."

Section 10 of the Act provides:—Expenses of, and incidental to, the carrying out of the provisions of this Act shall be paid out of unappropriated moneys in the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

Secret Session

At the conclusion of the secret session the following report of its proceedings were issued under the authority of Mr. Speaker:—

"A secret session of the House of Commons was held at 3.00 o'clock p.m. on Tuesday the 24th February, 1942.

"The sitting was devoted to the question of the defence of Canada in its widest qualification. Statements were made by the Honourable Messrs. Ralston, Power, and Macdonald, the Ministers in charge of National Defence. A variety of questions dealing with different aspects of the war were asked and answered. Many details were given the Members of the House."

The secret session lasted six hours. The seats in the gallery were empty; the Hansard reporters, the page boys and the members of the Press Gallery were all absent. Members entered the Chamber under the watchful eye of the blue-coated Commons' police.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

MORE COMPLETE USE FARM MACHINERY

In a comprehensive address on the effective use of farm machinery at the recent meeting in Toronto of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies, J. M. Armstrong, Assistant Agricultural Engineer, Field Husbandry Division Dominion Experimental Farms Service, dealt with many phases of farm engineering. These included the shortage of labour, the national value of mechanized agriculture, power and equipment for field operations, and more complete utilization of existing machinery.

With reference to field operations, he pointed out that power and labour might be saved by following certain tillage practices. Experiments conducted at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, had shown that a double disc cultivator or one-way disc might be used in place of the plough on stubble land without reducing yields. These implements were particularly useful for after-harvest cultivation, for weed control where several cultivations might be required to control weeds, as in a grain-hay rotation. Of course, where corn-borer was present, corn stubble must be ploughed to cover as many stalks as possible. Numerous ploughing experiments conducted on Dominion Experimental Farms over a period of years on different soil types, and on different rotations, had shown that shallow ploughing resulted in just as good yields as deep ploughing. Provided the shallow ploughing was carefully done, it produced good results, and might save considerable time and power.

TO PREVENT LOSSES AT LAMBING TIME

It is profitable to have early lambs. Saving lambs in March and April adds to the number that can be marketed in July and August, just the time when early lamb meat is in most demand. The following ten points are important in the reduction of lamb losses provided that the ewe flock is watched carefully and given good management at this season of the year:—

1. Go over the ewe flock carefully to find ewes that are developing udders. Sometimes a ram lamb or a stray ram has bred some ewes early. Such ewes may be the most profitable if the lambs are saved;
2. Early lambing ewes should be placed by themselves in the warmest part of the barn, preferably in clean sunny quarters;
3. Give close attention day and night to ewes expected to lamb early. Just before lambing ewes become restless and are sunken in front of the hips and over the rump. Place such ewes in a warm pen or box stall.
4. A quarter to one-half pound of grain should be fed to ewes heavy in lamb at this season. Two parts whole oats and one part bran makes an excellent grain ration. Feed the best of clover or alfalfa hay as a roughage;
5. Give each ewe a separate pen at lambing time, 3 feet by 4 feet is about the right size. A box stall 12 feet by 15 feet will provide lambing pens for seven or eight ewes;
6. Lambs weak at birth can often be revived. Remove any mucous or membrane from the mouth, rub and slap gently on the ribs. Endeavour to get the ewe to clean the lamb at once and see that it nurses as quickly as possible. Chilled lambs may be warmed up by putting them in a warm box wrapped in a light wool blanket. Stubborn cases may require some stimulant;
7. Give the ewe a warm drink, to which has been added about a quart of bran. Do not feed any grain for at least 24 hours and then only sparingly for a couple of days. Feed all she will eat of good clover or alfalfa hay. Shear the wool away from the udder;
8. Make sure there is milk in the udder. Ewes that have been well fed and have had plenty of exercise usually have plenty of milk;
9. Early lambs being nursed by good milking ewes will gain from one-half to a pound a day. Increase the grain gradually until ewes with twin lambs get 1½ lb. of 2 lb. daily. One to two lb. of silage daily will also stimulate the milk flow;
10. At ten days of age young lambs start to nibble at alfalfa or alfalfa leaves. Give them a deep where they can be encouraged to eat specially selected clover or alfalfa and a grain mixture of rolled oats 2 pints, cracked corn, 1 pint, bran 1 pint, and 10 per cent oilcake.

SOME HINTS ON HOW TO GET MAPLE SYRUP FROM JUST FEW TREES

Since the order restricting the consumption of sugar, inquiries have been made to the Dominion Department of Agriculture concerning the possibility of augmenting the sugar supply in homes which are close to small maple groves not presently exploited. The following information as to whether or not to tap may be helpful:

Maple trees under 10 inches in diameter at about 3½ to 4 feet from the ground should not be tapped as not only is the quantity of sap that may be produced from them too small to be of value but tapping young trees causes injury which may prevent the full development of the trees.

Sap varies in sugar content from year to year. In some years as low as 15 to 17 gallons of sap will make a gallon of maple syrup or 10 pounds of sugar; the usual ratio, however, is 35 to 40 gallons of sap to a gallon of syrup. In what is termed a good year about 5 to 7 large maple trees should yield one gallon of syrup or 10 pounds of sugar.

The equipment necessary to make sugar or syrup from sap from a small grove need not be elaborate. It is necessary to have suitable containers to hang on the trees from which the sap is gathered. In view of the shortage of tin it will be difficult to get the type of buckets used in large groves. Any convenient tin or glass container will do. Other equipment necessary for tapping the tree is a brace, or auger, and a ¾-inch bit, a light axe or hatchet, a claw hammer for removing spouts or spiles, and a large holding container for sap such as a barrel.

The sap can be reduced to syrup or sugar in a large boiler or preserving kettle on the kitchen stove.

Cleanliness, speed, and shallow boiling are the three requisites for the making of high grade maple syrup or sugar. The greatest care should be taken, however, to see that the syrup does not burn in the pan. If it does, the flavour of the syrup or sugar

When the sap has started to boil in the evaporating equipment a scum will form constantly on the surface. This should be removed with a skimmer. Syrup should be as thick as possible without crystallizing or granulating. To meet these requirements the weight of the syrup should be at least 13 lb. 2 ounces to the gallon, containing not more than 35 per cent of water. A practical way of knowing when the syrup is ready without using a thermometer is to dip the skimmer into the boiling syrup, holding it up and noting how the cooling syrup "aprons off." If a liquid thermometer is used the syrup should be boiled to a temperature of 219 degrees F. for soft sugar, and 246 degrees F. to 248 degrees F. for hard sugar. When the syrup is ready it should be taken out of the evaporator and allowed to stand for some hours so that impurities in the syrup will settle out, or it can be strained through a filter. When the syrup has been thus clarified it should be canned or bottled. Some authorities recommend the syrup be packed in cans or glass jars at 180 degrees F. Be sure to close the cans or jars tightly and store in a cool place.

Sap will be "runnin'" in Eastern Canada in a few weeks.

Look Out! A Sick Liver is Dangerous

Do you have persistent headaches and backaches? Are you tortured by rheumatic pains in muscles and joints? A faulty liver is clogging your whole system. Serious ill health may result.

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," head-achy, back-achy, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-tives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-tives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-a-tives" put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 25c, 50c.

"Always In Pain, Now Grand Relief!" I suffered so badly from rheumatism and neuritis I could hardly walk upstairs or close my hands. After taking Fruit-a-tives for four days the swelling left my hands and I was able to climb a ladder. I have no more bother with rheumatism or neuritis and advise any person suffering as I have to use Fruit-a-tives. They give quick relief. William J. Tracer, Toronto, Ont.

"Sick For Years, In Hospital—Now Fine" I had a bad case of biliousness and constant headaches and back-aches. I became so ill I had to go to a hospital. Nothing I tried would help until I started taking Fruit-a-tives. In a very short time my troubles disappeared. Now I have no more headaches or backaches and can do my housework without help. Mrs. E. Dadsen, London, Ont.

Music Festival

On Friday evening over one hundred people from Mount Pleasant with guests from Hoards and English Line enjoyed a music festival in Mount Pleasant Hall.

Four public schools participated with their teachers and Mr. Hazzell, of Campbellford, who is the music teacher presided at the piano throughout the whole programme.

Rev. J. E. Beckel was master of ceremonies and he introduced the cast as follows:

English Line pupils and their teacher, Miss Helen McMullen; Masson school at Hoards and Miss Gwendoline Beckel; William's School, Miss Muriel Welbourne; Allan School, Miss Emma Cole.

The hall was decorated with an assessment of posters urging the buying of Victory Bonds. At the door were two boxes labelled Red Cross and British War Victims and over twenty-dollars was contributed to these funds.
Mr. Kenneth Weaver manipulated the curtain and Rev. J. E. Beckel gave a special address on the importance of buying Victory Bonds and urged all to do their bit to help win the war.

The pupils of the English Line school furnished four choruses during the programme and they gave "Let's get together"; "My Buddy"; "Tipperary"; and "The Lads of the Navy

The Masson school presented a pageant "Builders of Canada" and the pupils were all in costume. Each province was represented and the whole story was woven around "The Sleeping Beauty". Several numbers were sung and Miss Cosette Archer dressed as a Scottish lassie danced "The Highland Fling."

The Cavalcade of Canada was presented in two acts by the pupils of the William's School and the Allan School.

This depicted the Indians, the Scots, the Irish, the French, the Welsh, the Hollanders, folks from Belgium,
Scandinavia, Poland, Russia, Czecho-Slovakia, Balkans, Hungary, Hebrews, and United States, who had all made their homes in Canada. The pupils wore native costumes and during this presentation several songs were sung such as Indian Lullaby, Scots Wha
Hae, The Harp that once thro'
Taras' Halls, Maytime, Lorella, God
Bless America and others. Miss Ruth
Rose and Lois Weaver and Master Richard Walls sang as a trio—"The Bird's Song" for Russia and a Hungarian Lullaby. The primers of the two schools sang "Betty Pringle's Pig" for the Balkans.

At the close thanks was tendered to the pupils, their teachers and Mr.
Hazzell and all in attendance thoroughly enjoyed this splendid presentation which clearly showed the common bond of understanding in the music of the world.

All the schools were named on the programme for the closing chorus, "Fair Canada, My Home", and The National Anthem.

This event was a rare treat and clearly demonstrated that teaching music in our schools is a step in the right direction.

Many of the older folk feel that they missed a great deal during their school days when a school house was four plain walls and the whole day was devoted to reading writing and arithmetic.

Harold Cheese Factory Has Good Year

A seventy-two per cent increase in the amount of cheese made during the 1941 season was chalked up by the 43 patrons of Harold Cheese and Butter Company. It was revealed in the annual statement presented to them Friday last. In addition to this their cheesemaker, Roy Brown, turned out 99.8 per cent first grade cheese with only 5 boxes of undergrades up to the end of November.

However these far-sighted Rawdon farmers have another claim for distinction in the cheese industry—a new factory built last year at a cost of $7,630.00 and equipped with every modern device to facilitate the handling of both milk and cheese. Their new 74x36 foot 2-storey, stucco building has a metal roof, inside walls plastered and even has automatic hoist for milk cans. It replaces the original factory built in 1885 and inadequate for producing cheese according to the present high standards of quality. The disposal of waste and an insufficient supply of spring water were two of the primary faults with the old factory and both of these were taken into consideration when the new site, a mile from the former one, was chosen by the directors. 262,499 pounds of Cheese

The year's financial report was given by W. H. Heath, who has been secretary of the company for the past 19 years. He reported 3,090,004 lbs. of milk had been delivered to the factory and from this had been made 262,499 pounds of cheese or an average of 11.77 pounds milk per pound of cheese. Returns from the sale of cheese were $44,657.97, the average price per pound being 17.019 cents. The Provincial subsidy brought $5,261.90 and the Dominion premium on high scoring cheese was $4,402.97, or $3,286.84 more than in the preceding year. Butter fat brought 39.35 cents or 51.03 cents including the bonus, and milk yielded an average of $37.45. A total of 188,461 pounds of cheese were 94 grade; 63,544 were 93's, 6,629 were 92's and undergrades accounted for 460 pounds.

H. L. Fair, District Agriculture Representative for Hastings County gave a detailed report of the grading for the factory up to the end of November. To that time they sold 2,429 boxes of cheese of which 99.8 per cent was first grade or over as compared to 98.05, the Hastings County average and 96.9 for the entire province. Second grades were only .2 per cent compared to 1.95 for the county, 2.95 for the province and nearly 4 per cent for the Dominion, or 98.9 of all Harold cheese was in the premium class compared to the county average of 93.7.

Buy Victory Bond

The auditors report was given by Percy Ray, who congratulated the secretary on the excellent condition in which he found the books, and at the request of President Charles Mumby, who presided, commented on the Victory Loan Drive, urging the Company to invest $200.00 of their balance. This question was subsequently put to a vote and carried unanimously, making Harold the only company in the district to have a share in the loan.

Some interesting figures disclosing the part Canadian farmers have been playing in the war effort were given by Agricultural Representative Fair, particularly with regard to the increased export of cheese. In 1939 Canada shipped 72 million pounds to England; in 1940, 103 million pounds; in 1941, 112 million pounds when only 148 million was the total production, thus compelling a reduction in home consumption. Commenting on the increased production of 1,125,000 pounds in Hastings county, Mr. Fair pointed out that Harold had contributed one-tenth of this extra cheese. He felt the extension of the war to the far east might effect shipments of dairy products from New Zealand and Australia whose combined efforts has yielded 400 million pounds of cheese and 310 million pounds of butter for Britain in 1941. To meet the 1941-42 bacon production quota of 600 million pounds, Canadian farmers will have to market 7 million hogs, he said, and as an indication of one of the changes brought about by the war, Mr. Fair estimated 4 million of these hogs would be fed by western farmers this year. Export packing plants are no longer allowed to butcher light weight hogs, but this is a paying proposition for the farmer who is given a $1.00 premium on selects. A result of this has been an increase of 10% in the number of hogs in Hastings county qualifying for the premium (40% are in premium class). In the year 1939 (before war had spread to the low countries) Canada shipped 1,000,500 dozen eggs to the British market, but in 1940 this had increased to 10 million dozen and to September 1st, 1941, the number jumped to 15 million dozen. The quota for the period from September 30th, 1942, has been upped to 45 million dozen he said. This brought up the question of shipping facilities and Mr. Fair pointed out if all of these could be dried it would mean a tremendous saving of shipping space. One crate of eggs alone would lose 15 pounds by dehydration. The shells of 30 dozen account for 9 pounds and the moisture content 6 pounds, approximately.

A director of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, Ed. Pyear reviewed some of the activities of this group which he said had been instrumental in securing the Federal bonus and provincial subsidy for cheese producers. He foresaw a substantial increase in the price of cheese this year and declared although the Dominion government would unquestionably continue their premium there was no definite information about the Ontario bonus. The standardization of factory statements and payments of exchange on buyer's cheques were other questions he touched on. District Dairy Instructor, J. A. Murray also touched on the important question of prices but was of the opinion it would be "settled by the last of April." Officials for the coming season were named as follows: President, Charles Mumby; secretary, W. H. Heath; auditor, Percy Ray; Directors, W. J. Tanner, Kenneth Mumby, Albert Cook, Clarence Runnalls, T. A. Cooney, Mowatt Sine.

HAVELOCK TO CELEBRATE JULY 12th

The Havelock Lodge's invitation to hold the glorious 12th of July here was accepted by the County Orange Lodge which met in Norwood last week. Ordinarily it was Hastings' turn, but they felt they were not in a position to prepare for it and left it up to Havelock. Committees have been named by the two lodges here and preparations for the celebration are getting under way. According to reports from different lodge members, Peterboro West intends to come here this year, and all are looking forward to one of the biggest walks held here in many years.—Havelock Standard.

No other country in the world is better equipped than Canada to produce, with minimum manpower, the prodigious quantities of foodstuffs required by an Empire at war.

Equipment bought to do more work in less time and at less cost during the years of drought and depression has taken on greater importance now that our war-time program in men and munitions has created a shortage of labor and materials.

The importance of farm equipment has been recognized by the highest material priority rating for civilian goods, yet even with this preference—so great is the manufacturing program for war purposes—it may not be possible to meet the demand for farm equipment this year.

It will be necessary, therefore, to take extra good care of your present equipment. Check it over to see that it is in good working order. Replace damaged or worn-out parts now. Use your machines carefully, paying particular attention to frequent and thorough lubrication of working parts. If it is essential that you have a new machine, it is to your interest to place your order as early as possible.

Through its extensive network of branches and local dealers, the Massey-Harris organization is prepared and equipped to give that prompt, reliable service depended upon by generation after generation of Canadian farmers since the pioneer days. Never before was modern farming equipment so important—your local Massey-Harris dealer is ready to help you keep your equipment in good working order.

Many People Still Sleep In Shelters In London's Underground Stations

This is the twelfth in the series of articles written exclusively for the weekly newspapers of Canada by Hugh Templin, editor of the Fergus News-Record. He flew to Great Britain as a guest of the British Council and was given an opportunity to see what is being done in Britain, Iceland and Portugal in wartime.

This series has stretched out and this story will complete the twelve that I originally planned to write. It seems that there has been so much to tell—much more than I thought when I arrived back in Canada.

For the twelfth story, I am choosing one of the simplest of them all, and yet one of the hardest to do. So many people want to know what London is really like in wartime, with the blackout and the bombing. So many ask for a description, yet it is hard to describe London, as one really sees it, particularly at night when the eye sees little. There have been so many descriptions and yet most of them fail to paint a true picture.

Perhaps I should not try, when so many experts have failed. But it ought to be easy enough. I'll take one evening walk and tell about it, as I wrote it down after reaching the light and warmth of my room at the Savoy. It was the night of October 1st, and, as it happened, the anniversary of my wedding—the first time I had been away from home on that date in 20 years of married life. It was my turn to broadcast a message to Canada that night and I had sent my wife a cable to be listening. I hoped she would hear my voice, at least.

The British Broadcasting House is in the West End of London. Perhaps you have seen pictures of it in days of peace. It has been an enemy target and it looks rather different now, but we thought it had been designed with bombing in mind, for much of it is underground. We decided that when the Hun knocks a bit off the top, the staff just moves down one storey farther into the cellar, but I cannot vouch for that.

It isn't an easy building to enter, for it is guarded by both police and soldiers. One has to have a pass and a definite appointment to get past the soldier who stands with fixed bayonet beside a portable bomb shelter in the main hallway.

It was about 10.30 when I came out, showing another pass at the door before I could get out. I had done my broadcast from a basement room, two storeys below the surface of the earth. It hadn't been an ordeal, in spite of the sign that said that we would be warned if enemy bombers were directly overhead, and would we please continue as long as possible after the first warning sounded. There is much less formally about the broadcasting in the B.B.C. than in studios on this side of the ocean. I soon felt quite at home. When the director learned about the anniversary, he insisted that I add a personal message to my wife. I appreciated his thoughtfulness.

There was no taxi in sight as I came out into the blackout, but it was a moonlit night and I was used to the blackness by this time, so I started off. It isn't hard to find one's way in London. The moon was in the south and the Thames lay in that direction.

At a corner in Regent street, I stopped to check up with a policeman. He was standing outside his little brick bomb-shelter. Every main corner has one of them. They would not hold more than two or three persons, huddled close together, but they do give protection from blasts and flying splinters.

The constable seemed surprised when I asked if I was headed in the right direction for the Savoy. "Yes, sir," he said. "You are—but it's a long way, sir. You wouldn't be thinking of walking that far!"

I assured him I was and wondered if any constable in any other large city in the world would have been so polite about it.

I had my little pocket torch—the kind we call "pen-lights" in Canada. Even that was too bright for the London blackout, unless covered with a layer of blue tissue paper. That night, I had no need for it. The moon gave light enough.

The main streets in the West End have suffered from the bombing. As I walked along, it seemed that the vacant spaces were at more or less regular distances. It seemed as though a German pilot might have gone up one side of the street and down the other, letting his high explosives drop as quickly as he could turn the bomb lever.

I was passing a block of stately apartment houses. Most of them appeared to be intact. Then there was a gap where several had been blown out into the street. The rubbish had been cleared away, but the moon shone down on a blank white wall, studded here and there with little fireplaces and against the sky a row of about 20 chimneys stood silhouetted against the midnight blue.

In the next block, it was stores that had suffered. Sometimes the window was just a great, gaping hole and the inside of the store wasn't there. On either side, the windows had been boarded up, but the stores were evidently carrying on, though I couldn't read what was on the little signs nailed to the boards.

No lights of any kind were to be seen except the traffic lights at the main corners and the single, shaded headlamps of approaching cars. The traffic lights were their red and green crosses cut in sheets of metal that had been fitted over the lenses. The red and green looked rather decorative, but when the yellow came on, it looked unlawfully bright for the five seconds it remained. The car lights made only dim moving circles on the pavement as they passed.

I found myself, by and by, in Piccadilly Circus. Loyal Londoners claim that this has the busiest traffic of any place on earth in normal times. It certainly hasn't now. Occasional taxis slipped past, and buses with their windows covered with some opaque substance with tiny holes scraped in the centre of each window pane so that a passenger can look out with a single eye. The statue of Eros is no longer seen in the centre of the Circus. It is covered with a cone-shaped protection against bombs and the boards on the outside are plastered with signs advising the onlooker to buy bonds. (I saw them in daylight several times.)

I had missed a tour of the air raid shelters a few nights before, but I recalled that the most famous of them all was in the Underground station below Piccadilly Circus. I went down the stairs and into the bright light of the station.

My travelling before that time had been above ground. This was my first visit to the Underground. The streets may have seemed deserted but there were lights and action and crowds below the surface. A long line moved slowly past a window marked 14d and another line past the 2d wicket. Moving stairways seemed to go down into the bowels of the earth in every direction. Evidently this was just the vestibule.

Sleeping Under the Ground
I appealed to another constable. I explained who I was, where I had come from and what I wanted to see. He called to another man in blue uniform: "Here, mate, will you watch things for me for a few minutes," and then herded me past a ticket turnstile and down an escalator. It was 75 feet long or more, but that was just the beginning. We walked down some stone steps and took another escalator for another 80 feet or so, past rows of theatre posters and other advertisements.

I really wasn't prepared for what I saw. London hadn't been bombed in months, yet there were several hundred people sleeping beside the subway tracks. The trains came racing out of the darkness, like great caterpillars, stopped a moment, and went on again. The platforms were none too wide, but all along the walls were rows of men and women sleeping on the tiled floors, with blankets over and under them.

In some parts of the "tubes", there were rows of double-deck cots along the walls. The cots bore numbers and the same people occupied them night after night. Some of them had been fixed up a bit, with blankets hanging down in front, like the curtains of a berth on a train. But most of them were open to the gaze of hundreds who passed by.

There were more women than men and they were in various stages of undress. Some never took off their clothes at all; other women were coming out of the lavatories with pyjamas or nightgowns showing below their dressing gowns. I saw no children over a year old, but there were three babies, one of them very tiny. An old couple, well dressed, sat together on the stone floor, taking their things out of an expensive looking suitcase. A stone stairway ran up 20 steps.

How He Knew

He dropped around at a girl's house and as he ran up the steps he was confronted with her little brother.

"Hi, Billy."

"Hi," said the boy.

"Is your sister expecting me?"

"Yeah."

"How do you know?"

"She's gone out."

Give Me a Chance

I met a girl at a party last week, and I managed to get her into a dark corner.

"What about a kiss?" I said. "Come on, ducks, I'd like a big kiss."

"Oh, shut up!" she told me.

"Blimey, can't I have a kiss?"

"Yes—but you can't expect to get it while you're talking."

Still Ringing

A bloke I know said he'd like me to hear his girl sing, because I might be able to get her an audition with a theatrical producer.

Well, I heard her sing.

Afterwards he said, "Don't you think her voice has a bell-like quality?"

"Blimey, you're right!" I told him. "It's still ringing in my ears."

Is she refined?

"I should say so!" She went even read coarse print.

EASILY

Recently a Canadian editor was in a gun plant where extremely fine tooling operations were being carried on.

"What are your tolerances on this job?" he asked a man at a lathe.

"One five thousandth or an inch," replied the workman.

The figure conveyed little to the editor. He asked, "How fine is that?"

The workman too, seemed puzzled. He called to his neighbor on the next machine: "Bill, how many five-thousandths are there in an inch?"

Bill scratched his head. "Gee, I don't know. But there must be millions of them."

THE WEEKLY NEWS

BY MURDIE McDONALD

Attorney General Conant decided to give a Dr. Thorndyke complex to crime detection in Ontario. Thorndyke was the famous hero of detective stories who attained wonderful results from medical gadgets, microscope, and laboratory experiments, putting Sherlock Holmes with his deductive theories to blush. Until his death recently, Dr. E. R. Frankish had charge of the medico-legal branch of the Attorney General's Department. Dr. Frankish in several sensational murder trials was able to supply circumstantial evidence that paved the way for convictions.

It is now proposed to adopt a decentralized plan which it is hoped will give this phase of crime detection work a degree of efficiency hitherto not reached in Ontario. Key officers are to be appointed and the work will be distributed among outstanding pathologists of the province, thus expediting the work and reducing expenses in the matter of travelling. Medicine, chemistry, anatomy, pathology, materia medica and botany are all intimately bound up in this branch of forensic science, and numerous and diverse tests are carried out in the laboratory of Queen's Park. The service of Professor L. Jocelyn Rogers, Dr. W. L. Robinson, and Dr. I. H. Erb, whose work in criminal investigations is well known, are being retained together with ballistic and handwriting experts from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. It has been decided at a later date to set up schools in western, eastern, north-western and north Ontario for the thorough training of police officers upon whom the work of crime detection primarily depends.

Adding a little sugar to a rather bitter pill, Honorable T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways, intimates that municipalities may raise expenses for maintenance costs of existing roads to the levels of 1941, plus one-third. The provincial government, however, will give no subsidies for capital expenditures on municipal county, or township highways. The Minister says Provincial and Federal Governments are considering an agreement covering high revenues under which the Dominion will undertake to reimburse the province up to the amount collected in the fiscal year 1940.

In regard to capital expenditures on highway construction Ontario is making only two exceptions this year—the road from Geraldton to Hearst, which was started as a war project, and the highway from Madawaska to Barry's Bay. It is gratifying that the question of road maintenance is not to be neglected, as nothing deteriorates as quickly as a highway on which the necessary timely repairs are overlooked.

It at any time in the near future Ontario is threatened with a coal famine, the immense deposits of lignite on the James Bay Plateau, may be tapped. These are located 125 miles north of Cochrane, estimated at 100,000,000 tons. The Provincial Government and the T. & N. O. Railway have been conducting experiments with satisfactory results and already the formation which is the only commercial coal deposit in Ontario, has yielded 12,000,000 tons. Similar deposits in Saskatchewan have been exploited successfully after dehydrating, which is necessary before the lignite can be used as fuel. It will be remembered that some years ago when the fuel was first discovered, many wisecracks were made great fun of the matter declaring that such stuff might burn but would not give out any heat. In recent months it has been heating buildings in the north and has been used to get up steam in locomotives on the T. & N. O. railway.

DRASTIC REGULATIONS ISSUED ON USE OF TIN PLATE FOR CANNING

Drastic regulations regarding the use of tin plate for canning purposes have been issued by the controller of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Ordinary fruits such as raspberries, strawberries, cherries, etc., are allowed to be canned to the extent of 100% of the solid pack of 1941 but only 75% of the syrup pack. Beans and corn will be packed in 105-ounce tins while green peas will be packed in 20 and 105-ounce containers. Tomatoes escape the ban. They will be packed in the 28-ounce or the ordinary tin, and in 105-ounce tins as well. Asparagus has been restricted to the 1941 pack. No cutting will be packed in small tins. Mixed vegetables will be packed to the extent of 75% of last year's pack. Condensed soups, 100% of last year's pack. Jams and jellies will be packed in 4-pound 30 pound and 32-pound containers only.

Pork and beans, macaroni, vermicelli, baked beans, are definitely out for the present year. Ready-to-serve soup may be canned only by special permission of the government.

The use of cans for preserving imported foods is expressly forbidden, and all canners are requested to report the number of cans he has on hand to the government before March 15th.

MANY PEOPLE STILL SLEEP IN SHELTERS IN LONDON'S UNDERGROUND STATIONS

or so. Lying on it were six or seven men. They weren't crossways on the steps, because that would have impeded traffic, but they were lying up the stairs. The sharp, metal-bound edges dug into their sides in three or four places, but they slept on, while hundreds walked past them and the trains thundered by 20 feet away. I would not have believed it if I had not seen it.

My guide took me down to a lower level. There were more bunks. At the end of the row was a temporary first aid post, with two nurses in uniform. At a counter nearby, three girls were selling tea, coffee, cakes and sandwiches.

I was more moved by these things than I had been since I arrived in London, but to the constable it was an old story. He was scornful: "A lot of foreigners what hasn't got any guts, sir, or lodging house folk what won't pay their rent. You can see for yourself, sir!"

I could see—a strangely assorted folk. They looked different to me than they did to him. He may have been right, but I thought I saw behind the homes that had been destroyed and people with no places to go where they felt safe. Surely it took more than an ordinary terror to make people live like that. Yet he may have been right: after all, it was five months since the last bombing of that part of London.

As we went back upstairs, my new-found friend and guide complained about the Government in a way that sounded thoroughly Canadian. The income tax was unfair, he said. Here he was, working for two days out of every week for the Government. He had been retired on a pension and they called him back to work—and then taxed his pay and pension as well. Yet he had a young nephew on the south coast—a publican, he was—that didn't have anything to do because his pub was in a prohibited area. He got a job as a carpenter, though he had no training. Building defence works, he was, and still at it, and he gets 8 or 10 £ a week. He keeps changing from one job to another and nobody ever checks him up and he never paid any taxes. They say Bevin favors the trade unions anyway.

It sounded familiar. I thought of the carpenters at Camp Borden and a number of other complaints back home.

The constable had other criticisms to make while he had the ear of the Press. The Army should be helping the Russians. He had a son in the army for two years, just doing nothing. Conscription wasn't fairly enforced. A lot of young fellows got free, though they are calling up men of 45 now. He pointed to two young chaps in evening clothes (about the only ones I saw so dressed in London.) They were drunk and leaning on each other. The constable said he saw the same ones every day. Why weren't they in the Army?

I didn't know, so I said good-bye and reached the upper air again.

Walking along Piccadilly, I passed several groups of loving couples. The men were mostly sailors. Some of them were singing. They had their arms around the girls. It was just dark enough for that.

I caught up to a pair not so loving. There was moonlight enough to see that he was an officer in the R.A.F. The woman said: "Well, I hope you are proud of yourself after that exhibition!" The voice was full of bitterness. I thought he might hit her, but they turned in a doorway and were gone.

At Leicester Square, I paused, for there are several streets. (You know the lines of the song, of course—"Good-bye, Piccadilly; farewell, Leicester square.") I stood at the curb looking at the streets across the circle. A shortish lady came along and bumped into me. There wasn't any need; the sidewalk was wide and it wasn't really dark.

"Sorry, sir," she said, so I asked her which way to the Strand.

"Down that way," she said, "But I am going this way. You coming this way?"

"No thanks!" I said and continued on my way south.

Trafalgar Square was familiar to me, day or night. I turned down past a bombed church and an ambulance passed me in the darkness with its bell clanging, and stopped at the next corner. As I walked past, a lady on a stretcher was taken in the little door. The last time I had been past that corner, a friend had pointed to that same door. "That's where they took me the night I smashed up my car in the big blitz," he had said. That was the first time I had known he had been bombed.

I caught up to a very fat man at the next corner. He looked congenial. "Is this the Strand?" I asked. I knew it was, but that might be an opening.

"It is that," he said, "though it's not like it used to be in the old days when it was so full of traffic that you couldn't cross it anywhere here

He turned to me. "You're an American and don't remember it?"

I explained I was a Canadian.

"I knew it was one or the other," he said, evidently thinking there was no real difference.

On a beautiful night like that, it was natural to turn to the weather next.

"Last year," he said, "they came over every night, moon or no moon." (Hitler is never mentioned by name and the Germans seldom: it is 'he' or 'they'. "About half-past eight, it was. You could set your watch by it. One-hundred and sixty-eight nights without a break. Hell, it was. But I'd rather be in London in a blitz than have to live anywhere else. No place like London! And I'll live here while they leave two houses standing. But there's the entrance to your hotel across the street, sir."

We parted and I edged my way carefully across the Strand, and passed through the revolving door into the bright lights.

AUDITOR'S REPORT - RAWDON TOWNSHIP - 1941

To the Reeve and Deputy Reeve, Councillors and Ratepayers of Rawdon Township.

Gentlemen:—

I hereby certify that I have examined the books and accounts of the above municipality as presented by the treasurer, Mr. J. B. Thompson, for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1941.

On January 1st there was on deposit in the Bank of Montreal, Stirling, a balance from last year's account of $2754.80. The total receipts during the year were $52155.56 and the total expenditures were $52868.69, leaving a balance to credit of the Township of $2041.67.

Early in January it was found necessary to borrow $7500.00 to meet the balance due on County rates; this loan was met with interest during the year.

The tax rolls have been added and verified. The arrears of taxes owing on January 1st amounted to $17255.92. Of this amount $16882.05 was collected leaving $373.87 owing on the roll of 1940. On December 31st there was owing on the 1941 roll $14948.87, making a total of $15322.74 of tax arrears. Verification notices have been mailed to all those whose taxes are in arrears.

In the statement of Assets and Liabilities $200.00 has been written off the 1940 valuation of Land and Buildings and $350.00 off machinery for depreciation, but an air compressor was purchased during the year, valued at $1200.00. This brings the total Capital Assets to $2659.80. The Capital Liabilities are $600.00, owing on the compressor, and $109.50 principal owing on the drainage debenture. This leaves the Capital Assets to be in excess of Liabilities by $5559.00.

The Current Assets are $17564.41. The Current Liability is $7747.96, owing on County rates. This leaves a surplus of current assets over liabilities of $9816.45.

The drainage debenture was further reduced during the year by payment of $209.78. This leaves an unpaid principal of $109.80.

The insurance carried is unchanged—namely $2000.00 on buildings and contents; $1000.00, road liability insurance and a $5—10,000 or personal liability road insurance. This we believe is a sufficient coverage.

The Treasurer and Collector are bonded in accordance with the Act, the Treasurer to the extent of $4000.00, and the Collector for $3000.00.

I believe the statement given to be a true abstract of the financial affairs of the Township, taken from the Treasurer's books, which are neatly and correctly kept. All receipts are duly deposited in the bank. All payments of money are duly authorized by the Council and are paid by cheque, signed by the Treasurer and the Reeve. All tax collections made by the Collector are deposited in the Bank to the credit of the municipality. I believe the Township to be in a sound financial condition. The officers are efficient and the Council are conducting the business of the Municipality in a satisfactory manner.

I desire to express my appreciation of the courtesy and assistance of the officers in enabling me to make a thorough audit.

VOLNEY RICHARDSON,
Auditor.

ST. PAUL'S W. A.

The regular monthly meeting of St. Paul's United Church W. A. was held at the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. Marshall Lavery, on Tuesday afternoon, March 3rd, with thirty five ladies present. With the president, Mrs. R. B. Duffin presiding over the business portion and devotional period the meeting opened with the singing of the Theme song, prayer by the president, and the Lord's Prayer in unison. The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and read letters of acknowledgement of cards and sympathy letters received during the month, and also reported fourteen cards and two letters had been sent during February. Mrs. R. Finkle reported ten calls had been made by the visiting committee. Mrs. A. K. Stinson and Mrs. O. Stapley were appointed the visiting committee for the month of March. A complete financial report was presented by the treasurer, Mrs. M. Hick. Mr. Clifford Hutton was present and gave a detailed report on the plans for renovations of the church kitchens. He expressed clearly the view taken on the matter by the church board, and explained the program of building, whereby the church would eventually have modern kitchen facilities. After some discussion, this plan was adopted by the members of the W. A. Full arrangements were made for the supper to be held on March 17th. The remaining portion of the meeting was directed by Mrs. J. L. Good, convenor of the program committee. The program opened with Mrs. Lavery playing softly, "Breathe on me breath of God" at the piano, followed by the singing of hymn 581. The Scripture Lesson taken from the thirty-eighth chapter of Job was read by Mrs. Arthur Scott who also delivered a very fine paper based on the Scripture Lesson read, and climaxed with prayer. Many fine comments were passed on the quality of the material set forth in this address. In keeping with the spirit of St. Patrick, the remaining part of the excellent program was Irish. Mrs. Cecil Macklin gave a paper on the life of the Irish Saint, followed by an Irish song—"Killarney" by Mrs. Earl Leury with Mrs. Lavery at the piano. Mrs. W. Mosher gave the reading entitled, "Wearin' of the Green." A group of appropriate Irish airs formed the musical contribution in instrumental solo by Mrs. Harold Moore. "A name the tune" contest was directed by Mrs. Good and Mrs. Moore, proving very interesting and entertaining. Mrs. Lavery was awarded first prize. The meeting closed with the singing of hymn 413—the National Anthem, and the Mizpah Benediction. Luncheon was served by the ladies of the committee, and a social period thoroughly enjoyed. Mrs. G. C. Clute voiced the appreciation of all the ladies present, to the committee in charge, and also to the hostess, Mrs. Lavery, for the making possible of such an enjoyable afternoon. The ladies in charge included—Mrs. J. L. Good, Mrs. C. Macklin, Mrs. E. Nicholson, Mrs. Wm. Fitchett, Mrs. W. Mosher, Mrs. Earl Leury, Mrs. Arthur Scott, Mrs. Frank Woodbeck.

the corner to Vandervoort, whose shot was deflected into the visitor's net for the only goal of the period.

Peterboro tied the count early in the second period when Close scored through a mass of legs and sticks. Bastedo had no chance on this one as his view was obstructed. Vandervoort missed a glorious opportunity when he was in alone on Leather, but the goalie outgassed him. Peterboro made it 2-1 on a play that was clearly off-side with Dorrell getting credit for the counter.

The visitors increased their lead two minutes after the opening of the final period, when Ainsley beat Bastedo on a drive from a face-off near the Stirling net. Two minutes later Vandervoort put the locals back into the running when he took a pass from McIntosh outside the Peterboro blue line and battled his way through the defence to beat Leather. The locals were forcing the pace at this point, but couldn't beat the visitors' goalie. The fast pace began to tell on the locals and first, Milne, then Ainsley and Milne again counted in succession to make victory certain for the visitors.

The line-ups:
Stirling—Goal, D. Bastedo; defence, Wright and MacIntosh; centre, B. Bastedo; wings, Patterson and Vandervoort; subs, Jackman, Tulloch, Scrimshaw, Dafeo and Utman.
Peterboro—Goal, Leather; defence, Ainsley and F. Lawson; centre, K. Anderson; wings, Close and Carpenter; defence, Dorrell, shrd shrdlun ter; subs, White, Dorrell, J. Harris, B. Milne.

ELIMINATE MADOC

Stirling Juveniles played the second game of a home and home series in Madoc Friday night and again proved themselves better than the northerners in their climb to O.M.H.A. honors by adding a couple more goals to the eleven goal lead they gained on their own ice last Wednesday. The final wind-up of the home-and-home series stands at 17-4.

"Wimp" Vandervoort, of the Stirling speed line was the star of the Stirling squad with three counters. The other members of the line, Bastedo and Patterson, played their usual fine game. McIntosh, who got Stirlings other goal, and Wright, went well on the defence, while Dafeo, Utman, Jackman, Tulloch and Scrimshaw all looked good. For the Madoc crew White brothers, Watson and Crawford were the best. White and Crawford sharing the honour for the two counters. Stirling—Goal, D. Bastedo; defence, Wright and MacIntosh; centre, B. Bastedo; wings, Patterson and Vandervoort; subs, Jackman, Tulloch, Scrimshaw, Dafeo and Utman.

Madoc—Goal, H. Johnston; defence, McCoy and White; centre, Crawford; wings, Stewart and Fleming; subs, B. White, Alex Watson, Chas. Thompson.

Referee—E. Fox, Stirling.

nets, was not overworked but gave a good account of himself. For the losers, H. Hagerman, G. Pyear and D. Pyear looked the best with Hagerman in the nets, playing a sensational game.

West Huntingdon vs. Zion

In the second game West Huntingdon and Zion battled hard from going to goal and ended in a deadlock 1-1. Both teams were evenly matched and the score is a true indication of their merits on the night's play. Clarke opened the scoring for Zion in the first period, but Sills evened the count near the close of the second. Both teams wore themselves out in

Overtime Games Feature Playoff

West Huntingdon and Glen Ross Will Meet in Finals in Rural Hockey League

The old "Dope Basket" was really upset at the Stirling Arena on Friday night last when West Huntingdon and Glen Ross qualified as finalists in the Rural Hockey League, after two overtime games. In the first game five minutes overtime was required before "Chuck" Wright, hero of a hard fought struggle, fired the tally that gave West Huntingdon a 2-1 decision over Zion Hill and eliminated the league leaders from the play-offs. The second game was a thriller from start to finish. Facing a three-goal deficit as a result of absorbing a 4-1 defeat on Tuesday last the Glen Ross squad surprised even their strongest supporters by overcoming the Foxboro lead with seconds left to play in the regular time and then scoring the winning tally after twenty-five minutes of gruelling overtime play. The boys from the banks of the Trent who were strengthened by the addition of Vandervoort star wingman of the Stirling Juveniles displayed plenty of the never-say-die spirit in achieving the victory. When Hagerman their goalie, was forced to retire after an injury in the third period, it was enough to discourage a less determined squad, but they rallied their forces and with Morrow, regular defenceman, replacing the injured player, they outgained the losers to take the honours.

West Huntingdon vs. Zion

In the first game West Huntingdon and Zion Hill met on equal terms, each having a goal from Tuesday night game that ended 1-1. The winners moved forward in the first period on scores by R. Sills and D. Wright to make 3-1 on the round. In the second period, G. Tummon singled and with only four minutes of the third period left notched the tying goal. "Chuck" Wright rapped in the winning counted after five minutes of overtime to take the series: West Huntingdon 4, Zion Hill 3. Tummons, Kingston, Brought and Empson were most effective for the losers. The Sills brothers, "Chuck" Wright, and Fargy were the pick of the West Huntingdon forwards, while Thompson and Don Wright on defence and Sables, in the nets, proved a hard combination to beat.

West Huntingdon: Goal, Sables; defence, D. Wright and Thompson; centre, R. Sills; wings, L. Sills and D. Fargy; subs, Ashley, McMullen, Kerby, Stapley, Bailey and Thompson. Zion Hill: Goal, Gifford; defence, Kingston and Brough; centre, Empson; wings, E. Gray and Hart, subs, Dickey brothers, Clarke, Denyes and Ray.

Glen Ross vs. Foxboro

The second game found the inspired Riverside boys led by Hagerman, Vandervoort, Martin and the two Pears setting a sizzling pace that was too much for the Foxboro squad. There was no scoring in the first, Bedford, Hagerman and Martin each clicked for Glen Ross in second and Jarrell got two for Foxboro. Vandervoort got two in the last three minutes of the third period to tie up the series and send the game into a tie breaking non-stop that went twenty-five minutes before H. Hagerman rapped in the winning goal from a scramble.

For the winners Hagerman, Vandervoort, the two Pears and Bedford went well and Burt Hagerman was next to unbeatable in their nets until he stopped one with his face and had to withdraw for three stitches under his eye. Morrow, who replaced Hagerman, gave one of the best exhibitions of goal tending seen in the local arena this winter and in the opinion of the Foxboro players was the direct cause of their defeat.

Foxboro—Goal, Gay; defence, Guay, Walt; centre, Collins; wings, Jarrell, Thompson; subs, Spencer, Tilker, Tummon, Sine.

Glen Ross—Goal, B. Hagerman; defence, Bedford, Brooks; centre, Martin; wings, Pyear, Vandervoort; subs, Habbie, Uman, D. Pyear, Hagerman, Morrow, McDonnell.

Stirling W.I. Held Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday beginning at noon with a pot-luck dinner after which a quilting for war refugees was held.

At 2.30 o'clock, Mrs. Gordaner called the meeting to order followed by the singing of the Maple Leaf and Institute Ode and repeating the Lord's Prayer.

The Roll Call was, "name an Irish Song," or "Wear something green". This was excellently responded to with some singing, others reciting, and others telling Irish stories.

Including the secretary's duties were the reading of the minutes. A thank-you letter from Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wolfe, Belleville. The announcement of the District Annual sub district activities in courses and speakers.

Mrs. West, the treasurer, received cards from soldiers for cigarettes the W.I. had sent overseas—D. E. Fairies, Chas. Fairies, Colin Fox, Jack Tulough.

Arrangements were made for a banquet and dance to be held in the near future with Stirling Hockey boys as guests. The following were chosen to sell tickets:—Mrs. L. Rodgers, Miss Irene Bronson, Miss Evelyn West and Miss June Woodbeck, and Mrs. W. C. West and Mrs. A. Gordaner, as canvassers.

Mrs. P. Bronson was authorized to secure the hall and an orchestra with the other arrangements left in the hands of Mrs. West, Mrs. Gordaner and Mrs. Nicolson.

Owing to the lateness of the hour the program was brief. Mrs. West conducted an Irish contest and Mrs. Bronson gave a reading. The meeting was closed with the singing of the National Anthem, after which Mrs. A. Hammond treated all to marshmallow

Library Board Has Annual

Encouraging Reports Presented—Mrs. J. McC. Potts Is Again Elected President

The annual meeting of the Stirling Public Library Board was held on Monday evening in the Library Room. The president, Mrs. J. McC. Potts, gave a report of the year's work, which proved quite satisfactory. Mrs. Potts has always taken a great interest in the Library and it was strictly in evidence that that interest had by no means waned. Stirling can boast of having one of the finest libraries of any place double its size in the province.

Mr. Geo. H. Luery, the treasurer, presented a splendid report showing a substantial balance on hand. The popular librarian, Mr. G. L. Clute, also gave his report for the year just closed. Progress had been made with the circulation in the Juvenile Section greatly increased. There had been a slight decrease in the adult section, but this was attributed to the fact that citizens are devoting all their spare time to Red Cross or other war work. This report gave ample evidence that the public of Stirling and community appreciate good reading. The Board is anxious to furnish all its patrons with first class material and seeks the co-operation of all in this good work.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were:

President—Mrs. J. McC. Potts.
Secretary, G. L. Clute.
Treasurer—G. H. Luery.
Property Committee—W. C. West and R. W. Melkielejohn.
Publicity Committee—Mrs. J. McC. Potts, Mrs. H. H. Alger, G. L. Clute.
Book Committee—Mrs. J. McC. Potts, Mrs. H. H. Alger, G. L. Clute, C. A. Wells and J. L. Good.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Officials of the Stirling Branch of the Red Cross wish to acknowledge the receipt of a donation of $1.00 from the pupils of Miss Montgomery's room in the Public School.

Curling Champions Known Here

When Ken Watson, teacher in a Winnipeg, High School, skipped his mates to a Canadian Curling Championship and the Macdonald Brier Tankard at the Quebec bonspiel recently, he took Manitoba its tenth Dominion title since the competition started in 1927. This is the second time that Mr. Watson has skipped the championship rink, winning in Toronto in 1936, and Old Timers in the east said they couldn't remember whether they had seen a better exponent of the draw game. The four-time, with Jim Grant, lead, S. Scrymgeour, second, and Grant Watson, a brother, vice-skip, defeated Prince Edward Island players by 14 points to 3.

Ken and Grant Watson will be remembered as sons of Rev. and Mrs. James Watson, Mr. Watson being a native of Rawdon township. The Watson brothers are nephews of Mrs. Walter Dracup and Mr. Geo. Watson, of Wellmans, and their many friends in this district join in extending congratulations.

Locals Eliminated By Peterboro

Winners Much Superior In Second Game Played on Home Ice Saturday Night

Flashing an abundance of speed and scoring punch, Churchill's, Peterboro entry in the Ontario Juvenile series swept through to a convincing 9 to 1 win over Stirling juveniles on soft ice at Brock St. arena, Peterboro, Saturday night. As Peterboro had won the first game at Stirling 6 to 2, Saturday's win means that they took the round by 15 to 3 and will move into the next round of the provincial competition against the winner of the Port Hope-Markam series.

The winners were much too good for the locals on the nights' play. Even on the heavy ice, they had plenty of foot and showed good passing while defensively they had oomph galore. In fact the heavy body checking barrage laid down by the Peterborough rear guards was a feature of the engagement.

Stirling tried hard and battled until the final whistle but they hadn't much chance against the speedy thrusts of the Churchill's who swept in at high speed and were decidedly effective in front of the nets. D. Bastedo, the diminutive Stirling goalie was about the busiest individual on the ice.

A big contingent of Stirling supporters accompanied the local kids and some of them took part in a lively free-for-all in the second period, when a flare-up between Wright of the locals and a Peterboro player was the signal for a regular donnybrook with everybody swinging. There was lots of action but the casualties were not heavy and peace was finally restored.

Leather played headups hockey in the net for the Churchill's and looked to have a shutout until Vandervoort finally scored on a pass out from Bastedo. Ainslie and Lawson played effective hockey on the defence and up in front Ed. Close, right-winger was the pick of a classy pack or young forwards. Close registered four goals on nice efforts and his last dash through the whole Stirling team for a counter was a feature.

For the locals the "kid" line of Scrimshaw, Tulloch and Jackman came into its own and was the best trio tossed over the boards by Coach Mundy in the entire game. They battled hard every minute they were on the ice and only the toughest kind of luck kept them off the score sheet. The Big Line were decidedly off colour with Patterson being the only man to play near his usual game. McIntosh, on defence, was a star and although given a terrific ride by the Peterborough squad he never quit trying. Although beaten for nine counters, Bastedo, in the local net, gave a good account of himself and had little chance on most of the shots that beat him.

The teams:
Stirling: Goal, D. Bastedo; defence, McIntosh, Wright; centre, B. Bastedo; wings, Patterson, Vandervoort; subs, Jackman, Tulloch, Scrimshaw, Uman and Dafeo.

Peterborough: Goal, Leether; defence, Ainslie, Lawson; centre, Anderson; wings, Close, Carpenter; subs, Garvey, Harris, Millen, Dorrell and White.

Referee—Red Townsend, Belleville.

Water Rises

The heavy rains on Sunday night caused the waters in Rawdon creek to raise to a high level and some of the cellars of the business places and homes were flooded. However, with the drop in temperature on Monday night the flood waters receded and conditions are normal again.

HASTINGS COUNTY BUYS $2,254,000 IN BONDS

Hastings County went over the top in the Second Victory Loan by subscribing $2,254,000, being $154,000 over the quota. Belleville also oversubscribed to the loan, purchasing $782,150, nearly $150,000, over the quota.

The number of purchases in this county number 9,063, or one in every 6.4 persons. Employees or businessmen and industry, and other workmen, purchased $1,843,900.

Honoured By Community

Friday evening, March 6, 1942, friends and neighbors numbering sixty gathered in the school house to hold a farewell party for Miss Allison Vandervoort, of Marsh Hill, who is leaving to enter Wellesley Hospital, Toronto, as a nurse-in-training.

Cards, Chinese Checkers and chatting provided the entertainment of the evening.

M. Carl was chosen master of ceremonies and calling on representatives of the Church, Sunday School, Community, also former classmates of Allison and her father, Col. R. Vandervoort, for short speeches.

Allison was asked to come to the front and an address was read by Miss Irene Coulter.

The address was signed on behalf of the community: Ivy Meale, Dora Sharpe, Irene Coulter, Ruby Lough, Harry Coulter, Allyn Finkle and Leonard Marlette.

Miss Sharpe presented Allison with a Kenwood blanket; Mrs. W. Lough, a pen, pencil and thermometer, suitably engraved.

Allison in her pleasing manner thanked the gathering for the gifts.

The National Anthem closed this part of the program. A delicious lunch was served and games resumed for another hour.

Toward the close of the evening Mr. Halph Campbell, R.C.A.F., stationed at Toronto, home on week-end leave came in. He was heartily welcomed and called upon to say a few words, which he did in his capable manner.

Newly Weds Are Honoured

Mr. and Mrs. J. McKeown,
Bonarlaw, Given Many Fine
Gifts By Their Neighbours

A pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McKeown Thursday evening when a large number of friends and neighbors gathered to spend the evening with them, having learned of their recent marriage. Mr. and Mrs. McKeown were seated in the spacious parlor and community singing took place, with Mrs. Ralph Wellman as pianist.

A short program of songs, readings, etc. An appropriate address was read by Mrs. C. L. McKeown. Then the happy couple was presented with two beautiful occasional chairs and end table. Mr. and Mrs. McKeown then thanked their friends for the lovely gifts. Mr. W. Stiles made an ideal chairman and called on several for speeches.

They all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Lunch was served and the gathering departed at 12 o'clock.

PRESENTATION

A shower of particular interest in this community was given Mr. and Mrs. John McKeown (nee Mrs. Florence Bateman) on Friday evening, Feb. 27th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. G. Melkielejohn.

The gathering was brought to order by Mr. George Thompson, acting as chairman. Following the chairman's remarks and community singing, a program was given consisting of several piano selections given by Mrs. Lorne Johnston; solo, by Jean Ray; Quartette by Gwen Fleming, Barbara Lois Mason, Mary Anne Gibson and Barbara Melkielejohn; Eleanor Thompson and Barbara and Mary Elizabeth Melkielejohn rendered a duet.

Several were called on to make speeches.

The presentation was then made consisting of several very useful gifts including 2 pure wool blankets, casserole, cake plate and butter dish in silver, money, linens, towels, dishes and cooking utensils, which all will be found useful.

The following address was read by Miss Elda Mason:—

Dear Florence and John:—
We your many friends and neighbours have gathered together here to-night to extend to you both our sincere congratulations on the occasion of your marriage.

Florence, you have always been a good helper in all community enterprises, especially do we think of your faithful service as organist in the choir. We are glad to see you embarked on the sea of matrimony, and our sincere wish is that health and happiness may always attend you.

Your husband is no stranger to us, we have always known him as a highly respected citizen and we feel that he has made a worthy choice for a life partner.

There are many kinds of showers. In this great world of ours, There are showers of tears, There are showers of tears, But the kind of showers that give most joy, Is the one we give to you and your chosen boy.

There are gifts all shapes and sizes, But what the community most prizes Is the fact that what will ever happen, Or come whatever may, You will still take a part in it, And that you will not be far away. To show this in some manner We are gathered here to-night, To wish that all your future years May always be most bright.

Signed on behalf of the community, Mrs. F. H. McKeown, Mrs. Roy Brown, Mrs. Clarence Barnum, Mrs. H. Mumby and Marjory Bateman.

Following the presentation a mock wedding was put on much to the surprise of the bride and groom. The Bride's mother, "Mr." Clayton Thompson entered the room dressed in long black gown, wore an ivory hat with floral trimming and carried large

WELL DONE BOYS!

With the elimination of the Stirling Juveniles on Saturday night from further participation in the Ontario Minor Hockey Association Play-offs by the more experienced and speedier Peterborough squad, the hockey season so far as the locals are concerned has come to a close. The local team comprised of all local boys, has provided the stiffest kind of opposition to the other teams of the league, finishing in first place and advancing to the play-offs. They eliminated Madoc in the first round and although they in turn were put on the shelf by Peterborough, they were by no means disgraced and their performance is a credit to themselves and to the village.

A hockey team is an asset to any village or town and the thanks of every fan is due the boys who went out and gave their best to keep this village to the fore, as well as to Coach E. Mundy and members of the executive who made it possible to have organized hockey in Stirling.

A FINE OPPORTUNITY

Farmers are reminded that the Ontario Government is giving away forest trees for the reforesting of suitable lands for the production of forest crops; the improvement of existing woodlands, which have become depleted; the reclamation of unproductive wastelands which are lying idle and which would support forest growth; the protection of slopes and hills which are subject to erosion and of light soils subject to blowing or drifting; the conserving of water flow by forest planting on the slopes at the headwater of streams or as shelter belts and windbreaks for the protection of agricultural crops.

It must be remembered, however, that trees cannot be supplied for decorative or ornamental planting about homes, clubs or other private properties. This is a splendid opportunity for farmers who have need of trees for any of the above purposes, and they would do well to place their order at once. The reforestation Division of the Department of Lands and Forests has twenty million trees of species recommended for the above purposes for distribution and is hopeful that these trees will be distributed throughout the province for this important work.

MAKE MORE MAPLE SYRUP

The Ontario Department of Agriculture has issued an appeal to all farmers who have the facilities to produce maple syrup, to tap every available tree this season, and thus produce the largest possible amount of syrup. In making this plea, the Department has in mind the sugar rationing which is in force now, and if a larger amount of syrup can be made it will help materially in making up the sugar shortage. Maple syrup has long been an important industry, especially in Quebec and Eastern Ontario, but with an added importance placed upon it, an even greater expansion can be expected.

While tapping is not by any means general in the district, some farmers have made a beginning and one Oak Hills farmer reports the sap running "fairly good" the end of last week. A short season is being predicted by those experienced in this work and those who have a bush to tap should have everything in readiness to avail themselves of as good a return for their labour as possible. Some idea of the scope of this industry is gleaned from the estimated market value of over forty million dollars. Although the province of Quebec produces eighty per cent. of the total production of Maple products, the largest sugar bush in Canada is near North Bay.

SAVE MILK BOTTLES

Milk and cream bottles fall into the class of articles which should be conserved. Silica is necessary for the manufacture of glassware, and Canada has to import this commodity.

Conserving glass helps to keep down the imports. And you might be surprised how much glass is wasted in Canada annually. The city of Toronto recently undertook a survey and discovered that, over the course of a month, householders were throwing unbroken milk bottles into the garbage, at the rate of 2,000 per day! Not even broken milk bottles should be thrown away. They have value as "cullet". Cullet is merely broken glass which glass manufacturers can remelt and reuse.

FRONT LINES AND FRONT LINERS

"We are all in the front line," said His Majesty the King, addressing his people early in the war. He meant that combatant service must be equalled by home service and sacrifice.

The people in Britain are "all out" in both areas of war effort and that a good percentage of Canadians is trying to measure up to these standards needs no proof. On the other hand there appears to be a large group of citizens who crowd into front lines of an entirely different kind as occasion offers.

Let a sugar shortage be foreshadowed and they rush to be in the front lines of the sugar hoarders. No subterfuge is too mean if by its use they can buy an overstock. A repair man called to do a small job in a mansion occupied by two people noticed in a dusty cupboard five 100 pound bags of sugar purchased a year ago.

The announcement of a curtailment of certain lines of canned goods, including fish, has been followed by another rush to the front line of over-buyers such as department and other stores have not experienced in months. So say the clerks.

Some motorists are planning how to get into more favored quotas so that their summer pleasure trips may not be curtailed.

"Lord, let us always get more than our share," should be the framed motto on the walls of quite a few Canadian homes. What does it matter to these people that through their selfishness brave, stricken men, women, and children in Britain may get less to eat or that even fellow-Canadians may have to go without because hoarders' shelves are full?

Does it mean nothing to them that weekly and oftener the crews of cargo-boats and tankers carrying necessities to Canada are drowned in the Atlantic?

To paraphrase Hood's lines, "It is not sugar and gasoline but human creatures' lives" we are using.

"Where there is no vision the people perish," wrote a wise man. If all Canadians had the same short vision as the hoarders the best thing that could happen us would be to perish; we wouldn't be worth surviving, we wouldn't be worthy of the sacrifices made in the past to give us what we enjoy to-day—Toronto Telegram.

The boy who waits for ripe fruit to drop into his mouth will probably wait a long time. The business man that waits for trade to come without attempting to draw it by advertising can also expect to do much waiting.

Twenty-five years ago a man's word was unquestioned, particularly regarding the payment of an account. Today there are too many men whose word is unreliable and their notes and cheques are of the "bouncing" variety.

The other fellow's job always looks more attractive. It is a strange fact that two persons, earning about the same wage, generally would exchange jobs. We believe if such an exchange were made both parties ultimately would regret it.

The rationing of gasoline and the banning of the sale of automobile tires are causing no little concern to delivery and trucking firms in the larger cities. Increasing activity of the horse market is an indication that "Old Dobbin" will again be called on for duty in these services. Reports from adjacent centres are that there is a growing demand for horses and farmers having any of these animals for sale are assured of a good price.

— V —

While the automobile is undergoing eclipse the bicycle is shining brightly. The British have never lost faith in its utility, but in Canada and the States it is used mostly for sport by boys and girls. As 40 lbs. of steel in a bicycle will replace often a car using 3,000 lbs., the U.S. manufacturers have been allotted sufficient steel and rubber for 1,000,000 bicycles on condition that only two models (male and female) are made, using 30 pounds of steel without gadgets.

With Spring just around the corner the farm labour situation in Canada assumes critical proportions. No farmer can compete with factories and the attraction of the armed forces when there is no surplus of workers. Men have left the farms at an alarming rate and the farmers cannot lure them back. With Britain calling for increased supplies of food, especially dairy products, this is not a happy condition of affairs. It seems that if this pressing problem is to be solved the government will have to adopt some system whereby workers can be directed to jobs where they are desperately needed.

In all our talk about production and resources, let us not forget for one minute that this is war, and war is killing, and war is won by beating the enemy's troops in the field. Let us not beguile ourselves with subconscious lullabies sung by contemplation of our great resources. Our task is not only to produce weapons. It is to use them. It is to seek out the enemy and destroy him.—Guelph Mercury.

What Others Say

Setting a poor Example

There's an excuse for all of us being a bit dilatory about paying our radio license now. A radio announcer over CBO paid a fine last week for failing to have a license for his own Radio.—Carleton Place Canadian.

A GOOD SUGGESTION

If the government wishes to save paper, orders might be given to discontinue publication of the brochures distributed by the Canadian Broadcasting Company. These little books printed in two colours, are beautifully done on supercalendered stock. They are nothing but propaganda and are read by few people.—Tweed News.

We've Heard This Before

On a government envelope received from Ottawa the other day were these words, "Don't waste words—don't waste paper." If this advice were followed by the publicity staffs of the various Federal Government departments, waste paper baskets in newspaper offices would not be filled to overflowing as they have been almost since the war started.—Barrie Examiner.

Government Getting Economical

Because it will cost $650,000 to get voters' list printed for the plebiscite the government has decided upon enactor's lists, three or four copies, and a piece of work not particularly noted for either neatness nor correctness.

However, while the amount of $650,000 is mere chicken feed to the government, which is spending money, approximately three and one-half billion dollars for the next fiscal year, yet it is pleasing to see that the idea of being economical has struck them at last, even if it is not in the right place.—Pembroke Standard-Observer.

LET'S PLAY POST OFFICE

When tires and gas become so scarce that we have to return to the horse-and-buggy days we probably will return to the indoor amusements of that era, also, and the present generation is due for some present unique thrills because in yesteryear they had some fancy ways of putting in the time at parties. There was a premium on originality in those days and the boy or girl who could think up new stunts was the life of the party. But they had the old stand-bys like 'post office', 'spin the bottle', 'wink', 'forfeits', 'charades' and so on. Those names were good enough to liven any party and were mighty effective in getting a crowd of strangers to mix. (They use other things to mix 'em now.) Pastimes of the present era follow an unimaginative pattern for it doesn't take much inventiveness to execute some maneuvers to juke-box melodies. It will not only do the majority of people a lot of good to have to return to walking but it might be a big help if they will spend their leisure time as they used to do back in the days of moustache cups and horsehair sofas.—Amherstburg Echo.

DON'T WAIT

When I quit this mortal shore, and mope around the earth no more, don't weep, don't sigh, don't sob; I may have struck a better job. Don't go and buy a large bouquet for which you'll find it hard to pay; don't mope around and feel all blue; I may be better off than you. Don't tell the folks I was a saint or any old thing that I ain't; if you have jam like that to spread, please hand it out before I'm dead. If you have roses, bless my soul, just pin one in my button-hole while I'm alive and well today. Don't wait until I'm gone away.—Winconsin Forward.

GOVERNMENT GIVES ITS BLESSING

That Canada's merchants and manufacturers should advertise as usual is clearly the desire of the Dominion government.

This is indicated in a statement issued by Revenue Minister Gibson which states that advertisers who spend the normal amounts on advertising need have no fear that the federal income tax department will rule out such expenses from tax exemptions.

The only exception is when advertising is "of unreasonable, excess or unusual type to which the advertiser never had recourse before" and which the department has reason to suspect was made largely to save taxes.

In addition any advertising done in support of the Victory Loan will be recognized as an expense for income tax purposes to the extent of ten per cent. beyond the average advertising of the taxpayer between 1936 and 1939.

It is advertising that makes the wheels of industry rotate and keeps

"PARLIAMENT HILL"

By G. S. WHITE, M. P.
Hastings-Peterborough

OTTAWA, the Capital of Canada, was selected by Queen Victoria to be the Capital of Canada when Confederation was arranged. Formerly it was called BY TOWN after Colonel By, a military figure in days of old.

The focal point of life in Ottawa is of course Parliament Hill, where, as the Centre Block of a group of buildings the Houses of Parliament occupy first place. To the east of it is situated the so-called "East Block." In that building is housed the Executive Chamber where the Ministry meet to determine your fate and mine as ordinary citizens. In the same building is housed the Department of Finance, also the External Affairs Department. There too, close by the Executive Chamber, are the offices of His Excellency, the Governor-General.

On the west side of the Centre Block is situated the West Block. In there you will find several Departments—the Secretary of State, Transport, Tourist Bureau, Immigration, Trade and Commerce, including the Statistical Branch and other Departments.

Nature was good and man was wise, and, through that combination, the Parliament Building occupy an ideal site, being built on a bend on the shore of the Ottawa River, upon a high bluff. . . . I sometimes think that the "bluff" carries more inference than a mere geographical description of the land upon which the buildings are erected—but for the present we will let that thought pass.

The original Parliament Building (or Centre Block) was erected soon after Confederation, then followed "The East" and "The West" Blocks.

As time went on, and the demands of a growing nation had to be attended to, other buildings followed until today one can find great and beautiful buildings housing offices of the Government scattered all over the City. There is a Town Planning Scheme already worked out so that as the years pass and other buildings are required, all of them shall be built in such a way as to conform ultimately to a well-preconceived arrangement.

As part of that plan several buildings have already been erected—notably the so-called "Confederation", "Justice" and "The New Supreme Court" buildings.

The Confederation Building houses principally the Departments of Agriculture and Labour, also The Auditor General's Office. This building is a vast structure, in fact, it is so large it is just a little terrifying. By that I mean if one walks around it and sees the almost countless number of windows reaching away up into the sky—knowing that behind each window is an office housing goodness knows how many officials and clerks not to mention the endless number of interior offices—the on-looker would be impressed as to the "Why" of the cost of Government in the discharge of its duties over vast territory.

Alongside the Confederation Building, and equally as large, is situated the Justice Building. Therein is housed the Department of Justice, and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Headquarters. "Justice", depicted as a blindfolded woman holding a scale, is often called blind. Blind, she may be, but she lives in a splendid place.

Close by the Justice Building is located the New Supreme Court Building, thoroughly modern and recently completed, it is not yet open to the public but is being used to house various War Boards, etc. Its sublime dignity, expensive finish, and costly construction, is just a little awe inspiring.

To-day is gloriously fine and bright here on Parliament Hill. This morning as I came toward the Buildings, the majestic splendour of the Peace Tower stood out as a symbol of the great potential wealth of this Canada of ours. Over its magnificent entrance, inscribed on stone are the eternal words:—
"The wholesome sea is at her gates—
Her gates both East and West."
While many hundred feet from the ground on a staff atop The Tower, flying gloriously in a stiff breeze, is that symbol of Democracy, Liberty, and Freedom—the Union Jack—with the sun from the East at my back lighting in brilliance the ancient crosses of Saint George, Saint Andrew and Saint Patrick on the flag that has for so many centuries been the pride of those over whom it flies and the terror and distress of those rash enough to question its right to fly. Would that the majesty, security and comfort of that Symbol could be transmitted in ever greater degree to our citizens, individually and collectively, and secure for them a better and more abundant life! Toward that end we all must strive.

the stores in profitable business. That this fact should be recognized by the government is encouraging to advertisers in these days when so many restrictions are being placed on merchandising.

Midland Free Press Herald.

THE WRONG WORD

Typographical errors are the curse of every printing office. They will slip past the proof-reader in spite of everything and then when they appear in the paper, they look so conspicuous that everybody wonders why they weren't seen.

While we travelled for six weeks with a group of newspaper editors, we heard of many actual instances, some of them unbelievably absurd. Some were due to innocent slips, but mostly the linotype machine is to blame. It shows an almost human ingenuity when it comes to taking one word and changing it into another.

The classic story is that of the veteran who ran for political office. The local newspaper editor referred to him as the "battle scarred veteran." When it came out in print, it was "bottle scarred" veteran. The editor wrote an apology the next week. As it appeared, he said that he never intended to say "bottle scarred," what he meant was "battle scarred."

Now that one always seemed to us to be too perfect to be true. Yet it seems that it might have happened. A phrase in the Owen Sound Star Times recently proves it.

You know, perhaps, that a number of Polish troops are training in Owen Sound. The editor was paying them a tribute and referred to them as "fighting fools in uniform." At least, we presume that is how he referred to our allies. But as it appeared, it was "frightened fools in uniform."

Incidentally, a weekly, paper, not many miles from Owen Sound, recently had a review of a book by a lady novelist. It told of the things to be found in her recent "navel." It wasn't a story of a nudist colony either.

These things are pointed out humbly. We all do it. Probably some such glaring error will be found on this very page.—Fergus News-Record.

Probable Nazi Attack Towards Middle East

By General Sewell

Since November, when the Nazis made their great bid for the capture of Moscow, their efforts on the Russian front have been to hold their positions, or at least to check the Russian counter-offensive and, except in the last few weeks, it is doubtful if any new war equipment has been sent to that front. The divisions which have had to bear the brunt of the Russians counter-offensive have suffered severe casualties both in battle and from the cold, but many other divisions were sent back to Poland and Central Europe. This shifting of troops, which began in October, has continued throughout the winter, and they should by now be rested, re-trained and re-equipped—ready to go into action again. Much German material has been abandoned in the Russian snows, but it is not irreplaceable, and the factories of Germany and the occupied countries have been working through the winter making new and perhaps even better tanks, guns and airplanes.

When one considers the whole aspect of events on the European front, the obvious deduction is that Hitler must have a large force in reserve. This force must also be strong in airplanes, for the Luftwaffe has not operated in any number on the northeastern front since winter began; only in the Mediterranean and in Libya have they shown in strength. Also the preparation of airfields and the massing of Nazi aircraft is reported from Bulgaria.

The spring offensive will not be delayed a day longer than is dictated by local climatic conditions. It has already started in Libya, and events there in the last two months go to prove that the British attack really forestalled a planned Axis offensive, which has now had to take the form of a counterattack to regain lost ground. The Nazi reinforcements which have crossed the Mediterranean by sea and air to join the Afrika Korps represent only a small portion of Hitler's available reserves. Difficulties of supply will limit the number of divisions which can be operated on this front in advance of the long supply line from Tripoli.

The threat to Egypt is likely to be only a part of the scheme for the 1942 offensive, which will be on a grand scale. Time is against Hitler, and he can not wait for England and America to build up their strength and to equip Russia's armies. Observers are almost unanimous in predicting that the direction of the drive will be to the East, and that its main objective will be to cut Russia's supply line between the Persian Gulf and the Caspian Sea. Three lines of approach toward this objective are possible. Two of them have already been attempted and no doubt will be tried again, probably in conjunction with the third.

The first is from the Ukraine, north of the Black Sea to the Caucasus. This would necessitate the reconquest of the eastern Ukraine and Rostov, where the Russians have attacked with considerable success since early last December. German armies have been bolstered on this front and have contested every foot of Russian gains on the shores of the Black Sea. A new offensive across the old battle fields and over the graves of their comrades will be a grim prelude to the spring offensive for the Nazi soldiers. Troops marching to certain victory would hardly be affected by such a thing, but when success is in doubt, the result will be depressing for spirit and morale.

The second line of approach is through Egypt to Iraq and Iran, and success in this direction can only be achieved by the defeat of the British Army of the Nile, and the British forces in the Middle East.

The third line of approach is from Bulgaria through Turkey to the Caucasus, or to Iraq and Iran. Hitler would prefer to coerce the Turks into allowing the passage of his armies, but failing their consent, he will not hesitate to violate the neutrality of Turkey. It is said that a considerable fleet of troop-carrying planes has been built in Germany, and that air divisions complete with tanks and artillery are training. Already at least one of these divisions is said to have flown across the Mediterranean to Libya. Formations of this sort could be used against Turkey and Syria from the airfields of Bulgaria and the Dodecanese islands and their operation, in conjunction with ground attack, might prove effective.

It is reasonable to suppose that the Nazi High Command regards the Ukraine and Libyan campaign as two sectors of the same front, and that they have planned to include Turkey, blonde and petit, is one of the chief reasons why twenty hundred young armen file into the big concert hall at Exhibition Park every week to attend the CBC broadcast, at Manning Depot. The programme features the music of Russ Gerow's orchestra, the comedy sketches of Woodhouse and Hawkins and songs by Francis. The show will be heard next, coast to coast, Friday, March 27th, at 8.00 p.m. EDT.

2,000 MEN AND A GIRL

Songstress Frances Gramer,

If necessary, in the scheme for their spring offensive. Weather conditions and the state of the terrain in European Turkey preclude any large scale military operation until late March or early April, and further north in the Ukraine troop movements will be difficult until April or May. It is only in North Africa that the weather is suitable for winter campaigning. By May it will be getting hot in Libya and in June the dry heat will be intense and will handicap offensive operations on long lines of communication through waterless desert.

Though the main object of the Nazis is likely to be to cut the supply line to Russia, any success which they may have in the Middle East will bring them nearer to the great oil fields of Iraq and Iran, and Germany's pressing need for oil is by itself sufficient reason for the Nazis to try to conquer the Middle East.

HE SPECIALIZES IN GETTING NEW RECRUITS FOR THE ACTIVE ARMY

Lt. Bdr. T. H. Mountenay, of Trenton, Ontario, a member of the Royal Canadian Artillery undergoing training at Petawawa Military Camp, is so keen to serve his country that he has undertaken to do special war work during his off-hours. But Lt. Bdr. Mountenay's voluntary effort is of a most unusual kind—he specializes in supplying recruits for the Canadian Army.

One of a family of thirteen, Mountenay has already persuaded no less than four young men to join His Majesty's forces. Three of the recruits are his own brothers.

And here is how Mountenay bid to fame began. Early this year he visited the recruiting office in Pembroke with a friend. "Sign him on," he said. Just like that.

A couple of weeks ago Mountenay again appeared at the recruiting office, this time with two brothers, and before you could shake a leg they became gunners in the same unit. So keen is Bdr. Mountenay's interest in his work, in fact, that he dug into his own pocket to pay his brother's railway fare from Trenton just to make sure they would become members of the same artillery unit.

The recruiting officer at Pembroke was nearly "floored" on February 23 when Mountenay again appeared with still another brother. When he had been duly signed on, this army's new super-salesman just about non-plussed the recruiting officer when he said "I am not through yet. I still have another brother to bring along and he'll be here soon."

To prove that the army really has a heart and recognizes a job well done, Lt. Bdr. Mountenay is going to get extra leave from his unit. And if the Pembroke recruiting officer's guess is right, Mountenay will probably go back to Trenton and talk a few more of his friends into joining His Majesty's forces.

Complacency Can Lose The War Says English Novelist

The following is the text of an address given by Eric Knight, novelist, over the C.B.C. last night and is published by request of a number of our readers.

"There is only one thing worth speaking over the radio in any land at any time—and that is truth. But, truth is not a positive thing—it is not absolute. Each man brings his own truth, colored by his own life, his own prejudices, his own pride, his own loves and hates. Tonight, I try to bring you my truth—that you should like it or not like it—is a secondary matter. Only believe it is a truth as I see it.

"I speak, of course, about the war. I have just come over from England—I am just freshly peeled off an Atlantic convoy. I suppose, then, I should tell you something about England, about the people of London, how they carry on; but I think, perhaps, you are tired of hearing of the fortitude, the courage, the determination of the men and women and children of Britain who have stood up under the unkind and bloody rains from the heavens. You have heard it—it is old hat.

Let me tell you how you, the people of Canada—this great, rich land of Canada itself looks to us. I am not a Canadian. The only right I have to speak plainly to you is because I once came here and put on your uniform and served beside your own men and saw them die in another war.

And why not let's start talking plainly. One of the troubles of our democratic front in this war is that we are not one unit. We are several countries—and we have to be "diplomatic." We have to be careful what we say for fear of offending each other. Well, here take offence at what I say if you will.

"Not Down to Business Yet"

But the plain truth about this war is that democracy has not yet got down to the business of war. We all believe somehow, miraculously, that the horrors of war, by some special law of Divine Providence can't touch us. The other fellow, yes—but not us. And each one goes on believing that, until the enemy, ten miles away, his tanks cutting through soldiers armed only with rifles; his planes bombing civilians who have no air raid shelters. And so went France, Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Norway, Greece, Crete, Hong Kong, Singapore, Pearl Harbor each one knowing intellectually that war was near; but each one somehow convinced spiritually that the blood and slaughter and screaming steel could happen somewhere else—but not here.

We must learn to understand that if we are a united front, when it happens to one of us, it happens to us all. Remember the line of John Donne, from which Ernest Hemingway took the title of his well-known book:

"Do not seek to know for whom the Bell tolls—it tolls for thee."

"Don't Be deluded"

Remember that when a bomb falls and crushes the life from a British child—that child is your own small son or daughter who may be sleeping upstairs now. When a trapped soldier dies in a Malayan swamp—that is your own grown-up son. When a Polish civilian, treated like a slave, emaciated by hunger, falls finally into a mass grave—that is you—you who listen now in your fine, comfortable house with your good luscious Canadian dinner under your belt.

Do not be confused by this war, Canada. Do not be deluded by goose-headed thinking! When the Nazi chiefs howl of Lebensraum, do you think they are talking of Britain? No—there's no living room in Britain—that tiny island now over-crowded by its 44,000,000 people! When the paranoiacs of Berlin scream about colonies, do you think they are talking about some strip of banana land, or some unholy spot in a malaria-ridden jungle? Let us not be idiotic. When the thief smashes a plate glass window in the centre.

Says Axis Wants Canada

Germany and Japan don't want swamps and jungles. They want you—great rich sprawling Canada, rich with her endless wheat-bearing acres where a Herenvolk could lord it over a slave population; Canada with its great and untold wealth of unexploited raw materials. Those are the goals of Nazi war, Canada, Brazil, Russia, the United States—vast lands that lie amid untold resources, the lands with living room for the "super-race" that will allow you to become a new sort of white native to carry out their orders.

It is true. Do not delude yourself. When you decide to rob the chicken-roost of a settled order would you steal sick chickens? Ask yourself that. No, if you're going to run the risk of being a criminal you might as well steal the plumpest pullets and the fattest geese.

Do not think, because you are used to these things, you are not rich to the point of luxury here. You are rich with a way of living that is luxury—luxury while the war goes on. How shall I make you understand what your riches are—each one of you, sitting at home now. Perhaps I can do it through small things. Listen to me now.

Cites Canada's Luxury

Go to your window and lift your blind. That is richness; for it is an action no man in Britain dare perform tonight. Now, look out of your window—and you see—lights. You are seeing what the richest Croesus in all Britain could not buy tonight. Tomorrow morning at breakfast, squeeze yourself an orange. You are doing what no grown-up in Britain will do today—for he has agreed that every orange in the land shall be reserved solely for the green ration books of children only.

For your child, cut a banana into a bowl of cereal. When you do it, say that your cutting up what no mother in Britain could give to her child—she couldn't buy that banana, not for a thousand dollars—for there are no bananas. Not one—not if a thousand doctors declared that child's life would end if it were not fed bananas. Sit at a table, and pour out a pint of milk and drink it. Then say to yourself that you've consumed your milk for three days. Put four pats of butter on your hot cakes. Then say that you can't have any more butter for seven days—your total week's ration of butter is finished at one gulp. Cigarettes a Luxury

You men, as you go to work tomorrow; stop in a store and buy a packet of cigarettes. Know that you might have walked in ten tobaccoists in London before you got one. When your packet is empty; throw it in the gutter. Think as you do it that if you were in London you would put it in your pocket, take it back to the shop so that it could be used again to pack ten more cigarettes in.

Walk into a shop. Buy yourself a suit of clothes—two suits—three. Buy warm underclothes and woolen sweaters for your children. Understand that in London you could not have bought them without counting your few ration tickets for the year—think that shoes and clothes and gloves and hats and shirts and even handkerchiefs are rationed. You housewives—go shopping in the morning. Walk into any shop you wish. And think that in Britain you could only go into the one where you are registered.

Buy a can of salmon. Then say to yourself that you have used up your points on canned goods for the next two weeks. You can't have any more tomorrow or tomorrow. Tell the grocery-man to wrap your bundles! As you do so, think that you are getting what wealth could not buy in England, for to save paper you'd have to carry home every article exactly as it is—unless you took a piece of wrapping paper to the store with you to use again and again.

Britain's Meat Ration

Tomorrow, when you go to the butcher and ask him to show you 20 cents' worth of meat. No more—no less, 20 cents exactly. Look at that piece of meat. Now imagine yourself going home to your husband and saying: "This is all you can have." That's his complete ration—not just for one meal. Not for one whole day. It is his complete ration for one, entire week—and if he eats it all in one meal—he's eaten his week's supply at one gulp.

Get into your car, and say you will drive out into the country. Then stop and say: "No—there is no petrol—it is rationed and none goes for pleasure." Say you are tired and want to go to bed. And then say: "No, I cannot sleep, for tonight is my duty night when, by law, I must sit on the roof until dawn, doing my turn at fire-watching."

What Wealth Is

Do you understand? Do you see what wealth is? Do you not see that wealth is not money—but a way of living? Do you understand that every ordinary, small gesture of life that you accept here as routine, has died in other parts of the world—that when you say: "Give me two fried eggs—or even one fried egg"—you are doing something that people in other lands dream about, but can't do.

Why, in Canada, you give away packets of matches. Give them away. Do you know you could walk into twenty shops in Britain today before being able to buy one box. Ah, but you say, you'll be smart. You'll buy a lighter—a cigarette lighter. Yes, you'll walk into one hundred shops and not be able to buy one of these even then—They're gone.

Do you understand war a bit better now? Do you understand what wealth is—wealth is a way of life. And I tell you these things not to make you feel sorry for the British—we do not want sympathy. We want to win this war. We shall not win it until we are all fighting it.

Saw Canadian Soldiers

Not so long ago I stood in a training depot in England where your Canadian boys are working in three eight-hour shifts a day at certain technical training phases—training like a factory on a clock-around shift. We talked about food, I saw the boys eating. Later as a guest I sat at the officers' mess. I wish I'd eaten with the men. They all had exactly the same food—but the men's food was better cooked. The officers said: Yes, the men have to have good cooks. We have to get along with any kind we can.

Later I talked with the general. I said: "I'll be in Canada soon. Do you want me to say anything to the people there?"

Want Canadian Tanks

He thought a while. Then he said: "Tell 'em Sansom's Rough Riders want to get action. Tell 'em our hearts and our spirits are high. Say we are in good heart. Say we want to get out and meet the Hun on equal terms. Tell 'em we've got tanks—but tell 'em we want more Canadian tanks." I said: "Why Canadian tanks?" He said: "Why, damn it, because we're Canadian soldiers—and we want Canadian things. Yes, tell 'em to send us Canadian tanks—but tell 'em we're all right and in good heart."

Those are your own boys, people of Canada. They will not get tanks and guns and planes quick enough unless you feel, each one of you, that it is your personal job to see that they get them. You will not feel it is your personal job if you are convinced that the war is something far across the sea that is never coming to your doorstep.

Victory Not Matter of Course

I tell you it can come to your doorstep. I tell you it is at your doorstep. So many people these days talk of rebuilding our world after we win this war. They seem to take it as a blithe matter of course that we shall win this war. Of course for the sake of what is called morale, we should all get up and tell you that we are bound to win it. We are not bound to win it. The thing to get into our heads is that we can lose this war. By the Lord Harry, we can lose it as

THE WEEKLY NEWS

BY MURDIE McDONALD

Canada's Second Victory Loan Campaign has come to an end. While this was being written, the complete totals had not reached Ottawa, but it seemed certain that the grand total will be more than $950,000,000, a staggering sum subscribed by at least 1,250,000 men and women of Canada.

With such an achievement as this on record, who will dare say that Canadians are not united in our war effort? We may differ on questions of policy, we may grumble a little bit about the manner in which some part of the war effort is being carried out, but truly we may derive a great measure of satisfaction from the proof of a united people as exemplified by the success of the Second Victory Loan.

At a time when a number of municipalities are considering whether they should continue the holding of Fall Fairs, the question of the advisability of cancelling the Canadian National exhibition for the duration of the war has again been trotted out. The success of the 1941 fair should be a sufficient answer to the critics who would draw the curtain on Canada's great show-window. There is not the slightest doubt that the large crowds that congregated at Exhibition Park last year had a steady influence that made for optimism and good morale. The military features alone were of a nature to destroy complacency and to impress upon even the least receptive mind that Canada was at war and girding itself for an all-out effort. There was too the international side - for thousands of American visitors gained an insight on our point of view and as a result will be better able to work with Canada in the great cooperative struggle in which both nations are now engaged. By all means let the Canadian National Exhibition carry on. For that matter too the holding of Fall Fairs constitute an asset. They form a rallying centre for the people and should be continued wherever possible.

As the war proceeds the people of Ontario will have to reconcile themselves to the hard fact they will be obliged to do without a good many things the obtaining of which they regarded a right. In the end as they became used to change they will not find themselves so badly off. In emergencies people are usually resourceful, and if certain canned goods are removed from the list, it can be truthfully said that the cooking of baked beans and similar articles has not become a lost art among the housewives of the province.

There is one product that is very likely to be a scarce article—that is processed cheese. The call has gone out that more and more cheese must find its way to the core pressed citizens of Great Britain. As has been pointed out by expert observers in England, the British are not actually in want but are not getting as much as they need. In the matter of cheese the Ottawa Government has issued an order prohibiting the manufacture of process cheese in any establishment after March 31st unless under license from the Dairy Products Board. This means a direct move to bring all producers under control of the Board for export purposes and would indicate there will be little cheese left over for domestic consumption.

Canada and particularly Ontario is aroused in respect to obstacles to the tourist trade this year. It is held that the traffic still remains one of the largest and most readily assessable means of additional foreign exchange. It is estimated that in 1940 the net results of such expenditures was a balance in Canada's favor of $85,000,000 and that in 1941 the balance was in excess of $100,000,000. It is claimed that 500,000 hunters and fishermen brought $20,000,000 of business into Ontario alone, and it is feared any drastic curtailment in the use of gasoline might deal a deadly blow to the traffic.

Ontario is shortly to be called upon to send social workers to the aid of hard pressed people of Britain. The war situation has so changed family and community life in the Old Land that social workers have been called upon to an extra degree. Three provincial experts, Doctor S. K. Jaffray, Dr. W. E. Blatz, Dr. C. N. Hincks, General-Director of the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene, have just returned from England where they collaborated on plans with the British Ministries of Health and Labour to take care of the situation. It is with a brick, he doesn't take a dollar watch. He grab the diamond has been decided to send 15 Canadian social workers to Britain immediately to be placed in reception centres for the children evacuated from London and other danger centres. Following this a group of nursery school teachers will be sent from this province to train British girls to maintain the war-time nurseries which are to be set up by the thousands all over Britain to relieve the labour shortage by caring for the children so that the mothers can work in the war industry.

TWEED CONSTABLE CATCHES PAIR SEEN BY FARMER—CHARGED WITH THEFT OF CAR IN BELLEVILLE

Tracking footprints in a light snow that fell in this district early Sunday morning, Chief Constable C. Hayes of Tweed, captured two young men who are charged with the theft of an automobile from Belleville, near Kalamazoo, on No. 7 Highway.

The accused, Carl Covert, 20, of Trenton, and Marcel Daniel Shea, of Hurst, Ontario, are being held in the Belleville jail on charges of theft of an automobile owned by Thomas Hutchinson, Belleville.

MINIATURE TORCH INVENTED BY TWEED MAN

A miniature welding torch which will cut through steel ranging from one-sixteenth of an inch to one and one-quarter inches, in any desired form, is the invention of Mr. Francis L. Trudeau, local machinist. The small model was completely finished in Mr. Trudeau's machine shop here. Only twelve inches in length, it can easily be dismantled and carried in the pocket. The oxy-acetylene comes through two small rubber tubes and the same tip, which has extremely small holes, does the cutting as well as the welding. Small adjustable valves govern the flow of material from the cylinder bearing the acetylene. No drilling is necessary and the torch heats only the extent of the cut, which is one-sixteenth of an inch wide. The invention, completely manufactured from brass, weighs only a pound and a half. Mr. Trudeau states that the most accurate parts were manufactured on a watchmaker's lathe. It has an advantage over the larger torches since a strip 1-4 of an inch wide is cut. In the case of Mr. Trudeau's latest model, the heat is almost totally confined to the immediate section of steel coming in contact with the flame. He has worked on the invention for some months but it was only recently that it was tested by experts and declared to be particularly adaptable for work on small sections of steel. He plans to take the model to Ottawa where it will be placed in the hands of the research officials of the Federal Government, after which it is hoped, if approved, to place the torch in production for general use by welders, particularly those engaged in war work. Mr. Trudeau has been employed for some time by The Dominion Light-House plant at Prescott which is operating under the Department of Transport.—Tweed News.

"IT ALL DEPENDS ON ME!"

A mighty struggle rocks the world,
In air, on land and sea;
Where free men toil and sweat and bleed,
Their battle-cry must be:
"It all depends on me!"

Above the din of tools and wheels
In shop and factory,
Around the clock in seven-day week
We hear one chorus, free:
"It all depends on me!"

Each fireside is a battle-front;
The price of Liberty
Is bravely shared by those at home:
Their song shall also be:
"It all depends on me!"

A mighty power girds the world;
In unity we see
A living "love for God and an"—
"Twill save Democracy!
"It all depends on me!"

"It all depends on me!" Dear God,
Thou art my strength. On Thee
Let me depend—my fortress strong!
The measure of my trust makes free:
That all depends on me!

THREE EX-WARDEES DIED DURING 1941

Three ex-Warriors of the County of Hastings died during 1941, according to County statistics. These include the late W.S. Martin, Stirling, who was Warden of the County in 1895; William Rogers, Rawdon, 1909, and George A. Bailey, Rawdon, who headed the County in 1929.

GUESS WHAT?

At the fair in Landsdowne last fall, a collector of curios and antiques, was showing a collection which excited considerable interest. Among other antiques was a piece of woman's wearing apparel hung up by its suspenders, looking very much like a cage. When a lady spectator asked what that cage was for, the exhibitor told her that it was what women used to keep calves in long ago. Her look of puzzled incredulity quickly changed to one of delightful amusement when informed the article was a hoop skirt.

COMPLACENCY CAN LOSE WAR SAYS NOVELIST

long as we think it is something that can touch other people—but not us. Many other lands thought that—until the enemy planes were overhead and his tanks 10 miles down the road—and then it is too late.

It can be too late for us. We have to stop thinking of what we can do in 1943 or some date dreamily far over the horizon of time—and understand that it is what we do this month of March in 1942. It can be too late if we go on supposing that because the common man and woman and children of Britain have stood up to blitz and fire and bomb—they will go on standing up for a couple more years until we get ready to really fight the war. Is it bad for morale to say that? I think not. Is it bad for morale to say what any soldier of the last war knows—that for 60,000 killed you always have an even greater number maimed, with arms, with legs, with arms, with faces torn away! I think not!

Good to Know Horrors

I think it will be good for morale if you know these things—and know that they can happen here too if Britain falls. For then you will understand that this is your war—yours just as surely as if Japanese tanks and battalions of slant-eyed men were 10 miles down the road from where you live, and Nazi squadrons of bombers were right overhead now. And that is the only way to think of this war. I say this, not spurning nor forgetting what Canada has already done. Only one who has seen the splendid and generous work of the Canadian Red Cross in Britain, could say thank you as fervently as I do. Only one who has seen your men training and working in the armies, could properly recognize the gift of the men you have sent. Surely one who has lived under the protecting wings of planes flown by your own Canadian lads—who go up to face any enemy—could never fail to recognize their courage and their determination. For all that Canada has given—her wealth, her manhood, her kindness—I say thank you.

Do Something for Yourself
If I attack complacency on this continent, I am not forgetting what has been done by our citizens whose eyes will turn to far horizons. But I am not getting anything more for Britain. I am asking you to do something for yourself.

I am asking you to understand a new and bloody kind of world conquest that threatens the free life of a Canadian and an American. Just as surely as it does the free life of a Briton. See this great land of Canada, not through your own eyes. Try to see it as other, and more greedy, eyes see it.

Think of your wealth in Canada. Think of the wealth of your way of living—the only true wealth of this world. If you cannot understand that you live in splendid wealth, try to understand that to other peoples the way of life—looks like lavish and luxurious splendor.

Understand that when the Nazis talk of Lebensraum—they mean you! Understand that by conquest they do not mean a treaty—but a gigantic, now, savage world-policy which sees your splendid land as a place where they, the herrenvolk, reap the riches, and you, the freeborn Canadian, and a subject, slave race to work, or to be starved and shot—as the Poles are being starved and shot.

Understand that if we are truly united, a bomb in London is a bomb on every city in Canada. If the enemy were, at this moment, 20 miles down the road, you would not live blissfully as you do now.

Way to Fight is Fight

The way to fight this war is to fight it, here, as if any moment the enemy tanks were just 10 miles away down your road.

If you work and toil in this war in that spirit, then, and then only shall

If every one of Canada's new army of wage-earners saves more, the country's effort toward winning the war will be greatly helped.

Every dollar you save means more labour and materials freed for making the war goods so urgently needed.

These savings, lent to the country in the purchase of War Savings Certificates or Victory Loan Bonds—lent to intensify Canada's war effort—will bring victory—and peace—nearer.

To Save is Practical Patriotism

THE CHARTERED BANKS OF CANADA

we defeat this enemy. We shall defeat him if everyone in Canada truly believes that this, this land of yours, is the colonies the Nazi madmen are talking about—not a greasy spot in a jungle.

Only if you understand that Canada, no less than Greece or Norway or Poland or Czechoslovakia, can be enslaved; shall we work and fight hard enough in this war to win it and ensure that she shall be free.

Only if you understand that your way of life here is so rich and full as to excite the envy of the ordinary citizen of Europe, will you fight hard enough to see that this war is won, and Canada can go onward toward an even fuller life, with a continuance of her growing social freedoms, her open spirit of thought, her flowering education, and her even greater economic strength.

I pray with all my heart that these things shall come true. I pray with all my heart that the people of Canada will have the clearness of vision and the firm resolve to make them come true. Only if you act in time, can they come true.

GEORGE WALLACE

George Wallace, 97, one of the pioneers of Seymour Township, was buried in Campbellford on Friday afternoon. He came to Canada to settle in the Burnbrae district with his parents as a boy eight years old and after attending rural school for several years served his apprenticeship as a blacksmith at Menie, later operating his own business on the Burnbrae Road. In 1897 he married Rose Gardner, and five years later gave up his trade to return to the farm. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace farmed in the Township of Seymour for 35 years before they retired to Campbellford in 1919. Since that time and up to a year ago he occupied himself with a small garden and other activities which his age and good health permitted.

Mr. Wallace died at his home in Campbellford following an illness of a month's duration. Predeceased by his wife seven years ago he is survived by three sons, George, of Seymour Township and William of Toronto, and four daughters, Mrs. Ellen Whitton, of Seymour, Mrs. Charles Dunham, Wellman's Corners, Mrs. Nell Thirld, Seymour and Mrs. David Melchior, Seymour.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Donald McKay, of Burnbrae Presbyterian Church, and interment was at Burnbrae Cemetery.

The pallbearers were six nephews, John H. Wallace and John S. Wallace, of Campbellford, David Wallace, of Menie, Sam Wallace and Robert Wallace, Wellman's Corners, and Earl Wallace, of Stirling. Two grandsons, Thomas and Bert Wallace, were the flower-bearers.

FATHER OF SPRINGBROOK RESIDENT PASSES

Another link with the early pioneer days of Marmora township is removed with the passing of John Lough, in the early hour of Saturday. Mr. Lough, who had been confined to his bed for a little over five years, became worse about a week ago, so that his end was not unexpected.

The late Mr. Lough spent the whole of his long life of eighty-three years in Marmora township. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Lough, who came to this country from Ireland to be numbered among the earliest settlers in Marmora township. As a farmer, he took a great pride in his stock, and always kept good horses. He was of a quiet and friendly nature, and was ever ready to play the part of a good neighbor. He was married to Isabelle Ann Bailey, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Bailey, who were also pioneer settlers in the same section of the township.

An Anglican in religion, he attended St. Paul's Church, Marmora, until the erection of Holy Trinity Church. He was a staunch Conservative. Fraternally he was a member of Nickle L.O.L. 285. Besides his widow, he is survived by five children; Charles of Springbrook, Allan of Winnipeg, Thomas of Marmora township, Mrs. Thomas Moffatt (Margaret) of Marmora township, and Mrs. Lewis Phillips (Mary) of Marmora.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon under auspices of Nickle L.O.L. 285. A large congregation of relatives and sympathizing friends assembled at St. Paul's for service at 2:45 p.m., which was conducted by the rector, Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell. Interment took place in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

ETHEL MAY ANDERSON

Succumbing to a stroke suffered on Sunday, Mrs. Ethel May Anderson, wife of Mr. John Henry Anderson, 3rd concession Thurlow Township, passed away at the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday. She was in her 56th year.

The late Mrs. Anderson was born in Delora, the daughter of Mrs. Jane Andrews and the late John Andrews and had lived in Point Anne for some time before moving to the 3rd of Thurlow about nine years ago. She was affiliated with the United Church and her sudden passing will be the source of much regret by her many friends and acquaintances.

Surviving to mourn her passing beside her husband are two sons, William A. Anderson, of Thurlow and Earl Anderson of Point Anne; one sister, Mrs. Mary Holland, of Timmins, Ont., and three brothers, John Andrews of Belleville and William and Thomas Andrews of Rawdon Township. There are four grandchildren, Wallace, Keith and Garry Anderson of Point Anne and John Anderson of Thurlow.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 3rd Concession Thurlow Township on Friday, March 13th, 1942. Service in the home at 1:00 p.m., thence to Springbrook United Church for service at 3:00 p.m. Interment Mount Nebo Cemetery, Springbrook.

TEACHING AT FRANKFORD

Mrs. Gordon Bailey is supplying for one of the teachers in the Frankford High School this week.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

The Women's Missionary Society held their March meeting at the home of Mrs. Roy Eggleton.

The first part of the meeting was a memorial service for the late Mrs. Sam Eggleton and Mrs. A. Juby. Hymn: "Thy will not mine O Lord", was sung. The Daily Prayer from the Glad Tidings was repeated in unison and a minute silence prayer followed by prayer by Rev. W. H. V. Walker. Mrs. H. Rollins read the 23rd psalm.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved. Roll call was answered with the keyword "Mercy." Several sick calls were made during the month on the sick and shut-ins.

The treasurer, Mrs. Hammond gave a report for the first quarter of the year showing an increase.

Mrs. Roy Eggleton, convener of the programme, took charge of the meeting and a hymn, "God's mercies I will ever sing" opened the program.

A good review of the Missionary book the Glad Tidings was given by Mrs. J. Montgomery; a duet by Mrs. W. H. V. Walker and Mrs. Roy Eggleton was well given accompanied at the piano by Mrs. C. Tummison.

The topic was given by Gena Spry on "The Lost Intensity." We have lost something. We ought to be far more like Jesus Christ than we are. Or if we cannot be like Him, then we should be more like his first followers.

"Lord Thy Mercy now entreating" was sung as a closing hymn and Rev. W.H.V. Walker closed with prayer.

Lunch was served and a social half-hour was spent together.

handkerchief. Mrs. Hiram Mumby acted as parson and was followed into the room by the groom, Mrs. Clayton Thompson and groomsmen, Miss Doris Thompson. The bride, Mr. Lorne Johnston looked charming as she entered the room on the arm of her father, "Mrs." George Williams. She was attired in a gown of white lace with long train and carried a bouquet of very rare flowers. The bridesmaid was Mr. Clarence Barnum, also dressed in white lace and blue trimming and wore a picturesque baby pink hat.

Master Billie McKeown and Donnie Fleming carried the bride's train and each wearing red velvet dresses.

During the signing of the register, Miss Norma Mason played the guitar and she and Florence Galloway sang, "Florence" and "Oh, Johnny." Lunch was then served to the numerous guests.

TIRE THEFTS INCREASE

Tire thefts are becoming more frequent in this district.

On Saturday night, thieves jacked up the rear of a motor car owned by M. Mason, of Springbrook, and stole a rear wheel, tire and tube, as the car parked on a parking lot in Belleville.

Pat Calls a Halt

An Irishman entered a barber's shop for a shave. After he was seated and the lather applied, the barber was called to the adjoining room where he was detained. The barber had in the shop a pet monkey which caused amusement by imitating its master. As soon as the barber had quit the room the monkey seized the shaving brush, dipped it in the lather and proceeded to apply it to the Irishman's face. When the operation was finished to the monkey's satisfaction, the little animal picked up a razor, and after stropping it, turned to Pat to shave him.

"Stop that!" cried Pat firmly, sitting erect. "Ye can tuck the towel in me neck, and put the soap on my face, but, begorras, yer father's got to shave me!"—Exchange.

Outside a night club a taximan was hailed by the doorman, who packed four very "jolly" guests into a cab.

"That one on the left goes to Park Lane," he explained; "the one next to him to Jermyn Street. The one on the left front seat goes to Piccadilly, and the fourth to Knights-bridge."

With an understanding nod the taximen drove off. In a few minutes he returned and hailed the doorman. "Would you mind sorting out these blokes again? he asked. "I hit a bump in Trafalgar Square."

The old sailor had retired from the sea. Each morning a grubby youngster knocked at his door, went in and came out again. After this had gone on for some weeks the curiosity of the villagers was aroused.

"Tell me," said one of the youngsters, "why do you visit that old sailor every morning?"

"Well sir, he gives me a dime if I say to him, 'The Captain want you immediately.'"

"And what does he say to that?"

"He says, 'Tell the captain to go to blazes.'"

"I thought I told you to come back when you were older!" snapped the Home Guard recruiting officer to the fourteen year old lad in Scout's uniform.

"That's right, sir, and I have," was the prompt reply. "Watching the Home Guards' rotten drilling outside has put years on me!"

The mayor of a certain town, out for a spin on his bicycle, found himself a long way from home and in need of water for his acetylene lamp. He rode on in momentary dread of the village constable, until at last he saw a man standing at the door of his cottage. "I say, would you be kind enough to give me some water for my lamp?" he asked.

"Water?" repeated the man, "I s'pose you mean oil."

"No, I don't. I want water." The man looked searchingly at the cyclist. "Take my advice, and get along 'ome" he said. "You ought to be ashamed of yourself, and you the mayor, too!"

Hastings County Agricultural War Committee Holds Meeting Here

H. L. Fair Outlines Position of Agriculture and Asks Increased Effort By Farmers

A meeting sponsored by the Hastings County Agricultural War Committee was held in the old post office here on Thursday night for the purpose of arranging a schedule of meetings throughout this district to promote greater agricultural production. Col. R. Vanderwater, of Foxboro, chairman of the County organization, presided and H. L. Fair, Agricultural Representative delivered an address on the agricultural situation in Canada in general and submitted the results of a survey of the farm situation in Hastings County.

The purpose of the Committee will be to assist in the organization of farm work, assist in making plans for securing the best use of mechanical equipment in the various communities to encourage early repair of farm machinery, assist with the placement of farm labour and assist in advancing methods of increased production in all branches of agriculture.

Each Township has a committee composed of a Director, the presidents of the cheese factories in the township, and also other leading men interested in other lines of production.

Members of the Hastings County Agricultural War Committee are, Col. R. Vanderwater, Sidney Township, chairman; Seldon Homan, Thurlow Township; Jos. Forestall, Tyendinaga Township; George E. Thompson, Rawdon Township; J. C. Sills, Huntingdon Township; Chas. Bush, Hungerford Township; William Pack, Marmora Township; John McCaffery, Madoc Township; Jas. Moore Elzevir, Fowlsburg; Jas. Sprackett, W. J. Davis, Joe Davis and U. A. Hubbell, North Hastings section.

H. L. Fair
"After two and a half years of expanding war and now with practically the whole world involved, the real task of Agriculture is at hand," said Mr. Fair. "The needs for agricultural products have increased and have become more definitely indicated for both war and domestic requirements."

"Unfortunately production difficulties have also increased because of general needs for man-power and shortage in supplies and materials due to the tremendous demands for war and war industry. On the other hand, higher stabilized prices have been established for many major agricultural products. We therefore, have a much clearer view now of what to expect and must plan accordingly."

"On basis of all agricultural production is crop production whether for human or animal needs. Without sufficient production of grain of the kinds needed and an adequate supply of suitable storage, including grass for live stock feeding, no expansion in the production of agricultural products most needed can be expected. The first step, therefore, in planning increased production of agricultural products is to plan crop production."

"Apart from wheat, all Canada had less than a month's feed supply on hand before the crop of 1941 was harvested. With the live stock population now what it is in both the West and the East, and with the hazards of climatic conditions which cannot be ignored, that is a very unsafe position. Even allowing for increased grain production in Western Canada, it will not do for Eastern Canada to coast along on the assumption that it can look to the West for all the supplies it needs and receive public money to transport them to the East."

"Our total area in field crops in 1941, according to latest figures, is 58,490,100 acres. This is below both 1940 and 1939, wheat reduction being the important factor. In general, then, this year's agricultural programme calls for increased production of all feed producing crops across Canada with special emphasis on coarse grains."

Seed Grains and Small Seeds

"The seed supply available has been carefully examined by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, selling prices have been established for seed, and export control is being exercised. In general the seed supply in grain, grasses with the exception of timothy

Glen Ross Wins First Game

Glen Ross drew first blood in the final series of the Rural Hockey League, on Monday night, when they defeated West Huntingdon by a score of 4-3. The game was played on water-covered ice which made good hockey impossible and only a small crowd was in attendance. The mild weather has disrupted the schedule of the play-offs and the date of the second game has been postponed pending the return of colder weather.

which may be a little short, and clovers is considered adequate to permit a full production programme, but some movement to meet local needs will be necessary. The importance of good seed in a year like this cannot be too greatly stressed. Western feed grain should not be regarded as a reliable source of good seed. Home produced grain that lacks vitality and vigor will also defeat the production purpose intended. Every farmer's war effort this year should include the greatest care in the selection and preparation of his seed grain.

Fertilizer Bonus

"With a view to increasing feed supplies and live stock production in Eastern Canada this year, a policy of assistance in the use of fertilizer has been approved by the Dominion Government. Suitable formulas have been approved by the Ontario Fertilizer Board and a definite part of the fertilizer cost will be paid by the Dominion Government for fertilizer applied to specified crops including spring wheat, barley, oats and mixed grain, hay crops and pasture, manure, turnips and corn for husking and silage."

"It will be interesting to you to know that there has been a great increase in most lines of agricultural production since the outbreak of the War. In 1939 we exported to Great Britain 72,000,000 lbs. of cheese. In 1940 we exported to Great Britain 103,000,000 lbs. of cheese and in 1941 112,000,000 lbs. of cheese. Our total 1941 production of cheese was only slightly higher than 1940 due mostly to unfavourable pasture conditions. We had in Hastings County, however, a considerable increase, we made 1,142,548 lbs. more cheese in 1941 than in 1940. For the first time in our history we lead all counties in the Province of Ontario in cheese production with a make of approximately 9,000,000 lbs. We have in this county 54 well-equipped cheese factories, 46 of these factories have mechanical refrigeration, two have iced cooled curing rooms and only 6 factories have no provision for cooling their cheese. We also lead the Province of Ontario in quality of cheese made, 51.3% of our cheese graded 94 or better and 42.5% graded 93 score. This means that 93.8% of all the cheese made in Hastings County in 1941 qualified for either the 1c or 2c Dominion Premium. We can see from these figures that Hastings County is well equipped to make large quantities of high quality cheese. Therefore, we have a definite responsibility as farmers to use this existing equipment to the greatest possible extent."

Bacon
"Our bacon production has also increased materially since the outbreak of war. Our contracts run Oct. 1st to Sept. 30th. In 1939-40 we shipped to Great Britain 331,000,000 lbs. In 1940-41 we shipped 425,000,000 lbs. of bacon. The 1940-42 contract calls for 600,000,000 lbs. Besides the 600,000,000 lbs. of export we need some 300,000,000 lbs. of pork products for domestic consumption. This means the average marketing of 150,000,000 hogs a week. We have supplied about this number of hogs since the contract started last fall. One method of increasing our bacon production is to market only the hogs that are up to the desired market weight for Wilshire sides."

"Hastings County markets the largest number of hogs of any country from Hastings East. In 1939 we marketed 52,393, in 1940, 67,312 and in 1941, 66,332 a decrease of approximately 100,000 hogs (Continued on Page 6)

St. Paul's W.M.S. Holds Regular

The March meeting of St. Paul's W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Earl Luery with 22 members and a few visitors in attendance, and the President, Mrs. Geo. Pollard in the chair. Contrary to usual custom, the program took precedence over the business meeting, as, following the opening exercises, Mrs. R. A. Patterson, program convenor, took the chair.

The theme for the year, "The Faith by which we live," centred for the March study around "The Lord's Supper—the Covenant of our Faith," Hymn "Just As I Am" was followed by the repetition in unison of the statement of faith and Apostles Creed. Mrs. Sid Williams offered prayer. Scriptural passages covering the records of the Lord's Supper were read by Mrs. Wm. West and Miss Mae Currie. Comments were given by Mrs. Patterson. A communion hymn closed the worship service.

The Study Book chapter, "The Chinese church comes of age," was very interesting as prepared by Mrs. A. Wells and given by Mrs. Macklin. Mrs. Patterson led in prayer for the church of Christ in China and for our missionaries in West China, facing the difficulties and opportunities of today. Miss Grace Pitman gave a piano solo, Mrs. E. Luery a poem, "He Does Care," and Mrs. Patterson a brief article "Ask and Receive." The program closed with the hymn "When I survey the wondrous Cross."

Mrs. Pollard resumed the chair. The business meeting showed a gratifying increase of fees, envelopes and loose collection for February, but a noticeable absence of secretaries and only a fair attendance at this meeting as compared with January and February. Mrs. A. Weaver's resignation from Mission Band work was accepted and Mrs. Stinson was appointed to fill her place. Mrs. Pollard and Mrs. Macklin were elected delegates to Presbyterial held in Nanapan on April 15, and the meeting gave Mrs. Harry Harrison the nomination for Presbyterial Mission Band Superintendent. Mrs. H. Wells reported $14.50 as proceeds of the Mission Band tea. Several replies to letters of sympathy were received and other matters of minor importance were given the necessary attention before the National Anthem closed the afternoon's session.

"Congratulations to me, Jimmy, I'm engaged to Sally Jenks."

District Farmers To Discuss Plans

Schedule of Meetings To Be Held In This Section of The County Is Announced

Arrangements for the holding of a series of "Greater Production" meetings in Hastings County, have now been completed. Meetings will be held in every township of the county with special and local speakers addressing what is expected to be large turnouts of farmers. Farmers, themselves will be asked to join the discussions and offer suggestions and criticism.

Similar meetings held last year in connection with the stepped-up production of cheese, proved very successful, according to Mr. Fair, local Agricultural Representative, and were instrumental in part, in the achievement by county cheesemakers, of manufacturing the greatest volume of cheese produced in any country in the Dominion.

Following is a list of meetings to be held in this district:—

HALF LOADS

One-half truck loads are now allowed by the Department of Highways on certain roads throughout the province, according to a recent Order-in-council passed by the Ontario Government. While none of the roads in this section are showing any signs of breaking up so far, the frost action will eventually soften them in places and subject them to damage if heavy loads are hauled over them. The Department will check the loads and any infringement of the law will result in a severe penalty. The owners of trucks should co-operate with the Department and prevent any unnecessary damage being done the roads.

INCREASED PRODUCTION ASKED FOR

A number of cheese factories in Hastings County are planning to open next Monday, March 23, while others will open April 1. This is considerably earlier than in other years and is an indication of the willingness of those engaged in the production of dairy products to do all they can to provide food for the armies of the Empire. Last year Hastings County produced 8,983,033 lbs. of cheese to lead the province and every effort will be made during the coming year to do even better.

A schedule of meetings (a list of which appears elsewhere in this paper) has been arranged for the county by the Agricultural War Committee, and the production of cheese along with other agricultural products will be discussed. Due to the shortage of farm labour there are a number of farmers who have disposed of part of their dairy herds. This makes it all the more imperative that those who have retained their herds do everything possible to increase production.

Although no new contract with the United Kingdom has been announced it is being freely predicted that Canada will be asked for 125,000,000 lbs. of cheese, an increase of some thirteen million pounds over last year. If these figures be anywhere near correct, it will take a supreme effort by Canadian producers to supply the demand. It is hoped that the producers of Hastings will attend these meetings in their own localities and after intelligent discussion of the subject determine to bend every effort towards meeting the demand for agricultural products.

A PROGRAM FOR FARMERS

Nowadays, to prevent producing at a loss, and if possible, make a reasonable profit, a farmer must be on the alert and keep well posted in all that pertains to agriculture, and especially to his particular district. Keen competition between Agricultural regions and even between countries, the present war and surpluses of certain crops all tend to reduce the margin of profit in the production of farm products. Thus, the necessity for a program for each farmer is made apparent, and at the present time during the winter months and before he begins his spring's work, the farmer is afforded the best opportunity in the year for making a review or check-up of his operations during the past year.

There are many questions a farmer can ask himself: is my present crop system well adapted to the type of soil on my farm; is the rotation I follow the right one; do I fertilize my crops in a complete and economical way; are the yields satisfactory and are they obtained economically; do I still produce crops which used to pay in the past and now entail annual losses on account of uncontrollable circumstances; does my herd still contain boarders which do not pay their way on account of their low production? These and other questions may well be pondered over.

When these questions have been thought out the point arises as to where the necessary information or advice towards improvement is to be obtained. There are many such sources of information. There are Experimental farms, illustration stations, colleges of Agriculture and your local Agricultural Representative. Any of these are concerned with farm problems and may be consulted by the farmer in his preparation of a programme which will give better and safer results, if not protection.

WHAT BRITAIN DOES

It is not the people of the Dominions or colonies who carp. They know that the British Isles have furnished more than their share of men and money.

It is Americans who seem to be so concerned about the outlying partners in the British Commonwealth. It is the kind of American who boasts of America's role as the arsenal of democracy and forgets that the United States contribution is still largely in the appropriation stage, and forgets that even as a supplier of weapons Britain is still ahead.

Britain has produced more than 90 per cent of the weapons she is using and meanwhile has helped her Allies.

The British Isles, with roughly one-third of the population of the United States, have spent about $40,000,000,000 on the war. Most of this is available now in war material, while, despite vast appropriations, the United States has furnished so far only about $20,000,000,000 worth of fighting supplies.

Britain has sent 1,000 tanks and 1,000 planes to Russia, while America is lagging behind the amounts promised.

America is increasing the rate of her contribution rapidly, but the pace may be speeded by adequate appreciation of what others have done.—Christian Science Monitor.

TO KEEP HEALTHY

The Health League of Canada in a recent bulletin says: To keep healthy you must have vitamins and you must have them regularly. You can't fill up on vitamins today and expect them to be much good to you next week.

You can secure your requirements of vitamins by eating each day: 3 glasses of milk, 6 slices of vitamin-rich bread with butter (whole wheat bread, or white bread made with special flour or with special vitamin-rich yeast.) 1 serving of meat, 1 egg, 1 serving of potatoes, 1 serving of green-leaf or yellow vegetable, 1 glass of tomato, orange, or grapefruit juice, 1 serving of oatmeal porridge or whole wheat cereal.

Cooking rules that will retain a maximum vitamin content in foods are stated to be: don't overcook green vegetables, always pour boiling water on vegetables to start cooking and don't use too much of it; save your vegetable water for soups; never use soda.

"Make the old one do" is to be the slogan in respect to road construction and upkeep in Canada this year according to an announcement by the Munitions and Supply Department. New construction will be possible only for roads regarded as essential defence arteries and for links between existing roads and new military camps or war plants according to the announcement.

The local arena completed operations for the winter on Monday night so it's time to store away the skates and hockey equipment until another winter arrives. Although the rink was slow in getting started in comparison to some other years their was over two months of good skating and hockey and it is understood the year's receipts were quite satisfactory.

In this plebiscite there will be no candidates or parties spending money on advertising, and no campaign funds, and no rallies and meetings to work up interest and excitement, and no armies of canvassers, and no workers with automobiles to take people to the polls. If this doesn't suggest the danger of perhaps less than half of the people voting in this plebiscite, then a lot of election organization and hullabaloo must be pathetically superfluous, observes the Ottawa Journal.

Municipalities will be required to administer relief on a 50-50 basis with the Provincial government in future, according to an announcement by Hon. Farquhar Oliver, Minister of Welfare and Municipal Affairs. This plan has been adopted for one year by the Provincial government, and if it is shown to be a hardship on the municipalities will be revised. In these days when employment is easy to get it is only unemployables that are eligible for relief. Consequently there are few municipalities that will have any ground for kicking against the government plan.

This is the time of year for farmers to be wary of certain unscrupulous persons who are offering miracle seed for sale. The general practice is to take ordinary seed, apply an extravagant name such as "Bonanza", "Beautiful", or "Miracle", and offer it for sale at an exorbitant price. It may even be represented as coming from a mysterious source with only a limited quantity available. Strange to say, these salesmen find farmers who accept the story of big yields and pay good money for ordinary seed, only to find later that they have been duped. Every farmer's war effort this year should include the greatest care in the selection and preparation of his seed grain.

What Others Say

A DRASTIC PLAN

Editor of a Presbyterian Church paper in Utica urges that for one month following Easter all churches be closed. "Nothing," he says, "would serve better to advance the cause of religious liberty in a nation which has forgotten all about what religious liberty means." On the principle, of course, that "You never miss the water till the well runs dry."—Owen Sound Sun-Times.

STRANGE COINCIDENCE

It can't be just coincidence that nearly every German who breaks out of a prison camp in central Canada straightway heads for the upper St. Lawrence Valley and often manages to get across the border before being recaptured.

THE JUNIOR FARMERS

The junior farmer movement continues to grow in importance. This work the government is doing among the boys and girls of rural Ontario is a commendable one. The money being invested by the province in the education of the lads and lasses who look to the land for their livelihood will pay big dividends in the future.

NO PRINTED LISTS

The Government has decided not to have voters' lists printed for the forthcoming plebiscite, in order to save money. This economy may be wise, even though it is being practised at the expense of many printers, who could use a few extra dollars at the present time, due to the drastic curtailment in national advertising contracts brought on by wartime restrictions. When we think of the dozens of printed leaflets and statistical reports from government departments, which reach our desk each week and eventually find a resting place in the waste paper basket, we conclude that there are more convenient ways for the government to practice economy than by doing away with printed voters' lists. But, as one of our exchanges says, what's the use of talking?—Winchester Press.

EXPECT TOO MUCH

Yes, we expect too much from too few. We thought we could hold Hong Kong with a few men, we thought we could stop the Japs in Malaya and Singapore with a few men. It has always been like that with us. We thought we could lick the Boers with a handful of men only to find out that we needed several hundred of men. Yes, that's one of our great weaknesses. And then when our few do the best they can and have to succumb to greater numbers we think they are letting us down. Yes, we expect too much from too few, but we may learn our lesson this time. We may lose some of our notions that one Britisher can lick a half a dozen Germans or Japs and form a true perspective of the picture that we are fighting two of the most ruthless races on the face of the globe and that while we have been playing and camping and drinking our tea, they have been studying all the arts of killing and maiming. And we shall be the better for it when we come down off our high horse, roll up our sleeves and pitch in. For this war is to do or die and who among us wants to die?—Trenton Courier-Advocate.

IT MIGHT HAPPEN

The Tweed News expresses a thought that may have come to the minds of many people: that a scarcity of gasoline and rubber may have a marked effect on smaller business centres throughout Canada. The News deals chiefly with the merchandising aspect; the potential revival of trade for local stores, and it advises merchants to prepare for the better business that may follow restrictions on travel.

The prospect might be pursued further. What effect would prolonged rationing of gasoline, with consequent lessening of automobile travel, have on the vanishing industries which every village used to have when self-sufficiency in this respect was a necessity? Recall the days a generation ago when every little cluster of humankind had its own mill, factories and workshops, in which was produced nearly everything the citizens needed.

Will any of these come back? Should the horse return to the industrial picture, the blacksmith shop must reappear. But where are the blacksmiths? Formerly one of the best of the trades, it was not a white-collar job; so blacksmithing wasn't learned by young men. With the blacksmith shop went the local carriage and wagon works, which didn't deal in rubber-tired motorised vehicles.

"PARLIAMENT HILL"

By G. S. WHITE, M. P.
Hastings-Peterborough

les. The shoemaker, who used to make all the boots for the neighborhood, had to be satisfied with repair work. Groups of crossed legged journeyman tailors worked no longer in the room back of the clothing store.

In many industries local mechanics, accustomed to start and finish an article and be proud of it, could no longer compete with workers on assembly lines in large cities, who put in a peg or a stitch and passed the job to another man.

Thus the small communities lost their industries—their young men, too, who had to follow the jobs in bigger fields with opportunities for work under strange conditions.

It is too much, of course, to fancy the bulk of this work will return to the towns, villages and hamlets; but some of it may. And those who recall the bad effects of its departure will not regret any revival consequent upon drastically changing general conditions.—Globe & Mail.

PRAISES DR. LOCKE

The New York Sun of a few days ago carried the following communication signed by Una Howard Callaghan, of that city: "They buried him today, the man who gave to a host of the sick and crippled hope, courage, the will to live again and ease from pain—M. W. Locke, M.D., of Williamsburg, Ontario. My case is just one of the countless others who have received help from his hands—those dynamic, all-powerful, all-knowing hands. Now it can be told. He was too modest to want it known before. I am only one of his patients whom he treated free of charge. We praise God for having given us Dr. Locke. We won't forget."

A YOUNG MAN'S WAR

Many of the older officers and non-commissioned officers who have been serving with the Canadian forces in Britain are to return to Canada for duty as instructors. This is another reminder of the fact that this is essentially a young man's war.

DISTRICT RETURNING OFFICERS APPOINTED

With governmental machinery now in motion for the Dominion plebiscite which takes place on Monday, April 27th, returning officers for the various constituencies have been named in all but a few instances.

The chief returning officer for Hastings South will be Colonel W. R. Rierdon Hastings-Peterborough, H. W. Sabine, Marmora; Prince Edward-Lennox, S. W. Spencer, and Northumberland, T. F. Hall, Cobourg.

WARKWORTH HOMES, STORES FLOODED MONDAY MORNING AS MILL POND OVERFLOWED

On Monday Warkworth experienced its third flood in recent years. The melting snows of Sunday, together with the rain in the night, caused a great volume of water in Mill Creek. The dam logs could not be raised in time, and the pond overflowed about 10 a.m. Water to a depth of about 1½ feet swirled down Mill Street. The cellars in many homes were filled with water, and a few places of business were also inundated.—Warkworth Journal.

Presentation at River Valley

On Thursday evening, March 9th, over ninety friends and neighbours at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson, River Valley, to spend a farewell evening with them before their departure to their new home in Thurlow.

Bill No. 5, cited as "The Civil Employment Reinstatement Act, 1942" being an Act to provide for the reinstatement in civil employment of the individuals who enlist for service in His Majesty's Forces or who perform essential war employment, was introduced by the Minister of Labour, the Honourable Humphrey Mitchell. This Act is the outward pledge of the earnest desire of all members, irrespective of party allegiance, to now provide an adequate means of meeting the great national problem of re-establishment and re-habilitation that will ultimately evolve when the men of the armed forces complete their military service, and is intended to re-assure them now in order that they may be relieved of any possible doubt, anxiety or concern as to their reinstatement in former employment, and to guarantee uniformity of treatment of all concerned on demobilization.

Following the honourable discharge or demobilization of those who resigned employment to serve in the armed forces, many employers have voluntarily undertaken to reinstate in employment such persons upon conditions not less favourable to the employee than he would have attained had he not enlisted.

"Service in His Majesty's Forces" embraces services since the commencement of the present war, whether inside or outside of Canada in any capacity, in pursuance of any enactment relating to the naval, military or air forces, and shall include service in the Canadian Women's Army Corps or the Canadian Women's Auxiliary Air Force.

An employee as defined under the Act is one who:

(1) Had employee status on September 8, 1939, or by reason of wage agreement or otherwise had a recognized position, other than a temporary position.

(2) Having been hired after September 8th, 1939, was employed for at least six months in other than a temporary position (exclusive of any probationary period required by published regulations or agreement as of September 8th, 1939) immediately before he was accepted for service in His Majesty's Forces.

The Act specifies it shall be the duty of any employer of persons who resigned his employment to serve in His Majesty's forces, when honourably discharged or demobilized, to reinstate him in his employment in such occupation and position and under conditions not less favourable to him than those which would have been applicable had he not enlisted, as would be consistent with the true intent and purpose of the Act.

The soldier on discharge has three months in which to apply to his former employer for reinstatement.

The employer is allowed various defences under the Act for not reinstating a former employee, the main two being:

(a) That the soldier is not physically or mentally capable of performing the work available in the employers service.

(b) That the employee was employed to take the place of an employee who had been previously accepted for service in His Majesty's Forces and such employee has been reinstated in his employment.

Everyone realizes that any man who serves for a period of months or years in the armed forces and goes through any major engagement suffers both mentally and physically. Further, as more men are needed for the armed forces, there will be many cases where the employee has taken the place of a former employee who has enlisted.

The Act, while it will benefit many persons now serving in the armed forces, will exclude many soldiers from coming within the provisions of the Act, such as—

(a) Men who did not have employee status on September 8th, 1939, as defined by the Act.

(b) Men who left school or college to enlist.

(c) Men already discharged from the armed forces.

(d) Men who had no steady employment at the date of their enlistment.

(e) Men who joined the Royal Air Force, Royal Navy, Royal Canadian Air Force, Royal Canadian Navy or other branches of the service prior to the outbreak of the present war.

(f) Men who worked in industries which have ceased to operate on account of the war.

While it is possible to point out many improvements to the Act as it now stands in behalf of both employer and employee, the Act is the nucleus of a step in the right direction.

SUFFICIENT SEEDS FOR HOME GARDEN

There is no need for the home gardener to worry about getting sufficient vegetable and flower seeds to meet his needs this year. There are enough in the hands of the seedsmen to meet all normal requirements, the Seeds Administrator stated today. He assures, however, every gardener to try to avoid waste of any seeds as the supplies for some seeds notably, beans, beets, cabbage, cauliflower, cucumber, lettuce, onions, tomatoes, awedoes and mangels may not be too plentiful for 1943. Meanwhile the Seeds Supply Committee, which functions under the Agricultural Supplies Board, has planned to augment support for the increase of vegetable and field root seed production, under a Dominion Provincial program.

USE CERTIFIED OR REGISTERED SEED

"What seed should I buy to be certain of good seed?" is a question frequently asked. To get a good start with good seed, it is necessary to buy only a few bushels of Registered or Certified seed. These grades of seed are derived from crops inspected in the field and for which seed certificates are issued finally by the Plant Products Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. These are legal grades under the Seeds Act of Canada. A variety is accepted for registration, only after it has been carefully compared with other varieties and found to be deserving of a place in some part of the Dominion. Registration or certification of seed implies that the crop from which it has been derived must have been inspected in the field and found to have the required degree of purity of variety and kind. It must also be free from weeds and seed borne diseases within certain limits. Further, before the seed can be sold as registered or certified, it must be subjected to a purity and germination test, and, if up to a certain specified standard, it is tagged and sealed in accordance with the regulations prescribed under the Seeds Act.

HOW TO EXTEND USE FARM MACHINE TIRES

In view of the fact that rubber for agricultural purposes will be more and more difficult to obtain as the war proceeds and that a shortage of rubber for necessary replacements on farm machines will result in severe hardship to farmers, information on how to prolong the life of rubber tires on farm equipment is of great importance. The Dominion Experimental Station at Swift Current, Sask., has specialized for many years on the use of rubber in agriculture and points out that rubber tires on farm machinery can be made to give better service and considerably longer life if certain methods are carried out at all times. Rubber is subject to damage by heat, freezing and thawing, direct sunlight and wet. Rubber tires should be kept under cover as much as possible when not in actual use and kept in a cool, dry, and darkened shed.

Implement which must stand outdoors for most of the year should have the tires removed when not in actual use, and the weight should be taken off all tires which must stand for any length of time on the machine. The air pressure on all tires in storage should be reduced a few pounds. A coat of recommended rubber tire paint or preservative will protect tires, outside or in storage, against the deteriorating effects of weather and aging. Tires should be cleaned and painted after using and before disuse for any length of time.

Rubber will age in time but longest life can be secured by proper use when active, and by proper protection when inactive. Constant use at proper loads and speeds keeps the rubber in the best condition to withstand prolonged use. The correct air pressure is important. All rubber tires, except the solid types, depend upon the correct air pressure for their strength to carry the load and for long wearing quality. The farmer should make certain that he knows the correct air pressure for every type and size of tire on his farm, and each tire pressure should be checked at least twice every week when in use.

Low air pressure will cause fabric breaks and cracking on the side walls. Very high pressure may cause equal damage by blowouts at high speeds or heavy loads, and will result in excess wear on drive wheel tires. For longest year and trouble-free life, the tires should be kept at slightly above the recommended air pressure.

The alignment of all wheels with rubber tires should be checked at frequent intervals, so as to prevent excessive wear on the tire of the wheel that may be out of alignment. The proper amount of wheel weights should be used on drive wheel tires. Information on wheel weights and how to make them is available from the Swift Current Station. To reduce tire wear and secure best draft results, the line of draft on each implement should be adjusted. A low hitch on the tractor may cause excess wear on the drive wheels and an extra load on the implement tires, wheels, and bearings. Side draft will cause uneven wear on tractor and tires.

URGES ATTENDANCE AT COUNTY SEED FAIR

Seed fairs are playing an important part in the agricultural setup for greater wartime crop production this year, says John D. MacLeod, Crops Seeds and Weed Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.

"In our 'greater yield per acre' program, good seed is essential and the best seed in the county or district will be found at the county seed fair," states Mr. MacLeod. Thirty-eight fairs or seed displays have been planned. They offer an opportunity for buyer and seller of seed to meet. Demonstrations and displays are also features of these gatherings and should be seen by every farmer.

"Attend your nearest seed fair," urges Mr. MacLeod. "Locate your seed requirements for this year while seed is available, and when you are there, obtain the latest information on soil and crop improvement."

AVOID CROWDING CHICKS IN PENS

A colony house 12 feet square will accommodate 300 chicks to six weeks of age, or two chicks for each square foot of floor space. After six weeks either double the floor space or reduce the number of chicks to 150, says J. J. MacLennan, Poultry Dept., Ont. Agricultural College, Guelph.

Overcrowding pens are the most common cause of uneven growth in any flock. High mortality may result from crowded conditions. Damp dirty litter found in crowded pens facilitates the spread of disease germs. Feather pulling and cannibalism often break out where crowding exists.

Too high or too low temperatures, bright sunlight, corners, hopper placements, all may be direct or indirect causes of crowding.

Chicks may crowd away from hot brooder stove or crowd around one where the fire has gone out. Avoid extremes in temperatures. A circle of cardboard placed about 18 inches from the edge of the hover will eliminate floor draught and keep the chicks near the heat. As the chicks grow older, enlarge the circle. Chicken wire should be tacked across the corners to prevent crowding there. Use a board or piece of cardboard to stop floor draughts at the entrance door.

Huddling or basking in bright sun rays may be the forerunner of the crowding habit. Painting the window panes or reducing the bright sun in some way will help overcome this factor.

Care should be taken in the replacement of hoppers to avoid corners. Chicks should have free access to both sides of the hoppers to prevent crowding.

Crowding, although usually traced to some direct cause, may become a habit which is hard to break.

OUR WAR DESTINY—WILL IT BE AS NOSTRADAMUS PREDICTED?

"Everything's going to be O. K." according to uncanny old 16th century prophet, who foretold practically everything that has happened, including Japan's attack on the U.S., and now...as will be told in The American Weekly with this Sunday's (Mar. 22) issue, of The Detroit Sunday Times...interpreters say his verses portend eventual victory. Be sure to get The Detroit Sunday Times.

A YEAR HENCE

"My rich uncle died and left me his estate. Am I lucky?"
"What did he leave you?"
"Two good tires and ten pounds of sugar."

War's Obscurity and Canada's Wheat

While the new wheat policy of the Government will assure an anticipated higher return for the farmer, together with certain betterments, yet information in the nation's capital indicates that the wheat situation is not entirely clear, though it is hopeful. The war may bring unexpected changes. Australia may not be able to send wheat to the same extent as in the past on account of the war situation in this part of the world. Argentina may encounter difficulties Russia may not be in a position to achieve normal shipments or production, especially since the loss temporarily of the Ukraine. In other words, the wheat situation is somewhat obscure on account of the war situation in face of the Government's effort to clear up its own position and that of the Canadian farmer in the nation's economy.

Conservatives and Future Policies

It is reported in Ottawa that members of the Conservative Party are studying closely the future of their organization's policies, including its proper place in post-war reconstruction, so that it may be in tune with the developments of the times. There is even discussion in some circles about the possibility of a conference or convention, probably next summer.

Canadians Have Considerable Cash

The recent success of the Victory Loan campaign has emphasized the fact that Canadians have considerable cash, though heavy investments are made in such campaigns. Despite the fact that Canadians had subscribed $731,000,000 in the first Loan Campaign, total deposits in banks had risen to 2,937,000,000, an increase of $137,000,000. This was on December 31, 1941, in contrast to December, 1940. It answers the question whether or not there was enough cash money in Canada to warrant more campaigns.

Gravity of Rubber Shortage

With the supply on hand quite limited and the need of rubber for war purposes or war industries certain to increase, the present restrictions of this product for ordinary uses are only the start since the gravity of rubber shortage cannot be exaggerated, being reduced in civilian industry from 2,800 tons a month not long ago to the present amount of 100 tons.

Canada and "Total War"

With the world conflagration spreading rapidly its spectacular actions so that the flames of actual warfare are now almost reaching the shores of Canada, this non-partisan observer can report the astonishing story to the man-in-the-street that behind the scenes in the nation's capital the Government's staunch supporters and severe critics in and out of Parliament are slashing at one another without mercy in sharp verbal duels which are really being carried on to determine whether the Government is or not waging a "total war" effort in its true meaning and in tune with the circumstances. It is pointed out along Parliament Hill that it is no longer a war in which Canada is engaged but where the actual fighting is being waged thousands of miles away in Europe, in Africa, in Asia, or elsewhere. Now, the actual fighting is moving close to this continent and to the shores of this country. It is definitely a "total war" and a different war from all others in which Canada has been engaged in the past. Still there is no general agreement on Parliament Hill about the true meaning of a "total war" effort.

Sidelights

Hon. Earl Rowe, Dufferin-Simcoe, one of the severest critics of the Government, made this interesting suggestion to the Prime Minister. "Would he consider urging the returning officer (electorate vote) to use for deputy returning officers, wherever possible, returned soldiers of the last war?" And Premier King replied: "I think the suggestion is a very good one." It is estimated in Ottawa that the Federal Government now ranks as one of Canada's largest advertisers, having spent no less than about $5,000,000 for such purposes in the last two years to publicize national registration, war loans, war savings stamps, war-time price controls, labor regulations, defence tax laws, and others through the medium of the press. Since a revival has taken place of the Alaska Highway project, it is understood in Ottawa that the Hon. George Black, member for Yukon, has offered his services to the Government. There is no man who knows this terrain better than this veteran and pioneer from that territory. When Dr. Herbert Bruce, astute member from Toronto-Parkdale, asked if the Government proposed to take immediate steps to deal with the housing situation in Ottawa or alternatively if it considered the advisability of having some of its departments removed to other centers as was done in Washington, he raised a delicate issue because the housing situation in the capital is serious. However, he was informed that difficulties in construction existed since controllers found it impossible to release certain supplies, and in regard to decentralization, the departments were so inter-related that this would not be advisable at the moment. Meanwhile, a crowded capital is faced with extremely serious housing problems.

Ruth rode on my cycle car,
Directly back of me.
I hit a bump at sixty-five,
And rode on ruthlessly.

Commuter: "Well, I'll tell you, Jones, I wear the trousers in my home."

Jones: "Yes, but I notice that right after dinner you wear an apron over them."

"I'm sorry, old man, but I make it a rule never to lend money. It ruins friendship."

"But why let that worry you? We never were what you might call wonderfully good friends, were we?"

"Now, you men," roared the sergeant-major as he dismissed the company, "you will parade again at two o'clock precisely. And when I says two o'clock precisely, I don't mean five past. I mean five to."

"But surely people get their hair cut quite as often in the summer as in the winter?" protested the applicant for the job.

"Ay," agreed the barber, "but you dinna ha'e to help them on wi' their overcoats."

On a dark and stormy night, the trainman was signalling to the engineer when he dropped his lantern

In a few minutes the engineer came rushing up to the scene.

Is Your Liver Poisoning You?

Are you sick and tired out every morning—always constipated—can't eat without pain and distress? Your liver is poisoning your system—permanent ill health may be the result!

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," head-achy, back-achy, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-lives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-lives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-a-lives" put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 25c, 50c.

"I'll soon be 12, Always Fine Now!"

Stacie was twelve I suffered from constipation and never felt well. I started taking "Fruit-a-lives" and I can truly say they gave me wonderful relief. Every one should try "Fruit-a-lives" and enjoy life as I do now. I have never been sick for years.

Mrs. Florence Williamson, Montreal, Que.

"Run Down For Years, Has Perfect Health!"

I was badly run down and terribly nervous. My digestion was poor and I was always constipated. "Fruit-a-lives" soon made me better and there is nothing like it for making you well and giving you new pep and energy. After years of bad health "Fruit-a-lives" made me feel fine.

MOUNT PLEASANT

Womans Missionary Society
Mount Pleasant W.M.S. convened at the home of Mrs. Don Campbell on Wednesday with thirteen members and one visitor in attendance.
The Service opened with quiet music played by Mrs. John Holmes and the Call to Worship was a poem, entitled "Face to Face" by Mrs.
Percy MacMullen. All sang "The National Anthem" and Mrs. J. E.
Beckel offered prayer. The Roll Call was answered with the Keyword Steward. Mrs. Arthur Phillips read the Bible Lesson and Mrs. Frank Smith gave a devotional paper based on "lopsided stewardship".
She pointed out that each individual should be willing to serve and she closed with a poem entitled "My work". The Treasurer reported over nineteen dollars for February.
In the business period thanks was extended to the hostess, to Mrs.
Phillips for arranging the programme, and to those who did extra time on the quilts.

Letters from Mrs. F. L. Hooper and Mrs. Stephens were read and leftists re price ceiling, etc., were distributed to the members.

The Easter meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Allan Bailey and the hour will be 2.30 p.m. D.S.T.
Delegates to Presbyterian in Nap-panee were appointed. A quilting will be held in April at the home of Mrs. Raymond McConnell.
The offering amounting to $5.46 was dedicated with the singing of "we give thee but thine own".

Mrs. Ross Hoard contributed a piano solo; Mrs. Edgar McKeown outlined a chapter in the Study Book, entitled "The Chinese People Rise", which told of a crisis in the history of China during 1922-27, the time when for the masses of the Chinese people the Revolution reached its climax. In this chapter Chiang-Kai-Sheh first assumed the position as leader. This chapter also portrayed the position as leader. This chapter also portrayed how the China Christians were severely tested and how they gloriously met that test. Mrs.
McKeown was assisted by Mrs. Ross
Hoard. Mrs. George Weaver and Miss Muriel Sine.

Mrs. Frank Jeffs read "The Christian Life of Madame Chiang-Kai-Sheh."
Mrs. John Holmes read a selection,
"They hold the key."

The service closed with the rendition of the hymn "Through the night of doubt and sorrow" with the Chinese people in their thoughts.

During the forenoon the ladies quilted a beautiful lavender comforter and they enjoyed a meal of sandwiches and pie at noon.

front and Rev. Beekel spoke briefly and then Mr. Harold Hagerman read ledging the gift and thanking those who had in any way assisted in ar-letters to the boys who are in service especially the boy who has few relait always be a reminder of your many

Lieut. Gen. McNaughton Inspects C.P.R. Tanks

THE stepped-up tempo of tank production at Angus Shops, Montreal, was evident everywhere
when Lieut. Gen. A. G. L. Mc-Naughton made a detailed inspection of the big Canadian Pacific plant, whose machinery is turning out increasing numbers of medium weight "Valentines" for the armed forces.

Accompanied by ranking officials of the Canadian Army and senior officers of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Canada's No. 1 soldier received a first hand picture of tank construction from the smallest parts to the finished product. He displayed keen interest in the construction of the speedy war machines, a type that has been highly praised by the Russians on the field of battle.

Highlight of General Mc-Naughton's visit followed the shop inspection when six of the khaki-painted "Valentine" tanks, fresh from the Angus shops assembly line, raced out on the shops midway, where they wheeled, plumed, and went through various other tactics to show their manoeuvrability.

Angus-built tanks awaiting shipment for "active service". Inset:
Gen. McNaughton comments on some detail of tank construction.
Others in the group include (left to right) H. B. Bowen, chief of motive power and rolling stock;
Brig-Gen. E. de B. Panet, Officer Commanding, M.D. 4; J. H.
Berry, director general of automobile and tank production; Lieut.
Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of the Canadian General Staff; D. C.

Role of The British Merchant Marine In The War

"...So long as fighting continues it is vital that these ships continue to sail the seas; that their losses be made good; that their cargoes reach port; that the men who sail them be protected...."

There are many campaigns in a war and pressure on one front may be eased when another front is opened; there is time to bring up reinforcements and even to rest. But in the campaign in which the merchant ships are engaged—the ships which bring supplies, arms and munitions—there is no respite. From the moment that war is declared, merchant ships are targets and there is never a time when the enemy slackens his efforts to destroy them. There is no safe place for them—not even in harbor.

In peaceful times Great Britain alone requires seventy million tons of shipping to bring her imports from overseas, and she herself supplies a third of the world's merchant ships. But now it is not only Britain's food which must be carried by the merchant fleet. The fleet must bring arms from America and carry them to every front; planes must go to Russia, food and munitions to the armies in Africa and Asia and troops everywhere. All this burden must be carried by the merchantmen. Each commodity is as essential as the other; each need, in each place, is as pressing as any other.

Speed is absolutely vital. Without the merchant service, all other fighting services would be immobilized and disarmed. The ultimate fate of all the democracies depends, in fact, on about 300,000 seamen. And these men, though exposed continually to attack by torpedo, mine and gunfire, are civilians carrying out a civilian's job. They are not trained for fighting or for sea strategy. Self defense is an extra, something they have to take on when the course of their work is interrupted by enemy attack. Their ships are peacetime vessels, not armored against torpedoes or explosives of any kind, not built to carry their present cargoes or to skirmish with submarines.

No Longer Private

At the outbreak of war the Merchant Service ceased to be a private profit making enterprise: individual lines of trade had to be sacrificed in order to share out the ships and men among the various and urgent demands of war. A large part of the Merchant Marine is busy in peacetime carrying goods to foreign countries and bringing home those that the market demands, whether they are essential or not; now there is only room for essentials. But this is not the only change the war brings. Ships cannot no longer follow their old routes; they can no longer carry the cargoes for which they were built; they can no longer steam along at the speeds for which they were constructed. The whole merchant fleet, in war, becomes part of the war machine and must be adapted to whatever is required of it. This applies to ships and to men.

Consequently a new Ministry of Shipping (which later became the Ministry of War Transport) came into being at the outbreak of war and took control of every ship on the register of the United Kingdom. The extent to which each type of ship is controlled varies a little, but generally speaking it may be said that the Government directs all ships, hiring them from the owners (who continue to engage the crews, supply stores and manage the ships in the ordinary sense). Ships sent to whatever port the Government orders, take on the cargoes the Government directs, and accept the freight rates laid down by the Government. The seamen have been organized into a "pool," which is drawn upon as ships' crews are needed, but they are paid wages while they wait for a berth and are not free to refuse or accept any particular ship at will. Insurance is dealt with under the Government War Risks Insurance Office, since no organization normally undertaking insurance of ships for peacetime could handle the increased risks of war. Shipbuilding for the Merchant Service is transferred to the Admiralty, the Government advising on the types required.

The complications of putting a huge peacetime fleet into war service can scarcely be comprehended by the layman. It is not easy to transfer ships to other than their usual work, or to fill one kind of gap without leaving another. For instance, the great passenger liners were enlisted at once as auxiliary cruisers, hospital ships or troop transports. Yet these were the vessels which had large refrigerated space and their withdrawal from trade meant that the tonnage available for perishable food was seriously diminished. On the other hand, in the case of the banana transports, it was a matter of sacrificing food for space. Bananas are a valuable food and a special fleet of fine ships, having great compartments in which to hang the fruit, had been built up for their transport. This space was considered too valuable to be devoted even to bananas, and the whole fleet was put to other uses. Ordinary cargo vessels—the "tramp" steamers—are now used on the routes covered before by the large fast liners, but they cannot make the speed of the liners and convoys must go slowly accordingly.

The Battle With Time

Then there is the constant battle with time. The old trade routes in many cases do not exist in wartime, and the new routes are much longer. Timber, steel and ferro-alloys which came from Scandinavia must now come from America; iron ore from Sweden and France must come from much further away; Australia and New Zealand supply the dairy produce which once made only a one-or two day voyage from Denmark and Holland. Cargoes from the East must make the long voyage around the Cape instead of through the Mediterranean. Delays must occur as convoys are assembled and the convoys can sail only at the speed of the slowest ship.

There is delay from the need for repairs, which is more frequent than in peacetime, not only because of enemy action, but because of the wear and tear on the ships. Ships sailing in convoy in rough seas are a danger to one another and accidents do occur. Moreover, convoy routes do not take account of weather conditions and ships carrying heavy cargoes of, say, steel, will suffer to some extent when they plough through heavy North Atlantic seas. To add to all this, there is the delay from continual and unpredictable enemy attacks, both on sea and in port. "Delay," said Mr. R. Cross, when Minister of Shipping, "is Public enemy No. 1 of our internal administration.... and I feel that to the very end of the war this is a battle which will still be waged by my Ministry and a battle in which, however well we may do, we shall never be wholly satisfied...."

For the Duration

The vessels which have been taken into national service "for the duration" and which are now employed, in any cases, on such strange and difficult duties, cover about every variety of ship. There are the great liners, many of which are now actually part of the Navy. Their saloons and dining rooms and lounges have been stripped of panelling and tapestries. Children's nurseries have been converted into gun crews' shelters; suites of cabins have been demolished to form mess decks. They carry naval guns and are manned by naval reserves. They may be at sea for weeks and even months without coming to port. Such a vessel as this was the Rawalpindi, which was lost fighting against heavy odds, in the winter of 1940. Though they are heavily armed and though their job is to engage the enemy where they may be found, these ships are not heavily armored, nor, of course, are they constructed for combat.

At the other end of the passenger vessel type, there are the paddle steamers, which used to take crowds of holiday makers for trips along the coast. Many of these have been transferred into miniature men-of-war; with a few guns and a small crew of Royal Naval Reserve boats like these may be sent on any job—minesweeping is a usual one. They were used as troop transports, too, while there was still an expeditionary force in France.

Fishing Trawlers

Clear telephone lines for ALL-OUT PRODUCTION

OTHER "WARTIME TELEPHONE TACTICS"

1. BE SURE you have the right number... consult the directory.
2. SPEAK distinctly, directly into the mouthpiece.
3. ANSWER promptly when the bell rings.
4. USE OFF-PEAK hours for Long Distance calls: before 9:30 a.m., 1-2 p.m., 5-7 p.m., after 9 p.m.

These things may look trifling, but on 6,500,000 daily telephone calls, they are very important.

On Active Service

Giving Wings to Words

the coast, and even fairly far out to sea, cleared of fixed and floating mines. It is, perhaps, one of the most dangerous and uncomfortable services of defense. There is no safety for the ship against the unseen floating mine, and very little safety, except for the light guns they carry and the crew's own rifles, against enemy aircraft. Never for one second, may the lookouts and skippers relax their vigilance—a floating mine or a periscope may be visible for only a split second. It is monotonous work, the quarters are cramped and, in the North Sea at least, it is bitterly cold. The crews manning the minesweepers are usually commanded by Naval Reserve men who have been in the Merchant Marine, and manned by fishermen, and by amateur seamen who have sailed or fished as recreation, but who may never have had professional training for a sea career. For instance, one paddle steamer's crew now trawling for mines includes a postman, a bricklayer, a bootmaker and a surveyor. The officers include an architect, a chartered accountant and a bank clerk.

The fishermen of Britain have flocked made up from trawlers and from smaller fishing craft and launches. This patrol is a kind of sentry line which is on guard all around the coast of Britain inside the outer patrol, which is formed by the warships. Like sentries, too, these small boats plough up and down between two points, making contact with each other and flashing recognition signals to incoming boats. It is their job to send back to the shore any news of approaching enemies, and it would be their duty to face the enemy ships, should they penetrate the outer circle of patrols.

Fishermen

The fishing fleet—trawlers, drifters, motor vessels and the rest—in fact take on themselves a very important part of the defense of the British Isles. In most cases their crews are volunteers who have given up their work to do a job which means continual discomfort and the smallest possible measure of personal safety. Many fishermen have not been allowed to volunteer; for all the need for minesweepers and patrol boats, the Government has to keep a delicate

THE WEEKLY NEWS

BY MURDIE McDONALD

Experts are predicting further curtailment in the production of goods for civilian use. Ocean shipping losses are adding to the difficulty of importing certain basic commodities. The most important shortages are in metals and rubber. A big shrinkage in the supply of oil is foreshadowed and the use of tin in support of the canning trade is to be practically eliminated. Quotas have been arranged regarding the output of refrigerators, washing machines, stoves, vacuum cleaners, electric irons, toasters and other articles, but it is feared that the supplies of essential materials to fill these quotas will not be available.

Scientists at the meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy declared that following the war Canada may never again want the rubber of Malaya and the Netherlands East Indies, this being based on the steps being taken for the manufacture of synthetic rubber and the utilization of our immense oil resources in this direction. It is announced from Ottawa that a government owned corporation will embark on the production of synthetic rubber, four plants to be opened in Ontario with a capacity of 34,000 long tons a year. This may be regarded as just a step in the full out manufacture of synthetic rubber with oil as the basic of the industry.

Arrangements has been arrived at between the Provincial Government and the Ontario Medical Association whereby old age pensioners and persons receiving mothers' allowances, and their dependents, will be given free medical attention. This is an extension of the present system of granting free medical aid to persons on relief. It is estimated that 95,000 persons will benefit by this new departure, but details of registration and identification cards have yet to be worked out.

Under the agreement arrived at, the Government will pay .50 cents per person per month and the medical fees will be sent to local committees set up throughout the province. In Northern Ontario, because of the increased mileage involved, a fee of 65 cents per person per month will be allowed. The Government fee of 50 cents per person covers only home and office calls, persons requiring hospital treatment and surgery will come under the provisions of existing regulations and will be sent to public wards in hospitals. All individuals will have a free choice of doctors, as will doctors, as many engaged in industrial works will not care to come under the plan. There are 3,000 doctors in Ontario who now participate in the existing plan regarding relief recipients which has been in existence for 6 years and has proved highly satisfactory.

Pity the poor municipality in times such as these. The Federal authorities are reaching out for more and more taxes. The Ontario Government declares there will be no more subsidies for new highways. And as time goes on municipalities are finding it more and more difficult to raise revenue. As an added burden, the Provincial Government after April 1st will pay only 50 per cent of the cost of unemployment relief instead of 75 per cent as formerly, leaving the municipalities to furnish the balance. This is a policy of dollar for dollar as announced by the Minister of Public Welfare who points out that with one exception other provinces do not provide Government subsidies for the care of unemployable persons. He further adds that only 0.8 per cent of the total population is in need of assistance at the present time, more people being gainfully employed than at any period in the history of the province.

Honourable Mr. Oliver states that the granting of unemployment relief commenced as an emergency undertaking and has cost the provincial government in excess of $100,000,000. In the past decade. Total expenditures of approximately $230,000,000 have been made by the Provincial and Dominion and Municipal authorities.

When the members of the Toronto City Council with only two dissenters come out flat footed for the curbing of beverage rooms, it indicates that the movement for putting the skids under the liquor traffic is gathering impetus. As a rule the Toronto City Fathers follow the line of least resistance, and the action pursued shows that the Aldermen are listening to their constituents. Not only did the councillors demand the abolition of beverage rooms for women and the shortening of hours of sale, but they favored also clearing out all tables and chairs from these places of relaxation and refreshment.

This latter reform was advocated in the Legislature by Holly Acres two years ago but was not received with any great sign of approval. Holly, who is a good judge of human nature, declared that if men had to stand up and drink their beer they would not be found loitering around beverage rooms for two or three hours at a stretch. The churches have commended the action of the city council, but Premier Hepburn has the last say, and he has stated emphatically that he does not intend to make any changes in the liquor regulations during the duration of the war. The Temperance forces will likely be obliged to again address the Federal Government for any change in present conditions.

GIRL, SIX, KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY CAR AT MARMORA

Six-year-old Jean Rennie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Rennie, of Marmora, was instantly killed there Friday night when she was struck by an automobile.

The little girl was returning home from school when the accident occurred only a block from her home. She is alleged to have darted across Highway 7 in front of her sister, just as a car driven by Clarence McCoy of Marmora was passing. The impact tossed the girl to the pavement, while the car continued on a distance past the girl. She died almost instantly.

Witnesses to the accident stated the girl was standing on the edge of the road, talking to another girl on the sidewalk, and turned and ran in front of the car.

Coroner Dr. J. Nickle of Madoc ordered an inquest. Traffic Patrolman J. Hatch of Belleville investigated the accident.

TAKE CARE OF WASHING MACHINE—IT MUST LAST

Washing machines are largely made of steel—so are shells and tanks and guns. Rubber, aluminum and bronze are also used in their makeup and an electric motor makes them work. All these materials are needed for munitions.

But even if the materials were not needed the skilled labor that goes into their manufacture would be because every pair of hands is required to provide Canada's armed forces with weapons of war.

Because of all these things a washing machine in wartime is a precious possession and cannot easily be repaired or replaced. Here are some rules to observe in taking care of the machine you have:

(1) Don't overload or wash too long. Follow carefully the manufacturers' directions as to the size of the load and the length of the washing period. This will save energy and avoid overtaxing the motor.

(2) Keep very clean. Rinse after use and dry the tub if it is made of metal. If it has a wooden tub keep a little clean water in it between washing days.

(3) Release pressure on the wringer rolls directly after use, and wipe them with a damp cloth. If stained, clean with kerosene and then rinse with soapy water. Don't put too much clothing through the wringer at once, and fold buttons and buckles inside the garments.

(4) Follow the manufacturers' directions for oiling the motor, and other parts. Don't oil too liberally.

(5) Never start the motor with the washer or wringer in gear.

ROLE OF THE BRITISH MERCHANT MARINE IN WAR

balance between the requirements of defense and the national food problem. Fish, more than ever before, is now an important part of the nation's diet, since it does not have to be imported.

Other little ships which have been taken into service include tugs, which instead of guiding vessels up and down a well known course to the dock, now have to rush out to sea to bring back injured ships, to rescue crews or repair ships that could continue if given first aid. Other small ships form the balloon barrage around the coast—there is little help for them if they are attacked by invading craft. Others go out with depth charges and hunt the submarine.

It was small boats such as these, and even smaller craft such as rowing boats, which, when the call went out for volunteers, swarmed across the channel, unarmed and under constant fire, to help the Navy pick up the men waiting on the Dunkirk beaches. Many of those were not even manned by service men; they were taken out by their owners, even by women and young boys. But that story can be better read in John Masfield's "Nine Days Wonder", and is too great an epic to summarize.

Most of the ships on active service, either in defense or as armed cruisers, are now merchantmen which carry food, arms, raw materials, and which transport the troops, are still part of the Merchant Navy, and are manned by civilian seamen. These ships were not at first armed but it soon became clear that they must be given some means of defending themselves against surprise attacks by the enemy. So now nearly all merchantmen and fishing boats carry defensive guns. They are mounted on the after part of the ship and can only come into operation when the vessel is turned away from the attacker. Seamen can volunteer for a two weeks' training in gunnery. As a result of this, merchantmen have fought out engagements with aircraft and with submarines, and have not only driven away attackers but actually destroyed the enemy in many cases.

So long as fighting continues it is vital that these ships continue to sail the seas; that their losses be made good, that their cargoes reach port, that the men who sail them be protected. Convoys is the best method of ensuring their safety—though at best this is only a partial insurance and strains the resources of a Navy which is needed in every ocean. A convoy officer is stationed at every port at home and abroad who collects the merchant ships as they complete their cargoes and organizes them into convoys. The ships sail in several columns which steam abreast of one another, each ship keeping as close as possible to the one ahead and all steering a zig-zag course. The accompanying warships steam alongside and ahead of the columns and sometimes circle about the merchantmen like a sheepdog, keeping the lagging ones up to the line.

Loud Speakers

Sailing in convoy is not an easy matter for merchant ships. The crews are not trained in anti-submarine maneuvers and all the other tricks which the naval man is brought up to. The masters of the merchant ships are used to being in command of their own vessels; they are now under orders from their naval escort. Oddly enough, a good deal of the strain of this divided authority has been eased by the introduction of loud speakers—instead of running up peremptory signals, the escort may steam up to a vessel and shout a friendly warning. Then there are all the perils of proximity—particularly great during fog—which even in peacetime are dangerous and nerve-wracking; in wartime, when a ship is steaming along almost touching its companion ahead, in complete darkness, in perhaps, a narrow channel where turning even slightly off the course means running into a minefield, a fog is an unimaginable horror.

Above all, the men of a merchantman know that if they are unlucky, if they are hit by a torpedo while in convoy, they cannot be waited for—the other ships must go on and not risk exposure themselves, though the accompanying warship will try to pick up survivors. Then, merchantmen are not built, as warships are built, to withstand attack. In warships, for instance, the compartments are small and watertight so that flooding can be restricted. But merchantmen are built to carry as large a cargo as possible—bulkheads and watertight compartments have been sacrificed for maximum storage in large holds. The plates of its "shell" are seldom more than half an inch thick.

The men of the Merchant Navy wear no uniforms—only a badge with the letters M.N.—their work does not receive much public recognition, yet every voyage they make is a test of endurance and resolution. No British ship has ever failed to sail because a crew could not be found and men who have been picked up from open boats after weeks of exposure on the ocean sign on for another ship as soon as they reach shore. A reading of the awards made by the King or by Lloyd's for gallantry at sea reveals deeds that equal any exploits carried out on the land or in the air.

Two Records of Bravery

Here are two records from many, which show not only the personal bravery but also the devotion to duty and resourcefulness, which every seaman is bringing to his job. A tanker carrying thousands of tons of petrol was proceeding in convoy. The weather was dull and equally, with a moderate sea. She was in dangerous waters and a sharp lookout was being kept. She had just changed her position in the convoy, according to orders from the Commodore of the escorting ship, when aircraft was sighted—an enemy machine. It turned in and made a low level attack on the tanker and, from a height of only seventy or eighty feet above the bridge, fired its machine gun and cannon as it swept by. Then it turned and released a bomb. There was a tremendous explosion, two men were killed and flames shot up on the starboard side of the boat deck on the poop superstructure.

There is little hope for an oil tanker when a big fire breaks out, but while the gunners went to the high-angle gun, the fire squad rushed to the flames. The ammunition had caught fire.

The Captain gave orders for the ammunition to be dumped overboard; the magazine was flaming and there was no time to be lost. Able Seaman Dryden came forward as a volunteer. He went into the magazine, flooded the compartment and dumped the ammunition overboard. In the official recorder's account it is simply written "Mr. W. J. Dryden, Able Seaman, thereupon emptied the 4.7 magazine." All this time, the ship was still in convoy. The captain—Captain Jury—had, throughout the attack and the fire, to maneuver his ship so as to keep his fire to leeward. All this he managed to do. In forty-five minutes the fire were out and the escorting destroyer was informed that the ship was able to proceed as before. The vessel then proceeded on her course and in due time delivered her cargo of oil, "providing", as the official record put it, "another example of the ability of the Service to get their ships safely to port without abandonment to the enemy."

Hear Explosions

Many of the crew, of course, do not even have the excitement of battle. The men below, who run the engines, hear and feel the explosions but cannot leave their work to see or take part in the work above decks. The hope of escape for these men is very small—they have slight chance of reaching a boat if the ship sinks. A ship which, recently, came into a British port was saved by the cool-headedness of one of these below-deck men—the chief engine man. His ship was attacked by an enemy plane and the bombs so seriously damaged her that she stopped altogether. Two of the discharge castings had been torn away from the ship's side below the waterline. The chief engine man climbed at great risk to the top of the drain tank, pressed the life-saving waistcoat which he was wearing (every seaman now has to wear one) into one of the holes and plugged the other with some of his clothes. He stopped other holes with plugs passed down to him by the crew.

Then in a few minutes more bombs were dropped and the reversing wheel came off its shaft. In response to orders, the engine man stopped the vessel and then refitted the reversing wheel. A fourth attack was made, by machine guns this time, and the engine room was filled with steam. Full steam ahead was ordered. The cranks were picking up water, but the engine man kept the leaks under control. He climbed a ladder in the stokehold, found the escape of steam and stopped it. It is upon the efforts of single individual—seamen such as these—civilians whose daily work is now carried on among the greatest perils of warfare—that vital cargoes may depend, and on those cargoes, again may hang the fate of an army—indeed of whole nations.

DEMOREST—KEEGAN

A quiet, but pretty wedding ceremony was solemnized at two-thirty p.m. on Saturday afternoon, March 14, in Bridge Street parsonage, Belleville, by Rev. Dr. James Semple, pastor of Bridge Street United Church, when Mary, Gloria Nella Keegan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Keegan, of Belleville, formerly of Stirling, became the bride of Charles Ransom Demorest, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Demorest, of Belleville.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and looked charming in a gown of navy blue triple sheer with matching accessories. Her only ornament was a gold locket and a corsage of "True Love" roses and fern.

She was attended by Mrs. L. Glover, of Trenton, sister of the groom, wearing a pale blue frock of Miracle crepe with gold trimming and a corsage of pink roses and fern.

Mr. Arthur Demorest, Belleville, brother of the groom, attended the groom.

The bride's mother wore a dark crepe frock, and the groom's mother wore a blue crepe frock.

Immediately after the ceremony the guests repaired to the home of the groom's mother, where the wedding supper for the newlyweds was served with about fifteen immediate relatives in attendance.

Later the newlyweds left on their honeymoon to Windsor and other points. They will reside in Amherstburg.

SARLES—MASON

Springbrook United Church parsonage was the scene of a quiet wedding ceremony on Thursday, March 12th, when Laura Clarice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Mason, became the bride of Thomas Stanley Sarles of Stirling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah T. Sarles, of West Huntingdon. Rev. R. H. Young of Springbrook United Church officiated.

The bride was charmingly gowned in a frock of Queen's blue crepe, blue off-the-face hat with veil of matching shade and matching accessories and wore a corsage of Tallman roses and forget-me-nots. The couple were unattended.

Directly after the ceremony, the bridal couple left for a brief wedding trip to several Western Ontario points. Upon their return they will reside in Stirling where the popular young groom is employed as a cheesemaker.

WOMAN TORTURER GETS 2 YEARS

Mrs. Madeline Morgan, 29, of Roslin, the 300-pound woman who clipped a piece off her stepdaughter's tongue, was sentenced Thursday. Appearing before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd of Northbrook, in the Hastings County Court, Mrs. Morgan pleaded guilty to two charges, one of maiming her stepdaughter and the other of assault occasioning actual bodily harm. On the first charge she received two years less a day determinate and three months indeterminate, while on the second she received six months in the reformatory, to run concurrently with the other sentence.

LIBRARY CORNER

Following is a review of several books on the shelves of the Stirling Public Library.

"Secret Agent of Japan", by Ameto Despa.

This is a hand-book to Japanese Imperialism. It is an inside story of unquestionably unique value exposing as it does the whole system of organized injustice by which few govern many; so characteristic of the Japanese army's method of ruling new subjects.

"Botany Bay" by Charles Nordoff and Norman Hall.

The main events of this novel rest solidly on fact and give us a story of the penal settlement that was Australia's first colony. For colorful and venture this book ranks with "Mutiny on the Bounty" by the same author.

"The World's Need of Christ," by Charles Ellwood.

In this book is set forth the high purpose of restoring Christ to the centre of all human relationships. It challenges social intelligence to seek the only possible solution in this problem of increasing conflict.

"Burma Road" by Nicol Smith....

An entirely new kind of travel book, a personal narrative revealing glimpses of people living in a land strange and but little known. He sees astonishing things and tells startling stories; an instructive and timely volume—intensely interesting.

CHECKER TOURNAMENT

The Eastern Ontario Checker Tournament, will be held on Easter Monday, April 6, 1942, in the Y.M.C.A. Building, 20 Campbell Street, in Belleville, Ont., for the Championship for the Counties of Prince Edward, Hastings, Northumberland, Peterborough, Renfrew, and all Counties East to the Quebec Border. A beautiful Silver Trophy goes to the winner, there will also be cash prizes offered as arranged by the committee before play begins.

Play begins at 2 p.m. D.S.T., and will continue until the tournament is finished.

There will be A and B Classes. The Silver Trophy must be played for each year.

Play will be under the two move restrictions.

Come along and enjoy a holiday and bring a friend and don't forget to bring your checker board.

EVEN HOT DOGS ARE SUBJECT TO CEILING

Even the humble hot-dog, favorite with the patrons of roadside refreshment stands, is not exempt from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board's price control. The price charged for the hot-dog during the coming summer season, it is provided, shall not exceed that charged in the same establishment last season. And just as much mustard as ever must accompany it.

Andy Clarke, in his broadcast reports a poem said to have been written by a Harriston lady for the North Wellington Loan-headquarters. It ran something like this:

To keep our ships on an even keel
Takes tons and tons of corset steel.
The die is cast, our fate is written,
We women now must bulge for Britain.

INCOME TAX ODDITIES

A married man without dependents is allowed an exemption of $1,500 per year, so to illustrate the point we'll take just such a fellow and make an example of him. On his 1,500 a year he does not own a country house, but his work is congenial and the hours are light. But goaded along by the little woman, he seeks promotion to a harder job with longer hours but which pays him $2,160. That puts him smack into the income-taxpaying class. On the extra $660 he will have to cough up $99, over and above his defence tax.

If, instead of glowing with ambition, he is a lazy galoot who believes that work is for horses and mules, he won't take the job. He solves the need for extra cash by getting a job for the little woman at $660 per year. The family income is the same, $2,160, but no income tax is paid. Thus they are better off by $99 a year.

But if, in the course of the year, the wife gets a raise in pay of $10 a month, the husband gets it in the neck. Her income becomes $780 a year and the family income $2,280. The husband's exemption is cut to $750, so he has to pay 16 per cent. on the other $750, or $112.50. His wife will pay 15 per cent. on $30, or $4.50.

"There's a War On!"

A sign displayed in the window of a Birmingham shop has attracted many passers-by. It reads:

No chocolates.
No matches.
No cigarettes and No Soap.
No wisecracks.

One man, after seeing this, walked into the shop and asked the assistant "Have you anything at all to sell?"

"Yes", she replied—"the shop!"

"BE NOT A TALEBEARER!"

Spreading erroneous reports, either thoughtlessly or maliciously, may do much harm. Ill-matured gossip is generally regarded as petty, and is rightly condemned by thinking people. The fact, however, that erroneous thinking and evil speaking, if not corrected, may effect the human system is not so generally known. When the harmful effects of evil-speaking are better understood, people will take more care not to be talebearers.

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, in the textbook of Christian Science, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," writes (p. 187), "The valves of the heart, opening and closing for the passage of the blood, obey the mandate of mortal mind as directly as does the hand, admittedly moved by the will."

No one can be a talebearer who entertains only good thoughts. These thoughts will promote the harmonious action of the body; and as men's hearts beat with love and compassion the brotherhood of man will increasingly be manifested on earth.

Mankind will be better, happier, and more prosperous when these

Pancake Tea At Allan's School

Interesting Program Presented by Pupils Under Direction of Their Teacher

On Friday evening a most successful pancake supper was served at the Allan School to nearly one hundred and twenty-five guests. A bevy of waitresses cooked and served golden brown pancakes topped with maple syrup along with various kinds of sandwiches, cakes, tarts, pickles and coffee. Besides the people in the community several guests were present from Stirling, Trenton and nearby points. Two long tables along the west of the school and a smaller table seated about forty guests while the school children ate in their school seats. The pancakes were cooked on several hot plates in the teacher's room and the supper was most appetizing.

About 9 p.m., the pupils under the direction of their teacher, Miss Esma Cole staged an interesting programme. Mr. Hazell, music teacher, of Campbellford played a musical interlude, while the last table were eating and he accompanied the children on the piano for their choruses.

The school pupils sang several choruses and then the six junior pupils delighted with several numbers.

The pupils then presented a novel Junior Red Cross Marionette play, with Narrator, Gordon Reid—A street scene with a horse and wagon which caused heaps of merriment.

A Blitz Scene—with a cockney warden and a little girl.

A canteen girl appears and tells how the Canadian Junior Red Cross have extended their efforts. Thousands of afghans, enormous quantities of clothing and toilet articles, complete outfits of clothing for boys and girls of school age in bombed areas have been given by Juniors and sent overseas through this organization.

During the school year of 1941 the Canadian Juniors have given fourteen mobile kitchens for use in Britain at a cost of over $40,000. One station wagon and five ambulances have been given since war was declared.

The Canadian Junior Red Cross are endeavouring now, more than ever before to live up to their motto—I serve.

Richard Walls, Lois Weaver and Ruth Rose delighted with a trio.

Miss Cole thanked all who had in any way helped to make the meeting a success and votes of thanks were tendered teachers, pupils and Mr. Hazell.

Mr. Kenneth Weaver very capably took charge of the auction sale of articles which the children and their parents had made and donated to help along the cause.

These consisted of aprons, baskets of apples, lawn ornaments, bird houses, bread boards, kitchen accessories, towels, pot holders, tie holders, book ends, men's mitts, knitted mitts, and various other useful articles including luncheon cloths and groceries.

A beautiful knitted afghan was on display which had been knitted in squares from yarn.

This afghan will be sent to the soldiers unless some one wishes to buy it.

The school was nicely decorated with a draped flag and the new electric lights made a perfect setting for this gala event.

The proceeds of the evening was fifty-five dollars clear of expenses and this was given to Mrs. Edgar McKeown, chairlady of this ward for Red Cross purposes.

CONCERT AND PIE SOCIAL WELL ATTENDED

Many people enjoyed themselves at a concert and pie-social at the Spry School, S.S. No. 15 Rawdon, Friday evening. After an excellent program of songs, music and humorous dialogues, one of which featured some young and old dandies, the lucky ticket for a quilt, made by the ladies of the community was drawn. A beautiful lunch was served. The net proceeds from the concert and tickets, amounting to $26.70, will be sent to the British War Victims' Fund.

Inspector Here

Mr. A. W. McCulloch, of Tweed, Inspector of Public Schools in Centre Hastings, made his official inspection of Stirling Public School on Monday and Tuesday of this week. While the report of his inspection will not be available for some time, it is understood that the inspector found the work of the staff and pupils at the local institution quite satisfactory.

The regular meeting of Girl Guides met as usual in the Community Hall on Monday evening.

While Dorothy Corfe taught a tenderfoot class of fifteen—"knots", a Court of Honour meeting was held with six present.

It was decided that a canvas of town be made to collect waste material (proceeds to be forwarded for B.V.V.F.) in about two weeks.

Games and dancing were enjoyed in the recreation period with June Woodcock as pianist.

Patrols were formed and in horse shoe, taps were sung after which the meeting was dismissed by the Captain.

Quinte Seed Fair Champion

J. M. Carl, Stirling, presented with Watch—Other Dist. Exhibitors do Well

Bringing honour to himself and Hastings County, J. M. Carl, of Stirling, captured the grand championship of the Quinte Seed Fair, which concluded in Kingston on Friday last. As a result of his win he received a handsome, suitably engraved gold watch presented by the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association.

Besides winning the championship in the oats section, Mr. Carl annexed the most first prizes in other classes shown. He took first in late oats; first in rye; first in field peas; first in soy beans; won the special for one bushel of oats and placed sixth in winter wheat. Harry Coulter, Foxboro, won the wheat title, while Thos. Watt & Son annexed the barley championship.

Other district prize-winners who finished well in the running are C. H. Ketcheson, Sidney; Harry Redner, Ameliasburg; R. Vanderwater, Foxboro; Oscar Parks, Bloomfield.

Roy Harrison, Plainfield, did well in the grain exhibits. He placed in first late oats, barley, any six rows and spring wheat, also annexing first in late oats, barley and winter wheat in the junior section as well as other placements in various sections of the exhibit.

Speakers at various meetings held during the fair included Principal McPhail, Kemptville; Prof. A. E. Ness, Quebec and others.

Old Neighbors Attend Birthday Gathering

"Happy Birthday To You" was the theme song of a friendly gathering on Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Warren Preston at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. T. Elliott, and Mr. Elliott, Front St.

The get-together was the happy idea of the members of the W.A. of Mrs. Preston's old home church, Tabernacle United, in Murray Township. Between forty and fifty people were present—people among whom Mrs. Preston spent many years in church and neighborhood activities, and whose thoughtfulness in making this friendly gesture she greatly appreciated.

Rev. W. Deive, of the Wooler Circuit, and Mrs. Deive, were among the guests, and unexpected but very warmly welcomed also were Mrs. Preston's eldest daughter and grandsons, Mrs. Harry Phillip, Bobbie and Bryce, from Nestleton.

A big birthday cake gave the proper finishing touch to the occasion, and as the candles were blown out with a birthday wish, her old friends and neighbors all wished a year of good for their honoured guest, and joined heartily in singing "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow."

Farmers Cannot Leave Farms

Prime Minister Mackenzie King outlined in the House of Commons on Tuesday new regulations restricting employment in non-essential civilian occupations, increasing to 30 years the age limit for compulsory service in Canada and conserving the available farm labor.

Among main points of the new program are:

1. Establishment of a directorate of national selective service under Labor Minister Mitchell, the director to be B. M. Little, present director of the Wartime Bureau of Technical Personnel, who will be assisted by an elaborate organization of appeal board and volunteer advisory committees. Associate director will be Paul Goulet of Montreal.

2. Obligation on the part of employers to release for essential war service and reinstatement afterward professional technicians who consent to entering service allocated to them by the Government.

3. Prohibition of employment, except under certain conditions, of male applicants for work in a long list of non-war occupations, unless the applicant has a release from a national selective service officer.

4. Exemption from compulsory military training and service of farmers, farmers' sons and agricultural workers, unless it is established they are not essential to farm production.

5. Prohibition against farm workers leaving the farms to take other employment, except to enter active military service in Canada, or for seasonal work in primary industries.

6. A proposal to select single men and childless widowers up to thirty years of age for compulsory training and service in Canada by drawing lots over the whole field of those subject to call and extension of the liability for service to all residents of Canada in the age classes, whether British citizens or not.

7. Provision of free medical treatment for those who have been rejected by the armed forces on physical grounds, providing they undertake to enlist when made fit.

8. Establishment of personnel management classes in co-operation with educational institutions to prepare men for industrial posts in essential industries.

9. A widespread campaign to get women into industry, thus releasing men for war service and employment in essential war work.

10. A national registration to be conducted by all employers under direction of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Glen Ross Wins Championship

Defeat West Huntingdon in Second Game 10 to 1 — Score on Round 14 to 4

For the fourth year in succession Glen Ross are champions of the Central Hastings Rural Hockey League by virtue of their second straight win over West Huntingdon on Thursday night at the Stirling Arena, by a score of 10-1. Playing on poor ice the winners were far superior to their opponents in every department on the night's play and from the time the first goal was scored there was no doubt as to the outcome.

The opening period saw Glen Ross take a four goal lead with H. Hagerman, G. Pyear (2) and Tucker counting. This was increased in the second period with "Wimpy" Vandervoort getting two and Brooks and Martin one each. The losers counted their lone tally in this round with Don Wright being the marksman. Two more were added to the winners' total in the final period by Brooks and D. Pyear.

The game was free from any deliberate roughness and only three penalties were handed out by referee Hackney.

Glen Ross: goal, B. Hagerman; defence, Brooks and Morrow; centre, H. Hagerman; wings, Tucker and D. Pyear; subs, Vandervoort, Martin, G. Pyear and Brown.

West Huntingdon: goal, Saries; defence, Thompson and Wright; centre, Sills; wings, Fargey and Sills; subs, MacMullen, Thompson, Ashley and C. Wright.

Save Brass Ends Electric Bulbs

Even the common-place electric light bulbs, when saved as salvage, can contribute toward the war effort. It is pointed out by salvage committees. And when it is realized the average life of an electric light bulb is approximately two to three months every family could assist greatly in this way.

Only the brass ends are of use as salvage material, and the glass bulbs should be smashed so that no jagged ends remain and the end put away in a box or bag for the salvage collector.

Mt. Pleasant Y.P.U. Won Silver Cup

In competition with the Quaternion Y.P.U., of Belleville last night, the Mount Pleasant Young People's Union won the South Hastings District Young People's Drama Trophy. The competition was held in Tabernacle United Church, Belleville, and drew a good attendance. The Mount Pleasant group, under the direction of Mrs. Percy MacMullen, presented the one-act comedy, "The Loose Brick in the Chimney," to win the approval of the judges over their opponents, who have won the trophy for the past two years. This is the first time that Mount Pleasant has entered the competition and their win over their more experienced rivals reflects great credit on the members of the cast and their director. The members of the Mount Pleasant cast were, Misses Muriel Sine, Doris Sine, Eileen Macmullen and Messrs Geo. Young, Earl Rutten and Ormel MacMullen.

ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

Next Sunday, March 29th, has been set aside as a national day of prayer throughout Canada and the United Kingdom. The King has expressed the hope that his people wherever possible will "unite in giving thanks to Almighty God for past blessings and in humble prayer for strength and guidance in facing the task that lies ahead."

Services of prayer and intercession will be held in the various churches of the village and community and we urge our readers to attend.

SAVE THE LAWN

This is the time of year when pedestrians and motorists should do all in their power to prevent damage to the lawns in the village. Owing to the soft condition of the soil it is very easy to make ruts and holes in the turf and it is a difficult task to repair these, and requires a lot of time and attention. In this connection, we have noticed a number of young boys using the post office lawn as a playground at different times and the lawn is being punched full of holes. Stirling home owners take particular pride in their lawns and home surroundings and the general public should give them their fullest co-operation. Their thoughtfulness in this regard will be greatly appreciated.

DO YOUR BIT

"Before long the carrying of parcels may be looked upon as badge of patriotism," says James Stewart, administrator of services for the War-Time Prices and Trade Board, in announcing curtailment of retail deliveries. "People have been asking what they can do to help the war effort. By carrying small purchases instead of having them delivered, by ordering early and in quantities sufficient to avoid repeat orders, women can assist retailers in meeting this new condition. At the same time they will be rendering a real service in the conservation of vital materials."

An advertisement inserted by local merchants appears elsewhere in this issue, outlining the regulations regarding deliveries here.

TO HELP THE FARMERS

It is generally acknowledged that the farm labour problem in Ontario is critical. Thousands of acres are insufficiently manned to harvest the 1942 crop, even if the crop can be sown and planted. With young men who have deserted the farm to work in industrial plants making on a minimum of $120.00 a month, some plan will have to be devised to meet the situation. Farmers are unable to pay any such wages to induce men to return to the land.

Attorney General Conant recommends the utilization of the services of able bodied civilian aliens, provided they are willing to work. In doing so he had no reference to combatant prisoners of war who come under the provisions of the Geneva Convention of 1929. There would be no international difficulties in employing civilians who are enemy aliens or because of breaches of our laws or the Defense of Canada Regulations have been interned or are under surveillance. Many of these would welcome an opportunity to regain freedom and healthful work on farm and at the same time would cease to be a drain on the taxpayer.

If this matter could be arranged it would go some way in ameliorating the situation. Especially with the promise of the government that in harvest time competent helpers from soldier camps would be released to aid in gathering the crop. This of course would be augmented by the steps already taken by provincial authorities to secure women as well as juveniles of high school age to assist. It is also expected that the government will so arrange matters that essential farmers and farm labour will be given extended deferment from military training.

FAITH, COURAGE, DETERMINATION

There are three qualities that are sorely needed in these troublous days:

Faith: in our Cause, our Country and our Constitution.

Courage: to face facts, and the future and to fight valiantly for our Faith.

Faith is a thing of the spirit—it inspires us and leads us forward.

Courage makes us go forward. Determination keeps us going forward against all odds. And it is Determination that must be the keynote of our lives and outlook from our own personal affairs to those of Canada. There must be no faltering.

We must have Faith in ourselves. We must have ideals to have Faith in.

We must have Courage to make our Faith known. There must be an unshakeable resolve never to give in.

It is these three qualities that enable Britain to stand up so gallantly to the horrors of total war.

We must have them here in Canada if we are to give all-out help. They must be present in every phase of the national life.

It is not enough to say that the Government should do this or do that.

It is the responsibility of Every citizen to have Faith, Courage and Determination.

This is a Democracy. We the people, are the Government.

If we lack the qualities to go forward, the country as a whole cannot go forward. It is a question of individual responsibility.

Have you got your gasoline rationing book yet? Remember, no book and you get no gasoline.

Congratulations are extended the members of the Glen Ross Hockey Club who won the championship of the Central Hastings Rural Hockey League for the fourth year in succession on Thursday last.

The Windsor Star advances the suggestion that windshield labels be carried by all cars enjoying gasoline rationing categories higher than "A" in order to combat a great body of cheaters coming into existence in respect to gasoline rationing. Those who take an unpatriotic advantage of the laws would thus be advertised to the public. After hearing some of the claims advanced by motorists as reasons for being granted the higher categories the suggestion appears to have considerable merit.

It's to be forty miles per hour in your Jalopy from now until the end of the war according to an announcement over the radio by Hon. Mr. Howe, Minister of Munitions, Monday night. Furthermore, if and when your present tires wear out your motoring will cease till some time after the duration. In making this announcement, the Minister made it clear that oil and rubber are two of the prime necessities if we are going to win the war. True Canadians will accept the government's edict without a murmur, and do all in their power to conserve both these essential materials.

The campaign against the use of BB guns by small boys is growing in intensity all across the province. Injuries resulting from this type of gun are being reported from all sections and it appears that some action by the authorities is overdue. There should be far greater restrictions on the sale of these guns and ammunition to minors.

Time and events are proving that the Canadian public is receiving sugar-coated war news over the radio and through the press. Official communiques are not telling the whole story. In fact it has reached the point where many listeners put little credence anymore in what they read or hear on the war situation. Give us the news whether good or bad without any sugar and it will be much better for all.

Spring is in the air—the sap's running. Saturday last was the first day of Spring and while we may have the occasional chilly day, indications are that milder weather will soon be here to stay. According to many who own sugar bushes, the quantity of syrup to be offered for sale in Stirling district will be considerably below normal volume. The weather has been none too favourable and the lack of help has compelled a number of farmers to forego tapping this year.

We wonder how anyone who complains about restrictive measures being taken by the government to better the war effort would like to trade places with an average civilian on the British Isles. How would he like to be closely rationed as to the clothing he can buy, get around on seven gallons of gasoline a month with the prospect of losing that in July, pay 20 per cent of a $1,600 family income in taxes, be limited to approximately a pound of meat per person per week with little fish or poultry obtainable, get two to five eggs a month, half a pound of sugar a week, and do without green vegetables, fruit, or chocolate? It is under these conditions that the Britishers are carrying on.

The statement has often been made that "dairying has lifted the mortgage from many farms." There are many good reasons for this statement, and one of them is that the dairy cow is about the most economical producer of human food in existence. The food she produces is always in good demand and the prosperity of any farming community may be easily measured by the number of cows seen in the barnyards and pastures while passing through the country. With twenty-five cent cheese in the offing for the coming season the dairy cow should be even more valuable than usual to the farmer.

What Others Say

REMEMBER THIS

It is well to remember that to have respect for ourselves guides our morals; and to have a deference for others governs our manners.—Smith's Falls Record—News.

A LOT OF DRIVEL

What a lot of drivel has been spoken by members of all parties since the House of Commons opened for the current session! And at what cost! Little wonder the Member who was both wise and witty referred to Ottawa's Parliament Hill as being the largest gas station in Canada—gas and rubber stamps.—Araprior Chronicle.

MAY COME IN HANDY

There are still a few hitching posts on Winchester's Main Street. Some people have often wondered why they were not removed long ago. But just wait—these hitching posts will come in handy in a few months' time, when horses will no doubt replace the modern auto, due to the scarcity of rubber and gasoline. Who knows—maybe the old fashioned water-trough will also make its appearance on the main thoroughfares of many a town. Winchester Press.

TAP THOSE MAPLES

There has never been a year when farmers owning maple bush lots have been faced with such a serious responsibility. Every maple tree possible should be tapped this year to help fill the need brought about by the scarcity of sugar. Sugar making is hard, laborious work but war is demanding more and more from all of us and this is one place where nature lends a lot of assistance. We note that in one American city the residents are tapping the dozens of maples on the streets to help out the shortage.—Carleton Place Canadian.

THE SAD ENDING

The local labor union says that it has no more money to support the miners, who have not been taken back. The Provincial Government will not give them any relief. Application for relief has been made to the Teck Township Council, in which Kirkland Lake is situated, but what can it do when the Provincial Government will not assist? And all this misery and want due to the fact that glib tongued officials were allowed to come to our industrial centres and create unrest. —Pembroke Standard-Observer.

FARMERS ARE RESPONDING

The farmers of Canada are being praised for the way in which they are responding to the appeal for greater production. Here are some figures given out by the department. The exports of bacon alone have jumped from 170,000,000 pounds in 1938 to 464,000,000 pounds in 1941; and the contract for the third year of the war beginning last October calls for 600,000,000 pounds. Cheese exports which stood at 80,000 pounds in 1938, rose to 106,000,000 pounds in 1940, but unfortunately fell off to 92,000,000 pounds in 1941. Egg exports showed an increase of from 1,000,000 dozen in 1938 to 15,000,000 dozen in 1941. —Huntingdon Gleaner.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

We read with chagrin of increasing juvenile delinquency, such as office boys stealing cheques, youths robbing stores and purloining cars for joy rides.

It is no longer true that every little boy or girl born into this world is either a little Liberal or a little Conservative, but is certainly is true that most normal and healthy little boys and girls are mischievous monkeys who have to be taught, by word and example, the codes and customs of the curious world into which they have come.

Some of them are stupid or refractory pupils, and others are not taught at all or are given a living picture of gangsterism at the movies. This is the chief reservoir of the so called criminal classes. Thus we are driven back from the children to their parents, from the parents to the home, and from the home to the social, economic and industrial conditions that have created the gangrene of the slums.

We wish well to all pro-children movements, but it is not much use polishing up the front door handle if inside the house there are equal dirt, ignorance and disorderly living.

There will always be juvenile delinquency so long as children love a rosy apple and there is one for the taking, but we shall get rid of much of the trouble when babies are born

"MAKING MONEY"

Our mining industry is a main factor in Canada's economic stability. That fact is pretty generally recognized. Our gold mines have a good ready market for their product. (They don't require a sales staff to sell the goods which they produce. The Dominion Government is their only customer and a cash one, too). The price is $35.00 per ounce. Every week-day the refinery of the "Royal Canadian Mint at Ottawa receives several shipments of this precious metal from producing mines in the Dominion. On certain days, only two or three gold bars come in while at other times as many as sixty arrive. Each bar is worth nearly $15,000.00. Last year, well over $100,000,000.00 worth of gold came to the Mint, and more is expected in 1942. You may well ask, what does the government do with it? Well, some of it is coined there but most of it is refined in the new government refinery situated beside the Mint and then shipped in bar form to the vaults of the Bank of Canada. The gold so refined is 24.999/1000 the carat pure. The Bank of Canada uses it as a Reserve, against which bills of various denomination are issued, and also for settling international balances. But we won't go into that intricate discussion just now.

When you go into the heavily guarded stone building known as "The Mint", your attention is first drawn to an exhibit of coins and medals of nearly every country of the world. The coins of China, France, and Italy are of much interest, but the old silver dollar of the United States with a "cart wheel" on it is of especial interest. I noticed that, in the days before Confederation, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island all had their own distinctive coins, while on display one may see a bronze coin dated 1852 issued by the Bank of Upper Canada.

There are about 125 people employed in The Mint. The head man is Mr. H. E. Ewart, who carries the important title of "Master" of the Mint. He has been identified with the work for well over thirty years. He ought to know something about "making money" by now, and he does. The present building in which coin is made in Ottawa was erected in 1907, so the present Master has been there almost since its opening.

Let us see how the silver and copper coins are made. Small furnaces heated to high temperatures by gas melt the bullion and it is then poured into moulds. I am told that our copper coins contain 95% of that metal while silver coins only contain about 36% silver. These bars come out of the moulds and are then rolled several times in big high-pressure machines until they become long thin strips of metal having the thickness of the coins which are to be made from them. Then dies cut out the circular pieces and these pieces are placed in stamping machines which make the edges and the imprint which one sees on both sides of the coin in every day use.

The pressure used to stamp a 1-cent piece is 18 tons, while a 25-cent piece submits to 35 tons of pressure. The six stamping machines can turn out a total of 250,000 coins per day. (That's what you would call "making money fast".)

Extreme care is exercised in the weighing and inspection of the finished product. Inspectors with very acute vision go over each coin and reject all imperfect ones. Then they are all weighed. One set of scales used for this purpose can be set to weigh a 1/100th part of a grain. Only a slight variation in weight between coins is permitted. The quality of the metal is also tested in the final inspection so that not many, if any, imperfect coins are ever put into circulation.

Worn or defaced coins are picked up by the banks and turned in to The Mint from time to time and replaced by new ones. The old one-cent pieces which were so cumbersome in years gone by, are gradually being withdrawn from circulation as are the tiny nickles of yesterday.

None of the employees of The Mint are bonded although a careful check is made of the coin and bullion each day. No trouble worth speaking of has ever occurred in this connection. The greatest of care is taken in choosing the people to handle this meticulous work.

The business of "making money" is a fascinating one. It requires much close supervision and extraordinary precision but one cannot escape the conclusion after a tour through the plant that it is both efficiently and carefully operated. I would suggest to my readers that on their next trip to Ottawa they include a visit to The Royal Canadian Mint. It is one experience you will not soon forget.

DID YOU KNOW

That every time a 16-inch gun is fired, it uses a fifth of an acre of sugar cane?... That's one reason and a big one, why you have to conserve sugar. Nine-tenths of a pound of sugar represents a sufficient sugar alcohol to go into the manufacture of a pound of smokeless powder.... A thousand military field pieces, in an hour of firing, will burn up as much sugar as could be refined from a sugar cane field two-thirds of a mile square. So it wouldn't be a bad idea to train that sweet tooth to wanting less.

BUSY CANADIAN BEE ASSISTS WAR EFFORT

Within a few weeks millions of new workers will be busy aiding the Canadian war effort; many of them are already here and many more will shortly arrive from the Southern States to assist in the job of food production.

Normally the bees in Canada produce from 25 million to 29 million pounds of honey each year, but they could double the output if necessary. Wax is another product of the bee now in great demand for many purposes. With certain sources of supply eliminated or curtailed, the honey bee must endeavour to meet the emergency with greater production.

The honey bee in doing an efficient production job of her own also assists in increasing the yield of many other products. Farmers and gardeners are not a little worried over the possible shortage of seed. Most seed and vegetable plants cannot produce seed or vegetable without cross-pollination. The methodical honey bee in her search for nectar distributes the life giving pollen from flower to flower. The rosy apple, juicy plum or luscious cherry would be practically unknown were it not for the visiting bee during blossom time.

War production officials recognize the importance of the honey bee in war time economy and have granted certain priorities to the beekeeper who in turn should co-operate fully in providing for his bees the proper conditions that will enable them to work to their fullest capacity.

MORE CARE THIS YEAR SHEARING SHEEP

The Canadian wool clip has assumed added importance in the light of recent war developments and it is now more essential than ever before that Canadian wool growers do their utmost not only to increase their production, but also to handle their percentage of defective grades will be reduced in order that the clip may be enhanced in value and usefulness. The fact that all Canadian wool must now be marketed on a graded basis is another good reason why extra care should be taken in the production and handling of this commodity if the grower is to realize full value for his product.

In the matter of shearing and preparing wool for market the following suggestions merit special attention this year:—

1. Shear as soon as the weather will permit. Early shearing is better for the sheep, reduces the percentage of cotted fleeces and prevents the accumulation of burrs and blemishes which would otherwise be picked up in spring grazing.

2. Do not shear when the wool is damp. If the damp horn fleeces are rolled up and packed away the wool will become discoloured and musty and will lose much of its original market value.

3. Always shear in a clean place. Shearing on a litter-covered stable or barn floor ran easily upon months of care in keeping the chaff out of the wool in winter feeding.

4. Amateur shearers should try and avoid making "Second cuts" which are short bits of wool of little value made when going over the sheep a second time. The shears or combed teeth should be kept close to the skin at all times so that the full length of the wool fibre is preserved.

5. Keep the fleeces intact when shearing. This facilitates rolling the fleeces and reduces the time and cost of the subsequent operations of grading and sorting.

6. The tags and the black head and shank wool should be removed from the fleeces and packed separately in small bags. Wet tags rolled up inside a fleece will cause discoloration and damage to the surrounding wool.

7. Each fleece should be rolled separately on a clean floor with the bright or clipped side showing and the shoulder wool outermost. Rolling two fleeces or parts of different fleeces together is a bad practice.

8. Fleeces should be tied with paper twine which is procurable in most communities from Government Agricultural Representatives, sheep breeders and wool growers' organizations and from wool dealers. Binder twine or any other string of like nature should never be used for this purpose.

9. Pack the fleeces in clean wool sacks or bags after shearing. Wool should not be left lying exposed in the barn, shed or granary where it will get mixed with grain, feathers, fowl droppings, horse hair or other objectionable matter.

10. Wool should not be stored in a damp place nor piled on the bare ground. Store in a moderately dry, cool place if such is available.

11. Market wool annually as old wool tends to deteriorate through mustiness, discoloration and the ravages of moths.

APIARISTS TO RECEIVE TEN CENTS POUND FOR SEASON'S YIELD

Apiarists and beekeepers of the province will receive a price of ten cents per pound for their honey this year, according to Byron O. Lott, director of the Ontario Honey Co-operative Association. The decision to pay this price was made at the annual convention of the Association held in Toronto last week.

In conjunction with this price, the association will furnish all containers and pay freight charges to an Eastern Canadian port. The price is an increase of one cent over that paid last year.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE COMMISSION

A new registration of all workers, insured and non-insured, in industries which now have insured employees is being carried on by the Unemployment Insurance Commission. It must be completed by March 31st, the close of the fiscal year, when insurance books now in use must be turned in. The information gathered will be used to bring the Commission records up to date, and also to furnish information for a man-power inventory which the Government is making. This inventory is being made under the authority of an Order-in-Council passed under the War Measures Act.

The Unemployment Insurance Commission is now distributing the new forms for this registration to employers all over the Dominion. There are more than 150,000 employers with insured employees in Canada, and the number of insured workers is over 2,000,000. The man-power inventory registration will, of course, include many more than 2,000,000, embracing as it does, insured and non-insurable employees of industry.

The forms which are being distributed have been prepared with a view to ascertaining the skill and training of workers so that Canada's working strength may be utilized in the most effective manner. The War effort is constantly calling for more and more trained and skilled men. It is hoped, through the inventory, to discover workers with skill and training which may be of value in carrying on the maximum War effort. The registration cards are being sent to employers who will see that they are filled out in respect to all their employees. They will then be returned to the Employment and Claims Offices, of which there are more than 100 across Canada. Immediately after the last pay period in March insurance books must be turned in and new ones will be issued to cover the fiscal year opening on April 1st. It is essential that the registration be completed and old insurance books be turned in by the end of this month.

Information in respect to the registration and the issue of insurance books is obtainable at any of the Employment and Claims Offices of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

WHY NEWSPAPERS ARE LIKE WOMEN

1. They are thinner than they used to be.
2. There is a bold face type.
3. Back numbers are not in demand.
4. They have a great deal of influence.
5. Every man should have one of his own and not chase after his neighbor's.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

SO WE'LL MAKE OUR WARTIME SUGAR GROW ON TREES

If the rationing of sweets becomes too sour, there's a remedy! An article in The American Weekly with this Sunday's (March 29) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times, tells how scientists promise to replace all the sugar crop we lost in the Philippines by processing only 10,000 acres of woodland. Be sure to get The Detroit Sunday Times this week and every week.

Japan's Barbarism and Retribution

Admired feeling of bitter resentment and tense silence, leaders of all parties in Parliament have expressed demands for retribution to follow in due course and in proper measure against the barbaric behaviour of the Japanese in Hong Kong and other parts of the Far East though Premier King and Hon. R. B. Hanson, Leader of the Opposition, agreed that reprisals against Japanese Nationals in Canada should not be taken since many Canadian prisoners of war are in the hands of the enemy.

C.B.C. Will Be Investigated

After many months of serious complaints, the Hon. J. T. Thorson, Minister of National War Services, has announced that a thorough investigation by a select committee of Parliament will review the policies and aims of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, together with a full probe of its regulations, revenues, expenditures, and general development. This select committee will have powers to send for persons, papers, records, etc., and to examine into operations, reporting from time to time.

Protection of Coasts

Though the Government cannot reveal the exact measures taken, yet it is known by many on Parliament Hill that important steps have been taken by the armed forces command to guard the coastal waters, both Pacific and Atlantic, though the Hon. Angus Macdonald, Naval Minister, has disclosed that it is true that ships have been sunk not far distant from the Nova Scotia coast. In any case, it is stressed in the nation's capital that in face of the insistent demands for information of this nature yet detailed public answers cannot be given for obvious reasons.

Strict Impartiality of Plebiscite

In order to assure a strict impartiality in taking the plebiscite to release the Government from its pledge against conscription for overseas service, Hon. N. McLarty, Secretary of State, has outlined and suggested a non-political scheme for recording the votes, with candidates receiving the highest number of votes in the last election appointing deputy returning officers in the odd-numbered polling divisions in their ridings and the candidates of opposing or different political interests receiving the net highest number of votes appointing deputies in the even-numbered polling subdivisions. Thus, the winner and runner-up in 1940 would split the nominations, 50-50, and returned men would get preference where it is possible to do so.

Farmers and the National War Emergency

In face of the streamlined headlines or brief radio reports, yet the measures of special or intimate interest to farmers do not concern only farmers, no do they involve only a price controversy between the strongest pressure-interests in this country, particularly when it is remembered that this conflict between pressure-interests may not yet have been developed to its full stature for the duration. In other words, the long quarrel over prices is merely one reverberation in the fluctuations of fortune brought on by war production boom, being only one facet of a deeper conflict caused sometimes by the utterly unfair or illogical lack of balance between economic conditions in agriculture in comparison with the other industries of this nation. Furthermore, in the present national war emergency, the man-in-the street must recognize the fact that production of food is as necessary for victory as production of vital weapons. Hunger defeated Germany in World War No. 1 as much as force of arms. In 1918, Germans were rationed each week 3 pounds of bread, 7 ounces of meat, and 2 ounces of cereals so that the German Imperial Health Office calculated that the average man was getting only one-third of the essential 3,300 calories necessary to do normal work. Moreover, the fatal error was made by Germany of giving everything to the army. From 1914 to 1918, Germany mobilized 11,000,000 men and as a result there were not enough able-bodied men on the farms or to distribute the food by railroads, trucks, etc. Indeed, historians have observed that a nation which must grow its own food, can support only about one per cent of its total population under arms with comparative safety and Germany's population in that war was 67,000,000. Along Parli-ment Hill, this lesson is not neglected and in the case of Canada agriculture is even more important because this nation must supply food not only for home consumption but tremendous amounts of such supplies have to be shipped regularly to Britain and her allies.

Joint Highway Agreement

Although British Columbia started the Alaska highway project merely as a possible tourist attraction, yet it is now a large international undertaking primarily intended for military purposes, with Canada granting the right of way and United States building and paying for the road, though when the war is over this road will form part of the Canadian highway system and it may be developed to connect with other highways. However, the present choice of the route is mainly due to the fact that it will follow along the line of air bases in the north country and the entire huge undertaking by Canada and the United States is in the interests of mutual defence.

Static By The Editor

After getting married to his former secretary, he remarked:

"Well, my dear, I suppose I must get some one to take your place in the office."

"I've been thinking of that," replied the bride; "my cousin is just leaving school."

"What's her name?"

"John Henry Briggs," said the bride, sweetly.

Woman, off to attend political meeting, to friend—I'm not prejudiced at all. I'm going with a perfectly open and unbiased mind to listen to what I'm convinced is pure rubbish.

Being questioned whether he was in a position to keep a wife, Sandy confidently replied in the affirmative. "There's hardly a mornin'," he said, "but a' leave some o' ma parritch; in fact, if a' donna get a wife soon a' maun get another pig."

During one of Barnum and Bailey's trips through Scotland a gorilla escaped from its cage.

Quality Counts Most

"SALADA" TEA

Two or three months later a couple of Highland ghillies trampled through a lonely glen found a hairy-looking monster lying dead.

Sandy said to Donald: "It's strange, but I canna make him out. He's no a McPherson, a McTavish, or even a McNab, and he is no good looking enough for the folks round about here."

"You are richt there," said Donald, "am just thinking he is one of those queer fellows up frae London for the shooting."

Diverted Light

The local air warden was patrolling the village when he saw a bright beam of light coming from a half-open shed door.

Muttering furiously, he strode forward and peered inside at a villager chopping wood.

"Here you," he ordered, "what about this light? It's shining right across the road."

"Oh," came a voice from the shed. "I knew it must be shining somewhere else. I can't see in here to chop this wood!"—Exchange.

Her allowance had run out, so she wrote home for more money. Feeling uncertain as to the impression it would make, she opened her letter and wrote: "P.S.—I did not like writing to you, in fact, I ran after the postman to get this letter back."

Several days later she received the following reply: "Dear Daughter: You'll be glad to know that I didn't get your letter. Dad."

We, your neighbours and friends, appreciate your sacrifice and hope and pray that when this terrible war is over, and the inhuman war mongers, of Germany and Japan have been thrown from their high places and Peace and National sanity has been restored to our beautiful country, you will return to us, to be a neighbour and a friend in whom we may place our trust in all the long years ahead.

We will miss you now from our social gatherings but when "Duty Calls", domestic and civilian desires must be overshadowed and let us hope the job will soon be done and you'll be back to stay.

We wish you every good wish in the service you have chosen every success and that you will receive the many and distinguished promotions which we feel you will earn by your faithful constant attention to duty, lastly we ask that God will grant you health, strength and happiness to carry on until victory is won.

Come often and visit us when duty will allow you that privilege and be assured you will always find a welcome here with the home folks.

Please accept this gift not for its value in cash but remembering the labours of love which it expresses.

We have each done a little and hope as you take this with you on your journey about the world you will often think of us here and our love and prayers that go with you.

The Father's House is mansioned fair
Beyond our visions dim.
All souls are thus and here or there Are living unto Him.
And still their silent ministries
Within our hearts have place,
In joys we shared—the sunset 'or the hills,
The peace of dusk, the quiet joy of home and friends,
Your spirit lives, death has no victory."

Ever remembered by wife and son.

WEST HUNTINGDON

St. Andrew's W.M.S.

On Thursday, March 19th, the W.M.S. and Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church met at the home of Miss Martha Horton. Dinner was served to a fairly good attendance. The secretary called the roll with the response to the key word "Risen." This was followed by a reading on "The Risen Lord," the saviour of the world. Mrs. A. McInroy read the 23rd Psalm and Rev. W. H. V. Walker offered prayer and Mrs. John Wallace gave a reading entitled "There They Laid Jesus." This was a very interesting reading on the burial of Jesus. Mrs. John Hassell gave the missionary reading on North Formosa. Mrs. Morley Haggerty read a story, "Her First Easter." This was the Easter programme. The hymns sung to Mrs. Benson's accompaniment were "The Lily of the Valley," "Low in the Grave He lay," and "Jesus Keep Me Near The Cross." The usual business was transacted and the meeting closed

In the discussion period the various departments of the work were carefully reviewed and many new thoughts and plans will be tried out this year. In the business period it was decided to hold the next meeting the latter part of April in the Moira community. ## PROFIT PROGRAM

Thousands of poultrymen have adopted the Purina plan—based on years of experience in successful marketing of poultry products.

- 1 Start your Chicks early in the Spring.
- 2 Choose good Chicks, Embryo Fed Chicks, and start them on Purina Chick Startena.
- 3 Grow your birds on Purina Chick Growena or Growing Chow through the first 100 critical days.
- 4 When the Pullets begin to lay, feed Purina Laying Mash.
- 5 Watch sanitation very carefully.

The Purina plan begins with the laying hen—A high quality hen fed on Purina Laying Mash will produce extra quality eggs from which better chicks are hatched—Embryo Fed Chicks. From then on scientifically prepared feeds for each stage of development produce with the minimum of time and cost, healthy, vigorous laying hens or fat birds for marketing.

Nazi Bombs Will Drop On Canada

Canadian Aviation

German bombers will unload explosives on to power stations, munitions plants and aircraft factories in Montreal, Toronto, Detroit, Buffalo and New York in the early summer of 1942. They will take off from Norway, flying via Iceland and Greenland. After depositing their loads on objectives which today are circled on Luftwaffe maps of Canada and the United States, the bomber crews will land in some isolated region of Canada. They will then make as much trouble as possible, such as attempting to take over a prison camp. Eventually they may surrender as prisoners of war after scuttling their planes and equipment.

This announcement does not come from a zealous A.R.P. organizer seeking to stimulate interest in blackout training. It is not even just a theory. It is a sincere and earnest prediction made by a recent exile from Germany who, in the early part of this war, has flown with the Luftwaffe. He fled his fatherland because of religious affiliations. Less than two weeks ago, he voiced this warning in conversation with a group of reputable business executives in Detroit. The conversation was reported to Canadian Aviation by one of them.

It is hard to imagine any sly motive prompting such a statement. The German exile was not speaking for publication, thus he could not have been motivated by a desire for notoriety. It would be stupid to accuse him of spreading Nazi propaganda, since the enemy would hardly be interested in encouraging the protection of our vital industries. Furthermore, the gist of this warning is corroborated by no less than the President of the United States. On February 17, Roosevelt told his press conference that the enemy could drop bombs on Detroit. This means, of course, Montreal, Toronto, Windsor and any other likely objective as well. But we don't even have to take the President's word for it. Just look at a map, then consider these relevant facts.

Between 1930 and 1933, Wolfgang von Gronau made three flights from Germany via Greenland and Iceland to Canada and the United States. On the third of these "goodwill" expeditions, he flew non-stop from Iceland to Detroit in his Dornier Wal flying boat. Subsequently on the same trip, he toured the Canadian North by air (carrying cameras) before recrossing the North Atlantic. Compared with the latest German equipment, the Dornier "Wal 1933" is of antique design, having two 600 h.p. engines mounted in tandem, cruising speed of 130 m.p.h. and normal range of 2,300.

The Allied success in ferrying bombers from Canada to England has evidenced in practical terms the conquest of the Atlantic by modern aircraft directed by an efficient organization and flown with skill. Would it not be presumptuous then, for us to scoff at the suggestion that the Luftwaffe certainly can and probably will launch a bomber service in the reverse direction? It is true that the Germans face the alternative of a two-way trip or a landing on this side. But either possibility is sufficiently reasonable to materialize before our startled eyes.

The Heinkel 177 has four motors and a maximum range of 7,040 miles at 180 m.p.h. carrying a 1,000-lb bomb load. With a similar load at 150 m.p.h., the Italian Savoia Marchetti "82 Kanguru" has a possible range of 7,350 miles. Thus, the return trip from a Norwegian base with a light bomb load is not at all fantastic. But the return flight would not be necessary. Undoubtedly, the German command is quite ready to sacrifice the required number of bombers and crews to put out of business the power stations and the factories which will, by their success or failure, determine the victory in this war.

Quite recently, the Nazis announced their abandonment of intensive bombing of England. The intense opposition of radio-aided fighters, balloon barages and anti-aircraft fire, plus the dispersal and protection of factories, has for some time rendered target bombing hopeless and area bombing ineffective. It would be quite in keeping with German tactics to divert a number of heavy-bomber squadrons to the blasting of less protected targets on this side of the Atlantic.

The moral of Singapore's sad story has been drawn with unsentimental clarity by a CBS correspondent, Cecil Brown, who watched the Pacific tragedy unfold. "The Japanese," he says, "are at Singapore not only because of numerical superiority, fanatical courage and brilliant military scheming. They are there also because of what the British failed to foresee, prepare for and meet."

Translate the moral from Malayan to Canadian. Instead of a lotus-land climate, we have the optical illusion of distance to lull our sense of peril. Let come's to life. Our factories and cities, east and west, are within reach of bombers. Suppose we realize that it can happen to us, and probably will. From there we can start to do something really serious about it.

RED CROSS EMERGENCY RESERVE CALLS FOR 12,000 VOLUNTEERS

WANTED:—

12,000 women throughout Ontario to take their places in the Nursing Auxiliary Reserve of the Red Cross. The need is urgent. The Reserve is being organized by the Ontario Division of the Red Cross to meet any emergency of epidemic or disaster. Its purpose is to provide training for women who will work voluntarily under professional direction in their homes or wherever necessary.

This Emergency Reserve will function directly under the Civilian Defence Committee where such exists, otherwise under the local Medical Officer of Health. Those who have already enrolled for C.D.C. Medical Services, and have not been assigned to a First Aid Post, are urged to enrol for this home service.

The Emergency Nursing Reserve will consist of two groups. Group 1 will comprise graduate nurses who are willing to serve in the event of an emergency or epidemic. The second group will comprise women who have taken home nursing training under direction of either the Red Cross or St. John Ambulance Association, or who are willing to undertake this training at once. Both groups will be given special courses in war emergencies.

Under the direction of Miss Florence, H. M. Emory, Associate Director of the School of Nursing, Toronto University, the Advisory Nursing Committee of the Ontario Division has outlined the general policy for the Emergency Reserve. Mrs. L. Stuart Lauchland, Provincial Section Leader of the Canadian Red Cross Corps, will help to organize the Reserve throughout Ontario. The province is being divided into ten districts in each of which there will be a graduate nurse to give leadership and guidance. Local branches will in turn organize under a graduate nurse in their community. All teaching of groups will be done by doctors, graduate nurses, dentists and dietitians. No community is too small, no Red Cross branch too remote to respond to this call for volunteer nursing help. Speaking recently at the annual meeting, Mrs. Arthur Ellis, President-elect of the Ontario Branch of the Red Cross, pointed out that it at the time of the terrible flu epidemic following the last war, adequate nursing service had been available, hundreds of lives might have been saved.

PULL TOGETHER CANADA!

Another Victory Loan goes over the top. Every community and province will have its own particular set of stories illustrating ways in which the objective was reached, but one of the ways that the Ontario Public Relations Committee used is worthy of mention. They put on the road for the duration of the loan a Patriotic Revue called "Pull Together Canada."

"Pull Together Canada" is no ordinary Revue. It was conceived, written and produced by citizen volunteers in a spirit of national service and they took time off from their jobs and donated their services for the period of the campaign. Then again it was designed to have something more than straight entertainment. "Patriotism with a punch" said one paper; "entertainment with a message" was the comment of another. Without exception the Revue made real to people that rather indefinable

Clear telephone lines for ALL-OUT PRODUCTION

OTHER "WARTIME TELEPHONE TACTICS"

1. BE SURE you have the right number... consult the directory.
2. SPEAK distinctly, directly into the mouthpiece.
3. BE BRIEF. Clear your line for the next call.
4. USE OFF-PEAK hours for Long Distance calls: before 9:30 a.m., 1-2 p.m., 5-7 p.m., after 9 p.m.

These things may look trifling, but on 6,500,000 daily telephone calls, they are very important.

On Active Service

Giving Wings to Words

thing called morale. What might have been a shot in the dark proved that it was possible through the medium of the stage to bring a message that few would deny is desperately needed. Results spoke for themselves. "Pull Together Canada" toured the fifteen major cities of Ontario, playing before some 30,000 people, and each place asked for return visits. Here are some of the newspaper comments. Mr. R. M. Harrison in his "Now" column in the Windsor Star says, "Pull Together Canada" is something all Canada should have an opportunity of seeing and hearing." The Hamilton Spectator editorially refers to the three-point program of the Revue, to win the war, secure the peace and provide an answer to the "isms." "The Revue, through the medium of songs, scenes and plays," continues the editorial, "shows how this is to be achieved beginning with sound homes, spreading out to teamwork in industry and finally adding up to a united nation." Mr. Augustus Bridle, well-known dramatic critic of the Toronto Star, likens "Pull Together Canada" to the troubadours of old, "strolling players from town to town propagating a message;" and talking about "the faith of a gloriously free people on the verge of a national renaissance."

The whole-hearted enthusiasm with which "Pull Together Canada" was received everywhere it went shows eager people are for something that seems to point the way. On the stage there before one in an uncanny way you saw yourself, your family, the neighbours, and you saw your country. You went home whistling the songs, one of which, "You Can Fight for Canada," is fast becoming a national favourite, and you went home more determined than ever to make Canada the kind of place that's worth dying and living for.

Bride and Groom Honoured

On Wednesday evening, Miss Marjorie Brown, of Harold, entertained about 15 girl friends at her home, in honour of Mrs. Tom Saries (nee Laura Mason) in the form of a cream and red kitchen shower.

The evening was spent in musical numbers, with Miss Marie Ketcheson at the piano. Evelyn Bailey conducted several contests, which created much merriment. At the appointed time the following address was read by Miss Bernice Spry and Lois Mason and Audrey Brown entered the room drawing a decorated wagon laden with gifts which were presented to Mrs. Saries.

Dear Laura:—
The preacher has declared it. The papers have said it; That a lad and a lassie Have lately been wed. The young couple united, We see them with pride, Are Tom Saries, the groom, Laura Mason the bride. This evening your girl friends Have all gathered here, The small and large one To wish you good cheer. We trust that your future Will always be bright Your pathway be joyous And your troubles be light. Now on this occasion We have brought you tonight A few kitchen things Which we hope you will like. Just accept these few gifts As a slight token we pray Of the love and esteem That is with us all day. Please kindly unwrap them And we will stand by And watch with delight As each one you untie.

Your girl friends. The bride made a fitting reply which was followed by all singing "For She's a Jolly good fellow." The next day being the bride's birthday, all sang "Happy Birthday" and wished her any more birthdays. Lunch was served and a social hour spent.

PORT HOPE ELIMINATES PETERBOROUGH

Peterborough's Ontario juvenile series representatives, the Churchills, vanished from the stage for the season at Oshawa Monday night when they lost a sudden-death game to Port Hope by 2 goals to 0, the score coming in the last six minutes of a hard-fought and fast game. There was no score in the first and second periods and fourteen minutes of the final session had passed before the Port Hope kids scored the first counter of the game. Then with the Petes ganging up and battling desperately for the score that would have tied up the tussle again the Ontarios broke away with one minute to go and hung up a second goal to take the verdict 2 to 0. Port Hope will now meet Penetang with the first game in Oshawa on Thursday and the return game in Midland on Monday.
